DEADLINE BY COURT IS BEATEN

Bagley Casts Yes Vote; McCarthy No To Remapping

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch signed today a revision of congressional districts to meet "one man, one vote" court rulings, only hours before a state Supreme Court deadline.

The Republican lieutenant governor, who signed the measure for Gov. Ronald Reagan, used five pens in the ceremony and then declared: "The deed is done. Off to the Supreme Court."

HELPS MEMBERS

One congressman said "the day of gerrymandering is over," even though the bill was deliberately drawn in many cases to help the reelection chances of some members.

At the televised bill signing, Sen. James Mills, D-San Diego, the measure's Senate sponsor, said "It's the best bill, I think, in the history of California."

Finch signed the measure since Reagan's lecturing at Yale University in Connecticut. It was the first time Finch had signed a bill as acting governor.

'SWEETHEART BILL'

The reapportionment measure had been branded by many Republicans as a "sweetheart bill," carefully written by its Democratic authors to assure reelection for incumbent congressmen.

Baby Heart Transplant Try Fails In New York

Death Follows First U.S. Surgery Attempt

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brooklyn surgeons transplanted a heart early today into a fatally ill baby boy — the second such operation in history — but the baby died six and a half hours later.

Emboldened by the success of the first heart transplant in Cape Town, South Africa, Sunday, Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz and a team of surgeons at Maimonides Medical Center transferred a healthy heart from a mentally defective infant who had just died into the boy who was marked for death by a heart defect.

The child was reported in "relatively stable" condition following two-hour surgery which was complete at 6:30 a.m. EST. Breathing and blood pressure were normal for several hours, then life flickered and the transplanted heart stopped beating at 1:00 p.m.

The donor was reported to be a two-day-old infant suffering from a brain disorder.

DECIDES RISK

Kantrowitz is the famed surgeon who perfected a plastic booster heart and implanted it in Brooklyn widow Louise Ceraso early last year. He was aided today by 21 doctors, technicians and nurses at the center, which has pioneered many recent developments in the replacement of parts or all of malfunctioning human hearts.

The operation came three days after surgeons in Cape Town, South Africa, performed history's first successful heart transplant on Louis Washkansky.

A "half dozen" medical centers in the United States were reported ready to attempt heart transplant operations, according to Dr. William Likoff, president of the American College of Cardiology. He made the statement in La Jolla, Calif.

MANY DUTIES

Kantrowitz, a native New Yorker, is professor of surgery at the Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn and an editor of the Journal of Biomedical Materials Research and Medical Research Engineering.

He is the author or co-author of more than 115 scientific papers, most of them in the field of heart physiology and surgery.

Africa Surgeon Confident In Heart Case

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—The chief surgeon in history's first heart transplant expressed confidence today that patient Louis Washkansky will survive.

Dr. Christian Bernard said he believed Washkansky's body will make no major rejection of the transplanted heart and any slight rejection would not be serious.

'NEW FRANKENSTEIN'

The surgeon told a news conference Washkansky had made marked progress in the past 12 hours, was a "great fighter" and should be home within three weeks if he continues to improve.

While Bernard's brother, who assisted in the operation, was much more cautious, Washkansky began cracking jokes and told a nurse "I am a new Frankenstein."

He "talks about everything under the sun," the nurse reported as the Groote Schuur Hospital said the 55-year-old wholesale grocer continues in satisfactory condition three days after his epochal operation. A hospital bulletin said all signs show improvement, and "his heart is functioning normally."

REJECT PERIOD

But Dr. Marius Barnard, younger brother of the chief surgeon at the operation Sunday, said that if previous transplants are any guide, Washkansky has reached the stage where his body might try to reject the heart of 25-year-old Denise Ann Darvall, who died in an auto accident Saturday night.

Barnard said the critical period normally should begin three to 10 days after the transplant operation.

Washkansky yesterday personally thanked his surgeons for the operation and sent his love to his wife, Ann. The doctors advised Mrs. Washkansky to wait a week before seeing her husband to avoid any chance of infection.

"I am not endangering my husband for anything in the world," said Mrs. Washkansky.

Doctor Charges Secret Motives In Family Center Closing Order

The psychiatrist who is medical director of the Family Rehabilitation Center has charged in a letter to the chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors that decision to close the facility was based on "personal and political motives which have never been publicly aired."

Dr. Philip S. Hicks of Ross did not go into what these motives were in his letter to chairman Thomas T. Storer of the board of supervisors. But he declared:

"If there have been any valid appraisals involved in the decision to abandon FRC, they were those in appraisal of political power and expediency, not of principle."

"I am not free to go into details of what I know to be true concerning the motives of certain individuals involved in the decision to phase out the FRC for to do so would involve professional confidences."

He said the fundamental question involved in FRC — which was set up to provide custodial care and treatment for certain classes of juvenile offenders — "is whether or not a political structure can or should operate a treatment program." If it does, he wrote, "it must provide some measure of political protection for its practitioners."

Dr. Hicks commented:

"I think it is extremely significant that the two fundamental detractors of the FRC program, the county administrator and the judge of the juvenile court did not once during the course of the FRC program make the slightest effort to confer with the medical director of the FRC."

(County Administrator Alan Bruce last April recommended that the program be abolished. The board of supervisors, as result of that recommendation, asked for an investigation by the Bay Area Social Planning Council. It also recommended the FRC be phased out.)

"If county government continues to deal with their professional personnel in this manner there will never be any treatment program under county auspices worthy of the name," Dr. Hicks wrote Storer.

The Ross psychiatrist said he felt part of the problem was that civil service employees are expected to give only a minimum amount of work for their pay. "Whenever an element of a department in such a system functions in such manner as to

Radio Union Strike Idles 113 Workers From Marin

A total of 113 Marin County residents remained out of work today in a six-day contract dispute at Radio Corporation of America long-distance communication stations.

Spokesman for San Francisco Local 9 of the American Communications Association (ACA) said 63 workers have been locked out of RCA's transmitting station at Bolinas, its receiving station at Point Reyes and KPH marine radio, which it operates at Inverness.

Fifty more Marin residents have been unable to enter the company's western communications headquarters in San Francisco, said William F. Gibbons of Point Reyes Station, local shop steward.

Robert C. Voss, vice president of RCA's Pacific communications, said Marin's three stations are operating normally with supervisory personnel, despite slim crews. This was challenged by the union.

Police Keep Antidrafters From Rusk

NEW YORK (UPI)—Several hundred antidraft demonstrators, part of a larger group which was blocked from marching on the Armed Forces Induction Center, convered today on a midtown Manhattan hotel where Secretary of State Dean Rusk was scheduled to speak.

Police at the scene called for reinforcements. They formed flying wedges and drove the demonstrators, mostly of college age, away from the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Rusk, scheduled to address a luncheon of the National Association of Manufacturers, was target of a raucous antiwar demonstration here three weeks ago in which a dozen persons were injured and scores arrested.

The demonstrators, taking part in a "Stop the Draft Week," blocked traffic on Park Avenue as they converged on the hotel. Police moved in and pushed them further north along the avenue.

The original plan of the demonstrators was to march on the induction center in down-

CAMPUS BULGE

New Theme Sought For Novato Facility

By FRANK FARRARA
(Third of five articles)

The Marin Junior College District should design not only new facilities, but also a new educational philosophy for its north campus near Novato.

It should break out of the traditional educational mold and plan its program "around the learner and the world to which he directly relates."

This was among the recommendations of Management and Economics Research Inc., (MERI) which believes that the opening of a new campus offers the chance for educational change.

The program at the north campus should not be a carbon copy of the "traditional" system at the Kentfield campus "with its strengths and weaknesses," the firm reported.

The Kentfield campus already offers the traditional academically oriented program with the standard semester schedule, credit and grading systems and the lecture class as the basic teaching method.

"Like its traditional counterparts, this is a teacher-oriented educational system rather than a learner oriented system," the firm noted.

MERI said the opening of a north campus give the district "a unique opportunity" to offer students a choice between two kinds of educational systems . . . the traditional at Kentfield and the new at Novato.

At the north campus, there could be such innovations, as pass-fail grading, "classrooms designed for student participation rather than student passivity," or scheduling which permits a student to take what he needs of a particular course and get credit for that portion, MERI asserted.

"The new technologies which abound in the outside world must be made an integral part of the educational world," the firm said. "Traditional study units, schedules and grading systems need to be challenged."

The first phase development would cost $14,343,198 including $355,000 for portable buildings at

Death Follows First U.S. Surgery Attempt

CAMPUS BULGE

New Theme Sought For Novato Facility

By FRANK FARRARA
(Third of five articles)

The Marin Junior College District should design not only new facilities, but also a new educational philosophy for its north campus near Novato.

It should break out of the traditional educational mold and plan its program "around the learner and the world to which he directly relates."

This was among the recommendations of Management and Economics Research Inc., (MERI) which believes that the opening of a new campus offers the chance for educational change.

The program at the north campus should not be a carbon copy of the "traditional" system at the Kentfield campus "with its strengths and weaknesses," the firm reported.

The Kentfield campus already offers the traditional academically oriented program with the standard semester schedule, credit and grading systems and the lecture class as the basic teaching method.

"Like its traditional counterparts, this is a teacher-oriented educational system rather than a learner oriented system," the firm noted.

MERI said the opening of a north campus give the district "a unique opportunity" to offer students a choice between two kinds of educational systems . . . the traditional at Kentfield and the new at Novato.

Meat Check Bill Heads To Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweeping meat inspection bill, termed by backers a major victory for American housewives, appears headed for congressional approval.

House-Senate conferees agreed yesterday on terms of the compromise measure to revamp the 60-year-old federal meat inspection law.

It is designed to extend federal standards within the next three years to 15,000 plants not now covered.

The measure now goes back to the House and Senate for expected final approval before being sent to President Johnson. The House may consider it today.

President Johnson said the measure would help guarantee to every American family "that the meat on their tables" is safe and fit to eat.

Demos Dare GOP Medi-Cal Slashes

SACRAMENTO (AP — Gov. Ronald Reagan stood challenged today to make the next move in the Medi-Cal controversy after Democrats in the legislature rejected his proposal for cutbacks in the multi-million-dollar program.

The key question was whether the Republican governor would follow through on his threat to eliminate 160,000 Californians completly from the program — leaving it up to local taxpayers to finance their care.

WOULDN'T DARE

"You wouldn't dare . . . you couldn't take the heat" such a move would produce, Democratic Sen. George Miller Jr. of Martinez told the governor's health and welfare director, Spencer Williams.

Miller's comment came just before the Senate Finance Committee he chairs refused passage to two of the three bills Reagan had asked for to cope with what he calls a serious fund shortage. The committee did approve a bill that will shorten Medi-Cal billing from six months to 60 days starting July 1, 1968. It was altered, however, so it has no bearing on the current controversy. Earlier, another committee had killed a Democratic-sponsored Assembly resolution urging no action on the controversy.

Reagan launched the issue in August by proposing cutbacks in various "non-essential" Medi-Cal services, eliminating such previously provided items as eye, ear and dental care, much surgery, drugs, and so on. He contended the move was forced because Medi-Cal spending was running $210 million ahead of the funds lawmakers gave him to finance it.

DEMOS UPSET

That infuriated Democrats, who said Reagan grossly overstatedt the shortage and tha there might not even be one. Williams said yesterday that the shortage now is down to $35 million in state money — but insisted there still is a deficit requiring cutbacks to stay within the budget.

The State Supreme Court ruled in November that the governor's proposed cutbacks violated legislative regulations and were illegal.

Reagan said he reads the ruling as requiring elimination of the 160,000 "medically indigent" from the program — those not on welfare like other Medi-Cal eligibles, but still too poor to pay their medical bills.

Miller and other Democrats made clear yesterday they feel Reagan won't have to do that, and suggested the matter be postponed while the legislature studies the question of how big the deficit is — or whether it exists.

ADOPT RESOLUTION

The committee did adopt a hastily drafted resolution saying the court ruling caused problems and that there is "reasonable doubt" about the deficit — but it appeared to have no significant effect on any proposed cutbacks.

Williams told newsmen afterward that he couldn't flatly say the 160,000 persons would be cut from the 1.5 million eligible for see how he could cut costs enough to avoid the drastic move.

More Steel Goods Hikes Are Forecast

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The new wave of steel prices hikes has spread to two more big companies and may move into two more product lines.

Boosts of $5 a ton on cold rolled sheets were made yesterday by Republic Steel Corp. and Armco Steel Corp. Armco went further, also increasing galvanized sheet and strip by $4 a ton.

Industry sources here feel the boosts on cold rolled sheets, plus the two other items raised by Armco, will spread throughout the industry.

Steels on which prices were increased go into a host of consumer products, including autos and appliances. They also are used in the production of storage tanks and industrial machinery.

Meat Check Bill Heads To Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweeping meat inspection bill, termed by backers a major victory for American housewives, appears headed for congressional approval.

House-Senate conferees agreed yesterday on terms of the compromise measure to revamp the 60-year-old federal meat inspection law.

It is designed to extend federal standards within the next three years to 15,000 plants not now covered.

The measure now goes back to the House and Senate for expected final approval before being sent to President Johnson. The House may consider it today.

President Johnson said the measure would help guarantee to every American family "that the meat on their tables" is safe and fit to eat.

Food Ships Come First For Haiphong

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food ships are getting first priority in unloading at North Vietnam's key port of Haiphong, U. S. sources say, fuelling speculation the Communist country is feeling the pinch of food scarcity brought on by war.

Intelligence reports say the North Vietnamese rice harvest has been poor for two years and that the food situation may have worsened.

'NOT STARVING'

"They are not starving," said one expert. "But normally they are on close to a subsistence level, and if their food stocks are cut from 10 to 20 per cent, they really have to tighten their belts."

Reports indicate petroleum products make up the largest volume of nonmilitary goods entering North Vietnam through Haiphong. But the unloading of gasoline and oil has rated second to the discharge of cargo ships carrying food.

SOVIET WHEAT

Since last January, Soviet vessels have been hauling increasing amounts of wheat and flour from Vladivostok in Siberia to North Vietnam. And Communist Chinese ships have been carrying rice to Haiphong, sources said.

During September, the most recent month for which statistics are available, 25 ships anchored in Haiphong harbor. Eight were Soviet vessels, eight were Communist Chinese, two were from European Communist bloc countries and seven were Hong Kong-registered vessels flying the British flag.

USING CANALS

American sources reported there is evidence the North Vietnamese are relying more on inland waterways to carry supplies because the road network and bridges have been hammered by U.S. warplanes.

It was said the North Vietnamese have been deepening rivers and canals by dredging instead of concentrating on repair of damaged roads and bridges.

Guilty Verdict In Police Killing

FAIRFIELD (UPI) — James E. Anderson, 25, was convicted of second degree murder Tuesday in the slaying of two Vallejo policemen who stopped him for a routine traffic check.

A superior court jury of eight men and four women returned the verdict after 11 hours of deliberation. The three-week trial proceedings in Solano County was one of the longest murder proceedings in Solano County history.

Anderson, who faces five years to life in prison on each of two counts, showed no emotion when the verdict was read. Judge Raymond J. Sherwin said he would be sentenced in about two weeks, following aprobation report.

Anderson was convicted of slaying officers Calvin Thacker Jr., and William Easson Jr. on April 7, 1966. He was arrested in Oakland the next day and has been held in jail since that time.

Judge Sherwin ruled out a first degree murder charge last Thursday, holding that the prosecution failed to produce enough evidence to uphold elements of the charge.

Storer's Foe Clarifies His Arrest Record

William R. Cannon Jr., a 29-year-old ex-convict who attempted to make a citizen's arrest of Marin Board of Supervisor Chairman Thomas T. Storer yesterday, today stated he didn't serve his time for armed robbery, as the Independent-Journal reported.

"What actually happened," said Cannon today, "is that I attempted to stick up the Croker Citizen's Bank in Sacramento by handing the teller a note saying I had 8 CCs of nitroglycerine on me."

The attempt didn't work, said Cannon, of 912 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, and he served a year and four months at Terminal Island and Lompoc federal correctional institutions.

Professor Sues Wife For Divorce

Louis Wasserman, professor of political science at San Francisco State College, today sued his wife Caroline Leland for divorce in Marin Municipal Court.

Wasserman, of 536 Comstock Drive, Tiburon, alleged cruelty in his suit. Mrs. Wasserman lives at 101 Reed Street, Mill Valley.

The two were married in Berkeley in 1937 and separated Oct. 6, 1966, according to the suit.

Young GOP Birch Trend Is Argued

The Marin County chapter of the California Young Republicans is among chapters in nine counties which "may be limiting" membership to members of the John Birch Society.

The charge was made by the chairman of the San Joaquin County chapter, William Moffatt, in a letter sent Oct. 30 to the YR's general counsel, Marshall A. Staunton of San Francisco. Moffatt said chapters in Marin, Humboldt, Glenn, Butte, Sutter, Nevada, Tuolumne, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties were restricting membership in violation of the organization's by-laws.

The chairman of the Marin chapter, William E. Henderscheid of Mill Valley, in response to Staunton's investigation, termed Moffatt's letter a "Halloween card." In a letter to Staunton on Nov. 16, Henderscheid wrote, "I believe this assininity to be symptomatic of a deep illness that's eating away at the guts of the CYR —an illness that's all but destroyed a once extremely potent political force — an illness of greed for personal power and self-glorification."

Henderscheid objected to the charge on the "grounds that the allegations are too vague and unclear to constitute valid charges."

He also wrote to the chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, James W. Halley, saying the charge could lead to a "bloodbath" in the 1968 elections.

Staunton, in a letter last Thursday to the nine chairmen, said each was "absolved completely" and that "there are members" in the chapters "who are not members of the John Birch Society."

The Marin chapter claims a membership of over 50 persons.

Republicans with one vacancy — but argued it was politically impossible to get anything else passed.

Final approval in the Assembly last night 42-35, was just in time to meet a court order that the legislature submit a reapportionment plan to the justices by midnight tonight or the court would take the matter into its own hands. One theory had been that the State Supreme Court might make candidates run at large for all 38 seats.

Marin's two Republican legislators split on remapping with Assemblyman William T. Bagley casting a "yes" vote and Sen. John F. McCarthy voting "no."

District size varied from 310,000 residents to as high as 591,000, compared with the "ideal" size of 414,000.

The new district lines will be used in filling the 38 congressional seats in 1968 and again in 1970. The legislature will have to fight the reapportionment battle again in 1971 when new census figures are available.

When he called the legislature into special session, Reagan said "I'm sorry this decision was made." But since it was, he said, the legislature should do the revision and not the courts.

The session opened Nov. 6 and at times reapportionment got into partisan disputes involving other issues added to the agenda.

A reapportionment measure was on the verge of enactment Nov. 21, but Republicans suddenly united in the Assembly and defeated it. They challenged the Democrats' population statistics in about a dozen districts.

Democrats were forced to admit mistakes were made and returned to their complex of maps and computers to hastily draft a new bill.

A majority of Republicans voted against the bill throughout its long trip through the legislature, but enough GOP lawmakers backed it to win its approval.

He said he and his team had performed more than 200 heart the real principle of life, said the Vatican daily newspaper L'Osservatore Romano in the first Vatican comment on the operation.

"The heart is a physiological organ," said L'Osservatore, discussing the philosophical and spiritual implications of the operation.

Prof. Christian Barnard, 44, who headed the surgical team for the operation, said a Cape Town druggist may be the next recipient of a transplanted heart, but Banard added that right now his 30-member team is spending all its time checking on Washkansky's progress.

transplant experiments on dogs, and said there was no reason why the operation could not be performed on humans.

Kantrowitz also is the developer of two artificial pumps for patients whose hearts are too weak to do the job.

In May 1966, he inserted an auxiliary ventricle in the chest cavity of Mrs. Ceraso, who was near death from a heart attack. The ventricle is the chamber of the heart which pushes fresh oxygenated blood out into the body's arterial tree.

Mrs. Ceraso died two and a half weeks later of a stroke, but the operation has been successfully repeated since.

Toll Reaches At Least 121 In Viet Village Massacre

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong terrorists attacking with flamethrowers and grenades killed 121 persons in the worst massacre of civilians in the Vietnam war, a U.S. spokesman said tonight after an official investigation.

The dead were 114 Montagnard tribesmen and seven Popular Forces defenders of their villages.

He said the death toll from yesterday's massacre might go higher since 29 of the villagers are missing. He said the Communists dropped hand grenades into tunnels and caves into which some of the villagers had fled and that they were being opened in search of new victims.

The American spokesman said the Viet Cong had been coming into the village for several weeks trying to recruit soldiers. Many of the villagers were members of the Steing tribe which once cooperated with the Viet Cong but later withdrew its support.

The spokesman said another 47 tribesmen were hospitalized with burns after the Viet Cong set fire to some of the thatched huts in the villages of Dak Son East and Dak Son West. The villages are 74 miles northeast of Saigon and 25 miles west of the Cambodian border.

The official report came from James Magee, an employee of the Joint United States Public Affairs Office who flew to the scene. He flew to the twin villages crammed with refugees of war following reports that 300 of the 2,000 villagers had died. This figure was later scaled down by U.S. officials.

An earlier report today said 47 were killed and 40 to 50 villagers burned in the attack.

In the air war, U.S. B52 bombers struck Communist positions just north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and on the Cambodian border. U.S. jets flew 89 missions against the North yesterday but bad weather and clouds limited strikes to the southern peninsula.

The B52 Stratofortresses first struck today against elements of an estimated three North Vietnamese divisions pushing against South Vietnam's northern frontier. The giant bombers, each carrying up to 30 tons of bombs, also hit near the Cambodian border, near Bu Dop, in a second raid.

Hilarita Sale May Assist Marin City

The proposed purchase of two and one-half acres of the Hilarita Housing Project by Reed Union School District would provide more than $34,000, which could be used to support the Marin City Community Services District, the Marin County Housing Authority was told last night.

Reed has considered buying the land for additional playground area. No price has been agreed on but it would be more than $34,000, according to authority executive director Donald O. Stutsman.

Stutsman said the money would go into the authority's general fund, providing enough for the aid to the district.

The power to contribute the money to the services district, he said, is based on a finding that the services the district provides are of benefit to the housing authority's Marin City project.

Stutsman called the district's program "crucially important" to Marin City. About $10,000 of the $34,000 would go to help equip the new Manzanita Community Center and the rest would meet district operating costs through April, 1969.

The housing authority will meet Dec. 14 with the Tiburon City Council to seek rezoning of five of Hilarita's 15 acres to allow construction of moderate-income apartments.

The authority also learned that the federal government has dropped objections to a Marin City public housing tenant serving on the authority and the redevelopment agency. Federal authorities said earlier a conflict of interest might be involved.

The board was told that federal policy now is that commissions should be representative of their communities, including tenant representation.

The change clears the way for the community services district to bring in nominees for spots on the two boards. The plan has been for one member of each board to resign to make room for the new representatives, but the redevelopment agency now is recommending board expansion instead.

The Marin County Housing Authority also:

NOVATO HOUSING —Learned Stutsman will meet with federal officials tomorrow to push for early approval of the Novato project, now that the county's "workable program" has been approved and financing is possible. The workable program is a checklist of government activities which must be approved by the federal government before certain financial aid is available.

SEWER — Authorized engineers Bala and Strandgaard to spend up to $3,000 to replace a temporary sewer line in Marin City by installing a pump to serve two temporary commercial buildings via the Drake Avenue main. The temporary line was admitting storm water and overloading the pumping plant.

CLERK — Approved the new post of cashier-clerk, at a salary range of $409 to $498 a month, for the Marin City housing project office.

BIDS — Accepted a bid by Hotpoint Electric Co. of South San Francisco to supply 37 stoves and 37 refrigerators for the Santa Venetia senior citizens housing project for $7,953. Hotpoint was low among five bids ranging to $13,687.

workers were locked out of RCA overseas, airplane and marine communications facilities nationwide and in Guam, Puerto Rico and Costa Rica Friday after a slowdown. A three-year contract with the ACA, an affiliate of the communications division of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, expired at midnight Thursday.

West said the ACA is demanding that RCA drop trespassing charges against 124 employees arrested at the New York office Friday when they refused to leave work. Negotiations on a new contract have been broken off since the lock-out, West said.

West reported the union seeks a one-year pact calling for a 20 per cent pay increase and better pension and hospitalization benefits to match that of other communication workers. He said wages range from $56.25 weekly for RCA messengers to $169.50 for technicians with 15 years' experience. RCA is asking another three-year contract, West said.

the outset, with an additional $4,731,699 in 1976, for a total of $19,074,897 in the 12-year program, MERI estimated.

The student enrollment would rise from 1,575 in 1972 to 2,600 in 1980, the firm estimated. When the north campus is opened "the drain of students from the Kentfield campus will be immediate," MERI asserted.

The conception is that both the north campus and the Kentfield campus will offer "well-rounded educational programs," but that each will develop its own character, MERI reported.

There would be a phased building program at the north campus, with a mixture of permanent buildings and portables at the outset, the firm reported.

Opening in 1978 would be a fine arts center, an administration center, the remainder of the general education center and facilities for service occupations.

At first the general education program, including English, foreign language, behavioral and social science and general classrooms, would be housed in portables, and fine arts students "in various spare rooms." The administration would be housed in the library center "for the first few years."

Portables first used at the Kentfield campus to relieve crowded conditions there would be moved to the north campus to help bridge classroom shortages for a few years, MERI reported.

Marin's two Republican legislators split on remapping with Assemblyman William T. Bagley casting a "yes" vote and Sen. John F. McCarthy voting "no."

District size varied from 310,000 residents to as high as 591,000, compared with the "ideal" size of 414,000.

The new district lines will be used in filling the 38 congressional seats in 1968 and again in 1970. The legislature will have to fight the reapportionment battle again in 1971 when new census figures are available.

When he called the legislature into special session, Reagan said "I'm sorry this decision was made." But since it was, he said, the legislature should do the revision and not the courts.

The session opened Nov. 6 and at times reapportionment got into partisan disputes involving other issues added to the agenda.

A reapportionment measure was on the verge of enactment Nov. 21, but Republicans suddenly united in the Assembly and defeated it. They challenged the Democrats' population statistics in about a dozen districts.

Democrats were forced to admit mistakes were made and returned to their complex of maps and computers to hastily draft a new bill.

A majority of Republicans voted against the bill throughout its long trip through the legislature, but enough GOP lawmakers backed it to win its approval.

He said he and his team had performed more than 200 heart the real principle of life, said the Vatican daily newspaper L'Osservatore Romano in the first Vatican comment on the operation.

"The heart is a physiological organ," said L'Osservatore, discussing the philosophical and spiritual implications of the operation.

Prof. Christian Barnard, 44, who headed the surgical team for the operation, said a Cape Town druggist may be the next recipient of a transplanted heart, but Banard added that right now his 30-member team is spending all its time checking on Washkansky's progress.

transplant experiments on dogs, and said there was no reason why the operation could not be performed on humans.

Kantrowitz also is the developer of two artificial pumps for patients whose hearts are too weak to do the job.

In May 1966, he inserted an auxiliary ventricle in the chest cavity of Mrs. Ceraso, who was near death from a heart attack. The ventricle is the chamber of the heart which pushes fresh oxygenated blood out into the body's arterial tree.

Mrs. Ceraso died two and a half weeks later of a stroke, but the operation has been successfully repeated since.

Toll Reaches At Least 121 In Viet Village Massacre

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong terrorists attacking with flamethrowers and grenades killed 121 persons in the worst massacre of civilians in the Vietnam war, a U.S. spokesman said tonight after an official investigation.

The dead were 114 Montagnard tribesmen and seven Popular Forces defenders of their villages.

He said the death toll from yesterday's massacre might go higher since 29 of the villagers are missing. He said the Communists dropped hand grenades into tunnels and caves into which some of the villagers had fled and that they were being opened in search of new victims.

The American spokesman said the Viet Cong had been coming into the village for several weeks trying to recruit soldiers. Many of the villagers were members of the Steing tribe which once cooperated with the Viet Cong but later withdrew its support.

The spokesman said another 47 tribesmen were hospitalized with burns after the Viet Cong set fire to some of the thatched huts in the villages of Dak Son East and Dak Son West. The villages are 74 miles northeast of Saigon and 25 miles west of the Cambodian border.

The official report came from James Magee, an employee of the Joint United States Public Affairs Office who flew to the scene. He flew to the twin villages crammed with refugees of war following reports that 300 of the 2,000 villagers had died. This figure was later scaled down by U.S. officials.

An earlier report today said 47 were killed and 40 to 50 villagers burned in the attack.

In the air war, U.S. B52 bombers struck Communist positions just north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and on the Cambodian border. U.S. jets flew 89 missions against the North yesterday but bad weather and clouds limited strikes to the southern peninsula.

The B52 Stratofortresses first struck today against elements of an estimated three North Vietnamese divisions pushing against South Vietnam's northern frontier. The giant bombers, each carrying up to 30 tons of bombs, also hit near the Cambodian border, near Bu Dop, in a second raid.

Hilarita Sale May Assist Marin City

The proposed purchase of two and one-half acres of the Hilarita Housing Project by Reed Union School District would provide more than $34,000, which could be used to support the Marin City Community Services District, the Marin County Housing Authority was told last night.

Reed has considered buying the land for additional playground area. No price has been agreed on but it would be more than $34,000, according to authority executive director Donald O. Stutsman.

Stutsman said the money would go into the authority's general fund, providing enough for the aid to the district.

The power to contribute the money to the services district, he said, is based on a finding that the services the district provides are of benefit to the housing authority's Marin City project.

Stutsman called the district's program "crucially important" to Marin City. About $10,000 of the $34,000 would go to help equip the new Manzanita Community Center and the rest would meet district operating costs through April, 1969.

The housing authority will meet Dec. 14 with the Tiburon City Council to seek rezoning of five of Hilarita's 15 acres to allow construction of moderate-income apartments.

The authority also learned that the federal government has dropped objections to a Marin City public housing tenant serving on the authority and the redevelopment agency. Federal authorities said earlier a conflict of interest might be involved.

The board was told that federal policy now is that commissions should be representative of their communities, including tenant representation.

The change clears the way for the community services district to bring in nominees for spots on the two boards. The plan has been for one member of each board to resign to make room for the new representatives, but the redevelopment agency now is recommending board expansion instead.

The Marin County Housing Authority also:

NOVATO HOUSING —Learned Stutsman will meet with federal officials tomorrow to push for early approval of the Novato project, now that the county's "workable program" has been approved and financing is possible. The workable program is a checklist of government activities which must be approved by the federal government before certain financial aid is available.

SEWER — Authorized engineers Bala and Strandgaard to spend up to $3,000 to replace a temporary sewer line in Marin City by installing a pump to serve two temporary commercial buildings via the Drake Avenue main. The temporary line was admitting storm water and overloading the pumping plant.

CLERK — Approved the new post of cashier-clerk, at a salary range of $409 to $498 a month, for the Marin City housing project office.

BIDS — Accepted a bid by Hotpoint Electric Co. of South San Francisco to supply 37 stoves and 37 refrigerators for the Santa Venetia senior citizens housing project for $7,953. Hotpoint was low among five bids ranging to $13,687.

workers were locked out of RCA overseas, airplane and marine communications facilities nationwide and in Guam, Puerto Rico and Costa Rica Friday after a slowdown. A three-year contract with the ACA, an affiliate of the communications division of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, expired at midnight Thursday.

West said the ACA is demanding that RCA drop trespassing charges against 124 employees arrested at the New York office Friday when they refused to leave work. Negotiations on a new contract have been broken off since the lock-out, West said.

West reported the union seeks a one-year pact calling for a 20 per cent pay increase and better pension and hospitalization benefits to match that of other communication workers. He said wages range from $56.25 weekly for RCA messengers to $169.50 for technicians with 15 years' experience. RCA is asking another three-year contract, West said.

COLLEGE

the outset, with an additional $4,731,699 in 1976, for a total of $19,074,897 in the 12-year program, MERI estimated.

Under an alternate plan, the cost of portables would be reduced at the Novato campus to $202,500, but would rise at the Kentfield campus.

The student enrollment would rise from 1,575 in 1972 to 2,600 in 1980, the firm estimated. When the north campus is opened "the drain of students from the Kentfield campus will be immediate," MERI asserted.

The conception is that both the north campus and the Kentfield campus will offer "well-rounded educational programs," but that each will develop its own character, MERI reported.

There would be a phased building program at the north campus, with a mixture of permanent buildings and portables at the outset, the firm reported.

Opening in 1978 would be a fine arts center, an administration center, the remainder of the general education center and facilities for service occupations.

At first the general education program, including English, foreign language, behavioral and social science and general classrooms, would be housed in portables, and fine arts students "in various spare rooms." The administration would be housed in the library center "for the first few years."

Portables first used at the Kentfield campus to relieve crowded conditions there would be moved to the north campus to help bridge classroom shortages for a few years, MERI reported.

Jury Clears Husband Of Defying Policemen

A Marin Municipal Court jury yesterday cleared Anthony Cozzi of a disturbing the peace charge, lodged after he refused a policeman's order to leave an area where his wife was apparently threatened by a live power line.

Novato police arrested him Oct. 6, after a tree broke and brought a 12,000-volt power line down over the car of the Cozzis on Sutro Avenue, just South of Novato Boulevard.

Cozzi, 39, of 2721 Center Road, Novato, was standing near the car and his wife was inside when police arrived. One of the electric wires was touching the car.

When he refused to move back to safety, Cozzi was arrested and booked for suspicion of failure to evacuate the area of a calamity. The charge was changed later to disturbing the peace.

Officers testified that Cozzi shouted abusive language at them, but the jury found him innocent.

Three days after the crash, Novato Police Chief Robert Di Grazia corrected the police report which originally said Mrs. Cozzi was trapped in the auto.

"Mrs. Cozzi was in no danger because of the insulation of the tires. The car could have been driven away," he said.

The chief said he asked for the clarification because so many husbands had called to say they would not have left their wives in a car which was in danger.

Student's Story Poses Challenge To Libel Law

SANTA BARBARA (AP)— A municipal judge's decision that the California criminal libel statute is probably unconstitutional may be appealed to the State Supreme Court.

Dist. Atty. David Minier said that if there is an appeal he will carry the case to the high court. If it isn't appealed, he predicted it would eventually lead to the Supreme Court through other cases.

In dismissing a criminal libel action yesterday, Municipal Judge Joseph Lodge said the state libel law seeks "to publish malicious statements even if they are true."

Lodge said Section 250 of the statute enacted 95 years ago holds that an "injurious publication is presumed to have been malicious if no justifiable motive for making it is shown..."

This seeks to "require a defendant to prove that an unflattering statement about a public official, albeit true, is not malicious," said Lodge, adding:

The libel charge had been brought against John Maybury, 20, a University of California at Santa Barbara student, for an account published in the July 17 issue of a newspaper published in Isla Vista near the campus.

The article accused Joel Honey, a sheriff's deputy, of having used illegal means to obtain information and prosecute narcotics cases. The County of Santa Barbara brought the charge.

A Way Of Living Is Extended To Taxes

RED BLUFF (AP) — The great American tradition of buying on credit has been extended a step further in Tehama County.

Recognizing that paying taxes can be burdensome for those short of cash, the board of supervisors in this rural Northern California County approved a program yesterday allowing property owners to pay their local taxes using a conventional Bank of America credit card.

County officials said other financial institutions may also seek to have their charge account plans approved for property tax payments.

Under the provisions, Bank of America must give "charge-the-tax" customers 50 days grace to repay the loan before charging interest on the balance.

Dentist's Wife Seeks Divorce

San Rafael dentist Robert A. Hedquist was sued for divorce in Marin Superior Court today by his wife of 10 years, Jean.

Mrs. Hedquist alleged cruelty and asked for more than half of their community property, which she said includes Dr. Hedquist's $100,000 dental practice and half of land at Miller Avenue and Las Gallinas Road, where she said Dr. Hedquist and his associates are building a $100,000 medical center.

She also asked custody of their two children and reasonable support for herself and the children.

A Full-Time Planning Chief For Sausalito

Sausalito's first full-time city planning director will be Charles W. Whitehead, now an associate planner for the City of Oakland, City Mgr. George M. Patterson announced yesterday.

Whitehead, 35, was chosen from 34 applicatnts for the job. He will start work for Sausalito on Dec. 18.

Sausalito has hired planning consultants in the past instead of its own planner. Whitehead, who will start at $905 a month, has worked in the planning departments of San Diego County, San Francisco and Oakland. He has a bachelor's degree in architecture from the University of Minnesota and a master's in city planning from the University of California at Berkeley.

Last night the city council moved toward reducing the membership of the city planning commission from nine to possibly five.

LESS WORK NOW

Mayor Mel Wax said there would be less work for the commission when Whitehead assumes the job. The new planner will take over tasks that are now done voluntarily by commissioners, he explained.

The council requested City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to draft an ordinance to reduce the size of the commission.

The council's action came after a review of the Sausalito Yacht Club's efforts over a three-month period to get a majority vote from the commission on its bid for a variance to expand its clubhouse.

Professors Rap Recruiting Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Some 200 San Francisco State College professors say they are "outraged" that trustees have made decision about military recruitment on campus without consulting the faculty.

Spokesman Peter Radcliff said yesterday. "The faculty has discussed for weeks what our recruiting policy should be — the matter is scheduled for faculty vote this Thursday."

Radcliff declared that professors' rights must be respected in whatever they decide.

Sausalito Turns Down Yacht Club Expansion

Sausalito City Council last night rejected a bid by the Sausalito Yacht Club to expand its waterfront clubhouse at the foot of El Portal.

The yacht club's bid for a variance to permit the addition was before the city palnning commission three times but there was never a majority vote on it, so it was forwarded to the council as an appeal.

The council voted 4-0 to deny the appeal. Councilman Alexander R. Imlay, a club member, abstained.

Councilman Earl F. Dunphy said in view of the public's vote against a library on the waterfront, he assumed it would be against enlargement of the yacht club.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk said the proposed addition "apparently would be against the wishes of this community."

The Sausalito City Council Also:

PROPERTY TRANSFER TAX — Adopted an ordinance levying a property transfer tax of .55 per $500 to qualify the city to receive half the revenue netted with the other half going to Marin County.

ABANDONED CARS — Adopted an ordinance allowing police to remove abandoned, wrecked or dismantled cars or parts from private property.

PARK GRANT — Referred to City Atty. Leland H. Jordan for review a deed from Madden and Lewis Inc. granting the city a waterfront parcel, northeast of Vina Del Mar Plaza for a park.

ADVISORY BOARD — Reappointed Mrs. Violetta Autumn, Walter Guthrie and John Campbell to the Community Appearances Advisory Board.

CLAIM DENIED — Denied a claim by Donn Emmons of 140 Crescent Avenue for $213 for damage to his car which he said was incurred when it was struck by a city fire truck Nov. 16. The claim was referred to the city's insurance carrier.

FIRE ZONES — Requested the drafting of an ordinance to establish fire zones in the city after Fire Chief C. E. Masten recommended zones, and City Mgr. George M. Patterson said they would improve the city's fire rating and reduce fire insurance rates.

KAPPAS YACHT HARBOR — Received a report from Patterson on Marin County's proposal to have open area at the Kappas Yacht Harbor, north of Sausalito, and to cut the harbor area back from 200 to 400 feet from the channel.

TREE PROBLEM — Received a request from John A. Sweeny of 173 San Carlos Avenue to remove four trees on Santa Rosa Avenue, which he claimed have caused pavement and curb damage. The council referred the matter to the tree committee of the Sausalito Women's Club for study.

HOUSE ALTERATION — Granted Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Benson a use permit to enclose a porch at 317 Second Street.

Brain Surgery Done On Singer

GLENDALE (AP)—"The next two days will tell the story," an associate says of singer Jimmie Rodgers, who underwent brain surgery last night.

Rodgers, 33, was listed in critical condition but hemorrhaging was halted by the operation, which lasted four and one-half hours.

Rodgers was found beaten and unconscious by the San Diego Freeway early last Friday morning, apparently attacked in his car.

Drive On Deceptive Labeling Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission has called for a combined federal-state campaign against unfair and deceptive labeling and packaging.

"It is apparent to me," said FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon in a letter to state officials, "that the spirit of the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act calls for close FTC-state cooperation." He asked the states to work closely with the commission staff in adopting and enforcing rules under the law and in developing a coordinated enforcement program against deceptive and unfair practices.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission has called for a combined federal-state campaign against unfair and deceptive labeling and packaging.

"It is apparent to me," said FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon in a letter to state officials, "that the spirit of the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act calls for close FTC-state cooperation." He asked the states to work closely with the commission staff in adopting and enforcing rules under the law and in developing a coordinated enforcement program against deceptive and unfair practices.

Sausalito Restaurant Permit Gets Approval

Madden and Lewis Inc. got clear sailing last night on a use permit to construct a 94-seat waterfront restaurant at Humboldt Avenue and Johnson Street, behind the Sausalito post office.

Sausalito City Council took no action last night on the conditional use permit approved by the planning commission, which, in effect, constituted council approval.

The council also learned that it couldn't legally place special restrictions on the height of the building, as it had proposed to preserve the bay view for uphill residents.

The firm also had applied for a variance for one undersized parking space, but Attorney Hugh G. Lawrence withdrew the application after the council became involved in a discussion about in-lieu parking.

The council discussed possible elimination of 10 parking spaces for the requirements for the restaurant.

In return the firm would give the city a six-foot wide stretch of waterfront land 500 feet long for a boardwalk extending to Johnson Street and 1,600 square feet of land for a park at Johnson Street.

Councilman Eleanor O'Hara Chapin urged approval. "We're trying to get as much waterfront for public use as possible," she said.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk didn't agree. "Where will it end?" he asked. "We'll have more property and no parking. Were do we draw the line?"

The council also received another waterfront problem in a letter from the U. S. Department of the Interior, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

The bureau noted that a 100-by-100-foot area of land between the Gladhand restaurant and Purity store building on Bridgeway was granted by the federal government to the city for park, but isn't being so used, meaning the city may have to pay market value for it or provide the equivalent in land and value for park purposes, City Mgr. George Patterson reported.

The council authorized Patterson to get an appraisal on the site, and also to find out how much it would cost to have Tiffany Beach expanded now.

Edward S. Kreins is police chief of Sausalito.

Sausalito Eyes Proposal To Annex Fort Territories

Sausalito will investigate immediate annexation of Fort Barry to the south of the city and Fort Baker to the southwest.

The Sausalito City Council authorized City Mgr. George M. Patterson to investigate prospects for annexation of the forts, after approving boundaries of possible future city territory for submission to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

The council included Forts Barry, Baker and Cronkhite in its possible future city, but excluded any part of Marincello.

Councilman Eleanor O'Hara Chapin argued for inclusion of Fort Cronkhite "because of its beach and with the idea of protecting it."

The council also called for negotiations with Belvedere and Tiburon for annexations that will have the boundaries of the cities meet in Richardson Bay.

In its report, the council excluded any territory in the Waldo Point area on the east side of the bay, thereby excluding the Kappas Yacht Harbor, and also excluded Marin City.

Patterson said if the city annexed Forts Baker and Barry it would gain vehicle in-lieu and gasoling tax revenues, and wouldn't have responsibility for roads or fire protection.

$18 Million Bonds Voted In East Bay

CONCORD (UPI) — Voters approved an $18 million street improvement bond issue yesterday in a special election.

The bonds will finance a five-year street modernization program involving 21 major thoroughfares with a total length of 22 miles. The vote was 4,663 to 1,279, easily surpassing the required two-thirds majority.

Civil Aide Has Fruitful Rice

TOKYO (AP) — An employee of Japan's ministry of forestry who often forgot about lunch while conducting his research has developed a strain of rice which can produce 57,100 grains from one seed, the ministry said today.

The strain was developed by Kazuo Hoshino, 39, who won the annual rice-producing contest held among ministry officials.

Hoshino said he fertilized his seedlings with chemicals, including ammonium sulfate and urea. A ministry spokesman said the previous record was 20,000 grains from one seed.

South Africa School Danger Seen In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold Howe II, U.S. commissioner of education, says of segregated schools that "the danger we run is becoming a South Africa without really knowing it and without admitting it to ourselves."

South Africa officially observes a rigid policy of apartheid, or separation of the races.

"I don't think the primary reason to have Negroes and whites go to school together is to learn reading, writing and arithmetic—it's so we have one society instead of two," Howe said in an interview.

RACIAL HARMONY

He said integration promotes racial harmony because "mutual suspicion among human beings disappears when they get to know each other."

He also said of integration: "Over a period of time I think it is going to help the learning outcomes of youngsters from poor families—both Negroes and whites."

Howe's comments came shortly after two studies concluded Negro children bused to middle-class schools did not achieve more scholastically.

TAKE YEARS

Howe said he agreed with the aim of better education for Negro pupils. "And yet I say that unless you keep vigorously pressing on the problem of segregation at the same time, you give people a way of crossing segregation off their consciences."

The commissioner said it will take years to bring about substantial integration, especially in Northern cities, and that he understands the discouragement of civil rights leaders.

Battery Stolen

1,900-Year Pedigree For Peninsula Tribe

Artifacts and Indian bones dug out of the earth of the Tiburon Peninsula this summer have been found to be about 1,900 to 2,500 years old.

The site at the end of Blackfield Drive containing Indian skeletons and artifacts was discovered when workers began excavation for a subdivision. Work was delayed so that archaeologists from Sonoma State College and San Francisco State College could save and study Indian remains.

Professor David A. Fredrickson, anthropologist at Sonoma State, reported today that radiocarbon dating of bones from the cemetery site, where 35 burial sites and many artifacts were found, showed bones, beads and whistles and other items to be 1,980 years old, plus or minus 95 years.

Dating of items found at the deepest level of excavation showed that the site of the former Miwok Indian village went back as far as 2,320 years, with a possible error of plus or minus 190 years.

Fredrickson noted that artifacts found are similar to those recovered in recent excavations on the shore of San Francisco Bay in Alameda County.

The cost of the radiocarbon dating process, in which the amount of Carbon-14 isotope remaining in once-living materials can be measured in years, was paid by contributions of about $300 from Tiburon residents, Fredrickson said.

Materials recovered from the site are now at Sonoma and San Francisco state colleges where they are being further analyzed in preparation of publication of a formal report of the excavation.

South Africa School Danger Seen In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold Howe II, U.S. commissioner of education, says of segregated schools that "the danger we run is becoming a South Africa without really knowing it and without admitting it to ourselves."

South Africa officially observes a rigid policy of apartheid, or separation of the races.

"I don't think the primary reason to have Negroes and whites go to school together is to learn reading, writing and arithmetic—it's so we have one society instead of two," Howe said in an interview.

RACIAL HARMONY

He said integration promotes racial harmony because "mutual suspicion among human beings disappears when they get to know each other."

He also said of integration: "Over a period of time I think it is going to help the learning outcomes of youngsters from poor families—both Negroes and whites."

Howe's comments came shortly after two studies concluded Negro children bused to middle-class schools did not achieve more scholastically.

TAKE YEARS

Howe said he agreed with the aim of better education for Negro pupils. "And yet I say that unless you keep vigorously pressing on the problem of segregation at the same time, you give people a way of crossing segregation off their consciences."

The commissioner said it will take years to bring about substantial integration, especially in Northern cities, and that he understands the discouragement of civil rights leaders.

Battery Stolen

1,900-Year Pedigree For Peninsula Tribe

Artifacts and Indian bones dug out of the earth of the Tiburon Peninsula this summer have been found to be about 1,900 to 2,500 years old.

The site at the end of Blackfield Drive containing Indian skeletons and artifacts was discovered when workers began excavation for a subdivision. Work was delayed so that archaeologists from Sonoma State College and San Francisco State College could save and study Indian remains.

Professor David A. Fredrickson, anthropologist at Sonoma State, reported today that radiocarbon dating of bones from the cemetery site, where 35 burial sites and many artifacts were found, showed bones, beads and whistles and other items to be 1,980 years old, plus or minus 95 years.

Dating of items found at the deepest level of excavation showed that the site of the former Miwok Indian village went back as far as 2,320 years, with a possible error of plus or minus 190 years.

Fredrickson noted that artifacts found are similar to those recovered in recent excavations on the shore of San Francisco Bay in Alameda County.

The cost of the radiocarbon dating process, in which the amount of Carbon-14 isotope remaining in once-living materials can be measured in years, was paid by contributions of about $300 from Tiburon residents, Fredrickson said.

Materials recovered from the site are now at Sonoma and San Francisco state colleges where they are being further analyzed in preparation of publication of a formal report of the excavation.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Tartuffe' Again Is A Winner For ACT

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — "Tartuffe" is the American Conservatory Theater's greatest challenge and finest victory. It is a challenge because Richard Wilbur's rhymed verse translation in the hands of a less gifted set of performers could be absolute disater. It is a victory because the actors not only triumph over the verse, but leave you at the play's end with the distinct impression that this is how people always talk.

The Moliere comedy, which opened at the Geary last night, is ACT's seventh production of the current season, and it's one that no theater-goer should miss.

William Ball has staged it with brilliant abandon, with a style that is not imposed, but seems to spring from within. His players are not obviously mannered, but the verse rhythms, Jane Greenwood's costumes, Stuart Wurtzel's set, John McLain's lighting and Lee Hoiby's music all combine with Ball's choreographed groups and tightly paced interchanges to give the effect of a waterfall cascading from opening to closing curtain.

SATIRE IS TIMELY

Moliere's satire holds up today. Example: Cleante's admonition to his nephew "In this refined age one doesn't do things with violence!" It brings the house down, as do his timeless barbs against humanity's venal traits, and its tendency to use piety as a subterfuge for self-agrandizement.

Tartuffe, the slimy villain who under the cloak of piety attempts to seduce the wife of his patron, Orgon, and obtain Orgon's wealth as well, is played again by Rene Auberjonois. It is difficult to describe the mercurial quality that Auberjonois brings to the character, for any other actor playing the role as he does would be accused of a complete caricature. Yet this amazing young man makes us believe his fantastically funny, but at times terrifying Tartuffe.

SEDUCTION SCENE

He is absolutely tops in the seduction of Elmire (DeAnn Mears), as, overcome with passion, he rakes his hands up a velour chair, leaving wide claw marks, sloshes holy water on his face to cool off, then leaps upon her, only to be rebuffed. A moment later he is poised on one foot in the arrested crouch of a starting runner and remains balanced while he hears her out, then once more charges at her. Miss Mears is superb in her role, playing it with deft comic touches, and a warm sincerity.

SUPPORT UNLIMITED

It is Auberjonois's play, but his support is unlimited. Josephine Nichols makes the most of pious Madame Pernell; Judith Mihalyi is adorable as Dorine, the impudent maid; Ramon Bieri's Orgon is fatuously bombastic; and Charlene Polite overplays Orgon's namby-pamby daughter in just the right degree. I found Peter Donat and Ray Laine vastly superior to their counterparts in last season's production, as is John Schuck, playing the officer to the king.

"Tartuffe" is a brilliant show and one that can be seen again and again. There's so much going that it's difficult to catch t all the first time round. See it!

Marin Lucky Stores Not Yet Affected By Strike

A spokesman for the Lucky Market chain, which has two stores in Marin County, said yesterday a strike of 125 office workers at company headquarters in San Leandro has not yet affected service at any of the firm's 65 Bay Area stores.

Warehousemen at San Leandro refused to cross picket lines of the striking union — AFL-CIO Office and Technical Employees Local 29 — but Local 70 of the Teamsters moved perishable goods out of the warehouse, the spokesman said.

The Marin County Lucky Markets are at Northgate Shopping Center and at 720 Center Boulevard, Fairfax.

Negotiations between the company and the union began Sept. 22 and broke down after management refused to accept union demands hinging mainly on effects of automation on jobs.

Local 29 President John Kinnick said the union would first picket the distribution center and progressively spread the picketing to other Lucky retail stores in the county.

Span Pile-Up Injures Sausalitan

A Sausalito woman was injured yesterday in a four-car crash in commuter traffic on the Golden Gate Bridge.

As southbound vehicles slowed for the toll lanes at 8:05 a.m., cars driven by James Walter Cremeans, 27, of Daly City and Jorgen Erik Madsen, 37, of 117 Filbert Street, Sausalito, stopped, the California Highway Patrol reported, and a third car driven by Daniel Keith Beswick Jr., 29, of 909 La Verne Avenue, Mill Valley, slid into the rear of the Madsen car, pushing it into Cremean's car.

Then a fourth vehicle driven by Gentry Edmond Simpson, 31, of Sacramento, crashed into the rear of Beswick's car, according to patrolmen.

Hub Man Denies Weapon Charge

George Richard Arndt, 29, of 6 Bank Street, San Anselmo, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. A preliminary hearing was to be scheduled today.

Arndt was arrested at his apartment Nov. 6 after police Sgt. Robert D. White said the man held a .38 caliber pistol on him for 15 minutes.

White went to the apartment after a neighbor called to say Arndt had cut his wrist. Suicide notes were found in the apartment after White said he talked Arndt into laying down the gun. Arndt was sent to Napa State Hospital for 30 days.

Strawberry Directors Due Dredging Report

Directors of Strawberry Recreation District expect to hear a report tonight on the redredging of the Strawberry Channel, from architect J. Martin Rosse.

Secretary Mrs. Jean Heick said today the Shellmaker Co. dredge was unavailable through last Saturday and board members hope to learn tonight the starting date for the channel digging.

Gallinas Creek Advisory Board Votes On Terms

The County Services Area No. 6 advisory board, which oversees the maintenance of Gallinas Creek, this week decided to set up regular terms for board members and eliminate those who fail to attend meetings.

Directors, headed by Ronald W. Shafer, met at the Civic Center Monday night and drew lots to determine how long each will serve. Drawing four year terms were Tryvge Larson and Albert Leigh. Shafer and Vernon Rasmussen drew two-year terms.

Rasmussen, however, will be replaced because he moved out of the area into San Rafael and will resign from the board. Another vacancy exists on the five-man board because Sanford B. Weiss has not attended any of the meetings and will be dropped from the board.

Board members decided to draw up a speed limit ordinance for Gallinas Creek, setting the maximum speed at five knots.

Next meeting of the board will be Feb. 5, 1968.

Landlord Complains Of Missing Furniture

Ronald Porter, age and address unknown, who rented Apt. 1 at 1314 Leafwood Drive, Novato, on Aug. 1, moved out on Nov. 26, Kaehler reported to police. It was not until Nov. 30 that Kaehler noticed that twin beds, mattresses, night stand and desk lamp valued at $163 were gone from the apartment.

Judge Upholds Marijuana Law, Kills Conviction

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Superior Court Judge yesterday upheld constitutionality of the state law forbidding sale of marijuana but dismissed the prior conviction of a man convicted a second time of possessing marijuana.

Judge Joseph Karesh by his dismissal of the earlier conviction of Alfred Tenorio, 35, of Oakland, avoided imposing a mandatory sentence of 2 to 20 years in prison, which he indicated he thought too severe. He ordered Tenorio to appear Jan. 8 for sentencing on his second conviction.

In the other case, Judge Karesh freed Melkon Melkonian, 26, of Mill Valley, on his own recognizance until Dec. 18. The judge said he wanted to see if the State Medical Facility at Vacaville would accept Melkonian for a 90-day study and "evaluation" of the man.

Low Plain

BOSTON (AP) — In general, New England is made up of a low coastal plain and two rocky interior uplands.

Prayer Kneeler Crushed To Death

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A San Francisco man, who disrupted traffic by kneeling in prayer in the middle of a street, was crushed to death yesterday when he lay under the wheels of a truck.

Police identified the victim as John Lewis Griffie, 50.

Officers said Griffie crawled under the wheels of a truck driven by Jerry Lawrimore, 30, Glendale. They said Lawrimore was unaware of the man when he turned right and ran over him.

A witness told police Griffie earlier knelt in prayer at the intersection, causing motorists to swerve away to avoid hitting him.

Taylor Park Roads Resurfacing Planned

Roads in Samuel P. Taylor State Park will be resurfaced and sewer and drainage lines replaced in a project next spring planned by the State Office of Architecture and Construction.

Bids will be opened Jan. 4 in Sacramento for the work, expected to cost about $50,000.

San Anselmo Citizens Eye School Bond Defeat Cause

A committee named by San Anselmo School District trustees met yesterday at Red Hill School to discuss causes of the Oct. 10 election defeat of a $950,000 bond issue. No acton was taken.

Dr. Elmer A. Weden Jr., a trustee and member of the committee, said today it is apparent that the help of district residents must be obtained, and a decision made on what direction San Anselmo education must take with the limited funds and building facilities available.

He said a proposed 75-cent tax increase which also failed at the election was barely discussed because the building issue is of first importance. About 15 persons attended. The committee is headed by Richard Kreuzer. A report from the committee is scheduled at the trustees' next regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 19.

Sanitary Board Starts Wheels On Annexation

The Corte Madera Sanitary District Board last night started proceedings for annexation of the Summit Avenue area by passing a resolution of application to the Local Agency Formation Commission.

The area, 1.5 acres, is a part of the City of Mill Valley, but the district has been servicing it by agreement with that city.

The board also awarded a contract for a Cathodic protection system for a 20-inch main to the lowest of six bidders, Anode Service Corp. of Huntington Beash, for $9,869. The system will provide protection against electrolysis corrosion.

Reverse Accident Injures Novato Man

A Novato man received a cut nose yesterday when he backed his car into a utility pole in front of 1432 Leafwood Drive, Novato, according to police reports.

Nicholas Chizuko, 36, of 1318 Leafwood Drive, Apt. 4, was to see his own doctor for the injury, according to police.

Patrick Counters Muscleman's Case

William Penn Patrick, San Rafael cosmetics manufacturer, has filed a $2.5 million damage suit against a former "Mr. America" who is suing Patrick for $1 million.

Patrick, in a suit filed Friday claims that the ex-muscleman, caims that the ex-muscleman, who is one of his distributors, circulated a newsletter to other distributors making "defamatory" statements about the cosmetics firm, Holiday Magic.

Judge Alvin E. Weinberger issued a restraining order against the distributor, Walt Baptiste, to cease distribution of the newsletter. A preliminary injunction will be argued Monday in the court's law and motion department.

The first gun fired in the round of suits was the $1 million suit filed by Baptiste, who charged the cosmetics were not what Patrick said they were, that Patrick was setting up shops competing with his distributors, and that Patrick's right-wing politics lost business for distributors.

A summons server then filed a $250,000 suit against the cosmetics firm when he was detained in the firm's offices at 616 Canal Street while trying to serve Baptiste's summons.

Baptiste and his wife operate a health studio in San Francisco.

Percy Defends Office Expense Fund Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Charles H. Percy says "there isn't one shadow of doubt in my mind" that a special fund being raised by his Illinois Republican supporters to meet his office expenses is perfectly right and aboveboard.

Percy said yesterday that criticism of the $120,000-a-year fund drive is a fact of political life.

"You do what you think is right," he said in an interview. "I would intend to go right ahead and do exactly what I planned on doing."

He said that until he starts using the fund next year he will continue to pay extra office expenses out of his own pocket — an expense he says so far has totaled about $70,000. Percy maintains offices in Washington, Chicago and Centralia, in downstate Illinois.

Senators are not provided with sufficient office allowances, Percy asserted, to do a first-rate job for a state the size of Illinois.

"I'm used to doing an absolutely first-rate job," he added.

A full schedule of holiday events is in store for Marinwood residents, Recreation Director William A. Gordon announced at Monday nights meeting of the Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission.

The organization has about 55 members throughout the county.

Senior Citizens Get Discounts

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (AP) — Five thousand older residents of the town of Hempstead are eligible for store discounts and other benefits under a plan established by the Older Americans Advisory and Action Committee.

Thus many residents 65 or more years old have been issued identity cards which entitle them to lower prices at 125 stores, lower fees at town and country parks, and half fare on one bus line.

The plan was set up by the Hempstead town board and presiding officer two years ago.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Tartuffe' Again Is A Winner For ACT

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — "Tartuffe" is the American Conservatory Theater's greatest challenge and finest victory. It is a challenge because Richard Wilbur's rhymed verse translation in the hands of a less gifted set of performers could be absolute disater. It is a victory because the actors not only triumph over the verse, but leave you at the play's end with the distinct impression that this is how people always talk.

The Moliere comedy, which opened at the Geary last night, is ACT's seventh production of the current season, and it's one that no theater-goer should miss.

William Ball has staged it with brilliant abandon, with a style that is not imposed, but seems to spring from within. His players are not obviously mannered, but the verse rhythms, Jane Greenwood's costumes, Stuart Wurtzel's set, John McLain's lighting and Lee Hoiby's music all combine with Ball's choreographed groups and tightly paced interchanges to give the effect of a waterfall cascading from opening to closing curtain.

SATIRE IS TIMELY

Moliere's satire holds up today. Example: Cleante's admonition to his nephew "In this refined age one doesn't do things with violence!" It brings the house down, as do his timeless barbs against humanity's venal traits, and its tendency to use piety as a subterfuge for self-agrandizement.

Tartuffe, the slimy villain who under the cloak of piety attempts to seduce the wife of his patron, Orgon, and obtain Orgon's wealth as well, is played again by Rene Auberjonois. It is difficult to describe the mercurial quality that Auberjonois brings to the character, for any other actor playing the role as he does would be accused of a complete caricature. Yet this amazing young man makes us believe his fantastically funny, but at times terrifying Tartuffe.

SEDUCTION SCENE

He is absolutely tops in the seduction of Elmire (DeAnn Mears), as, overcome with passion, he rakes his hands up a velour chair, leaving wide claw marks, sloshes holy water on his face to cool off, then leaps upon her, only to be rebuffed. A moment later he is poised on one foot in the arrested crouch of a starting runner and remains balanced while he hears her out, then once more charges at her. Miss Mears is superb in her role, playing it with deft comic touches, and a warm sincerity.

SUPPORT UNLIMITED

It is Auberjonois's play, but his support is unlimited. Josephine Nichols makes the most of pious Madame Pernell; Judith Mihalyi is adorable as Dorine, the impudent maid; Ramon Bieri's Orgon is fatuously bombastic; and Charlene Polite overplays Orgon's namby-pamby daughter in just the right degree. I found Peter Donat and Ray Laine vastly superior to their counterparts in last season's production, as is John Schuck, playing the officer to the king.

"Tartuffe" is a brilliant show and one that can be seen again and again. There's so much going that it's difficult to catch t all the first time round. See it!

Judge Upholds Marijuana Law, Kills Conviction

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Superior Court Judge yesterday upheld constitutionality of the state law forbidding sale of marijuana but dismissed the prior conviction of a man convicted a second time of possessing marijuana.

Judge Joseph Karesh by his dismissal of the earlier conviction of Alfred Tenorio, 35, of Oakland, avoided imposing a mandatory sentence of 2 to 20 years in prison, which he indicated he thought too severe. He ordered Tenorio to appear Jan. 8 for sentencing on his second conviction.

In the other case, Judge Karesh freed Melkon Melkonian, 26, of Mill Valley, on his own recognizance until Dec. 18. The judge said he wanted to see if the State Medical Facility at Vacaville would accept Melkonian for a 90-day study and "evaluation" of the man.

BOSTON (AP) — In general, New England is made up of a low coastal plain and two rocky interior uplands.

Prayer Kneeler Crushed To Death

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A San Francisco man, who disrupted traffic by kneeling in prayer in the middle of a street, was crushed to death yesterday when he lay under the wheels of a truck.

Police identified the victim as John Lewis Griffie, 50.

Officers said Griffie crawled under the wheels of a truck driven by Jerry Lawrimore, 30, Glendale. They said Lawrimore was unaware of the man when he turned right and ran over him.

A witness told police Griffie earlier knelt in prayer at the intersection, causing motorists to swerve away to avoid hitting him.

Taylor Park Roads Resurfacing Planned

Roads in Samuel P. Taylor State Park will be resurfaced and sewer and drainage lines replaced in a project next spring planned by the State Office of Architecture and Construction.

Bids will be opened Jan. 4 in Sacramento for the work, expected to cost about $50,000.

Marin Lucky Stores Not Yet Affected By Strike

A spokesman for the Lucky Market chain, which has two stores in Marin County, said yesterday a strike of 125 office workers at company headquarters in San Leandro has not yet affected service at any of the firm's 65 Bay Area stores.

Warehousemen at San Leandro refused to cross picket lines of the striking union — AFL-CIO Office and Technical Employees Local 29 — but Local 70 of the Teamsters moved perishable goods out of the warehouse, the spokesman said.

The Marin County Lucky Markets are at Northgate Shopping Center and at 720 Center Boulevard, Fairfax.

Negotiations between the company and the union began Sept. 22 and broke down after management refused to accept union demands hinging mainly on effects of automation on jobs.

Local 29 President John Kinnick said the union would first picket the distribution center and progressively spread the picketing to other Lucky retail stores in the county.

Span Pile-Up Injures Sausalitan

A Sausalito woman was injured yesterday in a four-car crash in commuter traffic on the Golden Gate Bridge.

As southbound vehicles slowed for the toll lanes at 8:05 a.m., cars driven by James Walter Cremeans, 27, of Daly City and Jorgen Erik Madsen, 37, of 117 Filbert Street, Sausalito, stopped, the California Highway Patrol reported, and a third car driven by Daniel Keith Beswick Jr., 29, of 909 La Verne Avenue, Mill Valley, slid into the rear of the Madsen car, pushing it into Cremean's car.

Then a fourth vehicle driven by Gentry Edmond Simpson, 31, of Sacramento, crashed into the rear of Beswick's car, according to patrolmen.

Gallinas Creek Advisory Board Votes On Terms

The County Services Area No. 6 advisory board, which oversees the maintenance of Gallinas Creek, this week decided to set up regular terms for board members and eliminate those who fail to attend meetings.

Directors, headed by Ronald W. Shafer, met at the Civic Center Monday night and drew lots to determine how long each will serve. Drawing four year terms were Tryvge Larson and Albert Leigh. Shafer and Vernon Rasmussen drew two-year terms.

Rasmussen, however, will be replaced because he moved out of the area into San Rafael and will resign from the board. Another vacancy exists on the five-man board because Sanford B. Weiss has not attended any of the meetings and will be dropped from the board.

Board members decided to draw up a speed limit ordinance for Gallinas Creek, setting the maximum speed at five knots.

Next meeting of the board will be Feb. 5, 1968.

Hub Man Denies Weapon Charge

George Richard Arndt, 29, of 6 Bank Street, San Anselmo, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. A preliminary hearing was to be scheduled today.

Arndt was arrested at his apartment Nov. 6 after police Sgt. Robert D. White said the man held a .38 caliber pistol on him for 15 minutes.

White went to the apartment after a neighbor called to say Arndt had cut his wrist. Suicide notes were found in the apartment after White said he talked Arndt into laying down the gun. Arndt was sent to Napa State Hospital for 30 days.

Strawberry Directors Due Dredging Report

Directors of Strawberry Recreation District expect to hear a report tonight on the redredging of the Strawberry Channel, from architect J. Martin Rosse.

Secretary Mrs. Jean Heick said today the Shellmaker Co. dredge was unavailable through last Saturday and board members hope to learn tonight the starting date for the channel digging.

Landlord Complains Of Missing Furniture

Ronald Porter, age and address unknown, who rented Apt. 1 at 1314 Leafwood Drive, Novato, on Aug. 1, moved out on Nov. 26, Kaehler reported to police. It was not until Nov. 30 that Kaehler noticed that twin beds, mattresses, night stand and desk lamp valued at $163 were gone from the apartment.

San Anselmo Citizens Eye School Bond Defeat Cause

A committee named by San Anselmo School District trustees met yesterday at Red Hill School to discuss causes of the Oct. 10 election defeat of a $950,000 bond issue. No acton was taken.

Dr. Elmer A. Weden Jr., a trustee and member of the committee, said today it is apparent that the help of district residents must be obtained, and a decision made on what direction San Anselmo education must take with the limited funds and building facilities available.

He said a proposed 75-cent tax increase which also failed at the election was barely discussed because the building issue is of first importance. About 15 persons attended. The committee is headed by Richard Kreuzer. A report from the committee is scheduled at the trustees' next regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 19.

Sanitary Board Starts Wheels On Annexation

The Corte Madera Sanitary District Board last night started proceedings for annexation of the Summit Avenue area by passing a resolution of application to the Local Agency Formation Commission.

The area, 1.5 acres, is a part of the City of Mill Valley, but the district has been servicing it by agreement with that city.

The board also awarded a contract for a Cathodic protection system for a 20-inch main to the lowest of six bidders, Anode Service Corp. of Huntington Beash, for $9,869. The system will provide protection against electrolysis corrosion.

Reverse Accident Injures Novato Man

A Novato man received a cut nose yesterday when he backed his car into a utility pole in front of 1432 Leafwood Drive, Novato, according to police reports.

Nicholas Chizuko, 36, of 1318 Leafwood Drive, Apt. 4, was to see his own doctor for the injury, according to police.

Patrick Counters Muscleman's Case

William Penn Patrick, San Rafael cosmetics manufacturer, has filed a $2.5 million damage suit against a former "Mr. America" who is suing Patrick for $1 million.

Patrick, in a suit filed Friday claims that the ex-muscleman, caims that the ex-muscleman, who is one of his distributors, circulated a newsletter to other distributors making "defamatory" statements about the cosmetics firm, Holiday Magic.

Judge Alvin E. Weinberger issued a restraining order against the distributor, Walt Baptiste, to cease distribution of the newsletter. A preliminary injunction will be argued Monday in the court's law and motion department.

The first gun fired in the round of suits was the $1 million suit filed by Baptiste, who charged the cosmetics were not what Patrick said they were, that Patrick was setting up shops competing with his distributors, and that Patrick's right-wing politics lost business for distributors.

A summons server then filed a $250,000 suit against the cosmetics firm when he was detained in the firm's offices at 616 Canal Street while trying to serve Baptiste's summons.

Baptiste and his wife operate a health studio in San Francisco.

Auditorium Furnishing Bids Come In Lower

Bids to provide stage rigging, lighting and seating for the proposed Veterans Memorial Auditorium came in yesterday about $11,000 below the first bids submitted last September.

Marin County Board of Supervisors referred all bids to the auditor-controller and to the public works director for checking and to await the main bid for the auditorium proper, which will be opened next Tuesday.

$149,000 TOTAL

For stage rigging, the Building and Hardware Accessories Corp. of San Francisco bid $58,000, slightly under the $59,350 offered by Shearer Company of San Francisco. Century Lighting of San Francisco offered to put in lighting for $51,834. On the seating, American Seating of San Francisco bid $37,092, far below the $47,411 of American Desk Manufacturing Co.

The total of the low bids came to $149,000, including taxes, Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell reported. He said this is about $11,000 below the original bids of last September.

"This is a good sign so far," commented Mitchell, but warned the major part of the bid which will make or break the auditorium will come next week.

FUNDS LIMITED

Construction of the auditorium proper and site improvement was estimated to cost $2,190,500. If next week's bid comes in at this level, then the addition of $149,000 for stage facilities would hold total cost within the $2,350,800 anticipated by the county. Previous overall bids, rejected by supervisors last September, totalled $2,510,800.

Big Gold Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department reports gold sales totaling $76.6 million to the United Kingdom during the third quarter of this year. It says the sales largely reflect frenzied trade in gold following the Middle East crisis last June.

Hearing Set On Marijuana

He is to appear for a preliminary hearing Jan. 9 at 9:30 a.m.

Auditorium Furnishing Bids Come In Lower

Bids to provide stage rigging, lighting and seating for the proposed Veterans Memorial Auditorium came in yesterday about $11,000 below the first bids submitted last September.

Marin County Board of Supervisors referred all bids to the auditor-controller and to the public works director for checking and to await the main bid for the auditorium proper, which will be opened next Tuesday.

$149,000 TOTAL

For stage rigging, the Building and Hardware Accessories Corp. of San Francisco bid $58,000, slightly under the $59,350 offered by Shearer Company of San Francisco. Century Lighting of San Francisco offered to put in lighting for $51,834. On the seating, American Seating of San Francisco bid $37,092, far below the $47,411 of American Desk Manufacturing Co.

The total of the low bids came to $149,000, including taxes, Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell reported. He said this is about $11,000 below the original bids of last September.

"This is a good sign so far," commented Mitchell, but warned the major part of the bid which will make or break the auditorium will come next week.

FUNDS LIMITED

Construction of the auditorium proper and site improvement was estimated to cost $2,190,500. If next week's bid comes in at this level, then the addition of $149,000 for stage facilities would hold total cost within the $2,350,800 anticipated by the county. Previous overall bids, rejected by supervisors last September, totalled $2,510,800.

Hearing Set On Marijuana

Fairfax police said an early morning search of Levine's residence Nov. 22 netted a quantity of marijuana.

Storer Wants To Open Own Letters

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer yesterday angrily demanded that all letters addressed to him be given to him unopened instead of being "screened by the administrator."

But fellow supervisors insisted that any letter addressed to Storer as chairman of the board of supervisors should be processed by the administrator's office as at present.

"All five board members have equal interest in any letter addressed to the chairman of the supervisors." said Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen. "I have no complaints with Alan Bruce's office on the handling of my mail."

"I just don't want a letter to me screened by the administrator's office," insisted Storer. He said that in some instances, letters addressed to him have never reached him because they were intercepted by the administrator's office.

Administrator Alan Bruce explained that the clerical staff opens most of the mail, using their best judgment on what is official county mail and what is personal. Later, if Bruce spots a letter which seems intended for an individual supervisor, then he removes that letter from the routine stack of official business and delivers it to the individual supervisor concerned.

"Many letters addressed to you as chairman are not meant to be personal to you," said Supervisor John F. McInnis. "Frankly I don't see any reason why such letters should be considered personal mail to you."

"I have no hesitancy in having the administrator's office open letters sent to me as a public officer," said McInnis.

Storer insisted that any letter addressed to him should get to him first, not the the Administrator. Storer siad he would keep his fellow supervisors informed about all correspondence.

"I don't want to leave it to your discretion," snapped Kettenhofen.

"Can we say that I open the letters and copies will be made for each member of the board?" asked Storer.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said he would not mind if a Xerox copy goes to the administrator the moment a letter is opened.

"Copies should be made public," said Kettenhofen.

"OK, then make copies for all board members and for the press," Storer replied.

The discussion ended with two clearcut statements — "I don't trust your decision" by Kettenhofen and "I don't trust yours either" from Storer — but no clearcut policy on mail opening.

Car Thief Gets Gems Fortune

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sacramento police are investigating the reported theft of an estimated quarter of a million dollars worth of diamonds.

Officers said that a Los Angeles jewelry salesman, Edward Harris, reported last night that his car containing about 1,500 diamond rings was stolen.

Harris told officers he parked his car in downtown Sacramento at dinnertime, entered a restaurant for a minute and returned to find his car was missing.

He said the jewels were worth about $200,000 wholesale and were not insured.

Supervisors Reject Teen Home Funding

The Marin Board of Supervisors reluctantly declined yesterday to commit $54,000 in county money to an 18-bed home for troubled teen-age girls which would have been operated in Larkspur by the Marin Foundation, Friends of Arequipa.

The Marin Foundations' directors split 12-10 on whether or not the foundation should take on the project and this, coupled with uncertainty on how much the project might go in the red, lost the approval of the Supervisors, who voted 3-2 for the home. A 4-1 vote was needed.

Chairman Thomas T. Storer and Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and William A. Gnoss voted to finance the home, Supervisors Peter H. Behr and John F. McInnis voted against it.

The foundation already operates a six-bed home in San Rafael and it would have added 18 beds by leasing a new apartment house under construction at 476 Cane Street in Larkspur. The first year's operation would have drawn from $54,182 in available county funds, most of it money which would have been spent on the Family Rehabilitation Center, being closed.

The group home would have cared for teen-aged girls separated from their families due to some crisis. Some of the youngsters would have come from the Juvenile Hall.

The foundation's directors split on the question of whether or not the new project would be financially feasible. The Board of Supervisors supported the idea, but were reluctant to commit county funds which did not have the full backing of the foundation's directors.

Chancellor Hits Peril To Campus

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. John S. Galbraith, chancellor of University of California at San Diego, says multi-campus U.C. "is in the greatest danger in its entire existence."

He told the California Association of School Administrators yesterday that recent disorders have amounted to a "repudiation of the assumptions of a democracy and the principles for which a university must stand.

"Fifty years ago, university presidents were forceful men who made decisions," he said. "These days they've been replaced by the president who is expected to be a friend of the students, a colleague of the faculty."

Market Street Plan Approval Is Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor John F. Shelley has asked the Planning Commission to approve plans for the proposed $35-million transformation of Market Street.

A 'Trip Taker' Found Guilty On Marijuana

A 20-year-old Novato youth, who said he was soaring too high on LSD April 8 to know that a deputy sheriff was advising him of his civil rights, was found guilty of marijuana possession yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Peter Virgil Davis, appearing for hiss court trial in a psychedelically decorated jacket, was found guilty by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner and ordered to appear at noon Jan. 5 for sentencing.

Prandi gave him a small card advising him of his right to an attorney, but Davis testified in court later that he just taken 1,000 milligrams of LSD at noon.

The words looked all "squiggley," he said.

Prandi, in preliminary hearing testimony introduced by transcript at yesterday's trial, said the youth had his face painted with flourescent blue, orange and yellow paint at the time of the arrest.

Prandi said Davis handed a 17-year-old companion the bag of marijuana when Prandi approached. The boy ran, but was captured after a chase up the mountain theater aisles.

James R. White III, attorney for Davis, claimed the deputy did not have sufficient cause to approach the two and search the bag. He conceded that the 17-year-old ran, but said:

"It was obvious to him that there was about to be a restraint of liberty."

Judge Gardiner found there was enough evidence to convict Davis, even without the damaging statement Davis said he made while under LSD.

Black Panther Sues Hospital

OAKLAND (UPI) — A black nationalist leader accused of the fatal shooting of an Oakland policeman in a gun battle, yesterday filed a $100,000 suit against Kaiser Foundation Hospital.

Huey P. Newton, 25, self-styled defense minister of the Black Panthers, went to the hospital following the gun fight for treatment of bullet wound in the abdomen.

His suit charges nurses and doctors at the hospital "mistreated and mishandled" him. He also claimed to have been beaten, taunted and threatened by "police agents" while handcuffed to a hospital cart awaiting surgery.

The world's four largest islands are Greenland, New Guinea, Borneo and Madagascar, says the National Geographic.

SAFE IN MOTHER'S ARMS

A South Vietnamese woman holds her young son close as she is questioned by soldiers of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division in the Que Son Valley, south of Da Nang in South Vietnam. Car Thief Gets Gems Fortune

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sacramento police are investigating the reported theft of an estimated quarter of a million dollars worth of diamonds.

Officers said that a Los Angeles jewelry salesman, Edward Harris, reported last night that his car containing about 1,500 diamond rings was stolen.

Harris told officers he parked his car in downtown Sacramento at dinnertime, entered a restaurant for a minute and returned to find his car was missing.

He said the jewels were worth about $200,000 wholesale and were not insured.

Supervisors Reject Teen Home Funding

The Marin Board of Supervisors reluctantly declined yesterday to commit $54,000 in county money to an 18-bed home for troubled teen-age girls which would have been operated in Larkspur by the Marin Foundation, Friends of Arequipa.

The Marin Foundations' directors split 12-10 on whether or not the foundation should take on the project and this, coupled with uncertainty on how much the project might go in the red, lost the approval of the Supervisors, who voted 3-2 for the home. A 4-1 vote was needed.

Chairman Thomas T. Storer and Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and William A. Gnoss voted to finance the home. Supervisors Peter H. Behr and John F. McInnis voted against it.

The foundation already operates a six-bed home in San Rafael and it would have added 18 beds by leasing a new apartment house under construction at 476 Cane Street in Larkspur. The first year's operation would have drawn from $54,182 in available county funds, most of it money which would have been spent on the Family Rehabilitation Center, being closed.

The group home would have cared for teen-aged girls separated from their families due to some crisis. Some of the youngsters would have come from the Juvenile Hall.

The foundation's directors split on the question of whether or not the new project would be financially feasible. The Board of Supervisors supported the idea, but were reluctant to commit county funds which did not have the full backing of the foundation's directors.

Chancellor Hits Peril To Campus

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. John S. Galbraith, chancellor of University of California at San Diego, says multi-campus U.C. "is in the greatest danger in its entire existence."

He told the California Association of School Administrators yesterday that recent disorders have amounted to a "repudiation of the assumptions of a democracy and the principles for which a university must stand.

"Fifty years ago, university presidents were forceful men who made decisions," he said. "These days they've been replaced by the president who is expected to be a friend of the students, a colleague of the faculty."

Market Street Plan Approval Is Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor John F. Shelley has asked the Planning Commission to approve plans for the proposed $35-million transformation of Market Street.

City Administrative Officer Thomas J. Mellon predicted "Market Street will become one of the world's great boulevards" when the work is completed.

A 'Trip Taker' Found Guilty On Marijuana

A 20-year-old Novato youth, who said he was soaring too high on LSD April 8 to know that a deputy sheriff was advising him of his civil rights, was found guilty of marijuana possession yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Peter Virgil Davis, appearing for hiss court trial in a psychedelically decorated jacket, was found guilty by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner and ordered to appear at noon Jan. 5 for sentencing.

Prandi gave him a small card advising him of his right to an attorney, but Davis testified in court later that he just taken 1,000 milligrams of LSD at noon.

The words looked all "squiggley," he said.

Prandi, in preliminary hearing testimony introduced by transcript at yesterday's trial, said the youth had his face painted with flourescent blue, orange and yellow paint at the time of the arrest.

Prandi said Davis handed a 17-year-old companion the bag of marijuana when Prandi approached. The boy ran, but was captured after a chase up the mountain theater aisles.

James R. White III, attorney for Davis, claimed the deputy did not have sufficient cause to approach the two and search the bag. He conceded that the 17-year-old ran, but said:

"It was obvious to him that there was about to be a restraint of liberty."

Judge Gardiner found there was enough evidence to convict Davis, even without the damaging statement Davis said he made while under LSD.

Black Panther Sues Hospital

OAKLAND (UPI) — A black nationalist leader accused of the fatal shooting of an Oakland policeman in a gun battle, yesterday filed a $100,000 suit against Kaiser Foundation Hospital.

Huey P. Newton, 25, self-styled defense minister of the Black Panthers, went to the hospital following the gun fight for treatment of bullet wound in the abdomen.

His suit charges nurses and doctors at the hospital "mistreated and mishandled" him. He also claimed to have been beaten, taunted and threatened by "police agents" while handcuffed to a hospital cart awaiting surgery.

The world's four largest islands are Greenland, New Guinea, Borneo and Madagascar, says the National Geographic.

Contract Rejected At Dow Chemical

TORRANCE (UPI) — Union membership at the Dow Chemical Co.'s napalm-producing plant here last night rejected a new contract by better than a 2-to-1 vote.

Oren Smith, president of the 90-member International Chemical Workers, AFL-CIO, local 598, said Dow will be asked to sit down once again at the bargaining table.

Rooftop Lighting Plan Is Approved

The Novato City Council moved last night to establish an assessment district to illuminate rooftops along Grant Avenue.

The council voted 5-0 to have the city staff work with the Downtown Merchants Association to prepare an ordinance for the district. After the details of the ordinance have been worked out, the council will then call for a public hearing on establishment of the district.

LIGHTING PLAN

City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. told the council that there was a two-year-old law which would allow the establishment of such a special assessment district. The funds for the district could be added to the business licenses of the city, he said.

B. F. Edwards, association president, has been advocating a lighting plan in which the tops of the buildings along Grant Avenue would have small outdoor electric lights permanently installed at two foot intervals for use on holidays, civic occasion and special downtown sales.

SPRING START

Mayor J. Wayne Womack told Edwards that it would not be possible to get the assessment district completed for the installation of the lights this Christmas. He said it would probably be March or April before the district could be set up.

Edwards said that some of it might be done on a voluntary basis this year. He asked for a rebate from the assessment district for those merchants who install them before the district was organized. The council authorized this to be included in the ordinance.

Edwards had an estimate from B. Canterutti Electric Co. of 1575 Indian Valley Road, Novato, to install more than 5,000 lineal feet of the lights for $17,564. The council said that after the district had been established it would have to call for bids. It could not take just one estimate, according to council members.

MUTUAL POLICY

The council approved a city-county planning agreement, which would establish a council of county and municipal representatives to work on planning matters of mutual interest.

After one hour of closed meeting to consider appointments, the council reconvened in open meeting and made the following appointments: reappointed Mrs. Grant Morse to the parks and recreation commission; Martin C. White of 19 Plaza Demira to replace William J. Keener on the parks and recreation commission, and Herbert S. Gordon of 103 San Carlos Way to replace Ross Dugan on the planning commission. Keener and Dugan did not seek reappointment. The terms are for four years and become effective Jan. 1.

Woman Pleads In Crash Case

Bertha Elizabeth Bedilion, 47, of 855 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon, yesterday pleaded no contest through her attorney to a misdemeanor charge of drunken driving Aug. 30 on Tiburon Boulevard.

Mrs. Bedilion was originally charged with felony drunken driving after her car collided with one driven by Belvedere Policeman Duffy L. Midyett, who was chasing a speeding vehicle.

Tiburon sheriff's deputies said she turned across the road toward her driveway and a collision occurred.

Mrs. Bedilion is to appear in Municipal Court Jan. 5 for sentencing.

Teen To Juvenile Court On Marijuana

Peter Michael Marcovich, 19, of 1959 Las Gallinas, San Rafael, was sent to juvenile court yesterday to face a charge of marijuana possession.

Marcovich allegedly had some marijuana in a matchbox when arrested outside San Rafael High School Nov. 10.

Signal Blamed In Cable Crash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The Runaway cable car crash that injured 43 persons Sunday night has been blamed on a traffic signal light that didn't turn red soon enough to stop cross traffic.

The crash occurred after the cable car's grip failed to take hold of the cable at the top of the Hyde Street hill of Chestnut Street.

The cable, which moves at nine and one-half miles per hour, would have slowed the cable car enough for the signal to work in time, explained J. William Conroy, director of the city's disaster corps — if the grip had held. But it didn't, according to the conductor.

Driver Turns Himself In; Reads Of Search

A driver sought in a two-car collision in San Anselmo early Sunday turned himself in to police yesterday.

Officers said the man, Albert Charles McNamara Jr., 32, of 1105 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, told them he read in the Independent-Journal Monday that police were seeking a second driver in a wreck in which Edward Lee Starr, 29, of 402 Scenic Road, Fairfav was injured.

McNamara said he was traveling east in the 1300 block of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard when the Starr vehicle swerved across the road and side-swiped his vehicle. McNamara said he had trouble halting his damaged vehicle, police said and when stopped, he said he could see no other vehicle.

He concluded the other driver had departed and did so also, he told officers.

Police said Starr, who told them his windshield wipers failed in a rainstorm and caused him to lose vision, did not leave the scene, however. He was later treated at Marin General Hospital for a forehead cut. McNamara was released after questioning, police said, and no citation has been issued pending further investigation.

Driver's Lip Cut In 2-Car Crash

A San Rafael man suffered a cut lip yesterday when his westbound car on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield crashed into the rear of a parked car, pushing it onto the curb.

The California Highway Patrol reported that the cause of the crash, at 2:10 p.m., west of College Avenue, was unknown.

Harold Alfred Highstone, 65, of 18 Bayview Street, San Rafael, went to his own doctor for treatment.

Fireman Is Honored For Rescue On Span

Fireman Charles Radford of Corte Madera was presented with a certificate of commendation for community service by the California Highway Patrol yesterday for his part in the rescue of a man who threatened to leap from the Golden Gate Bridge two months ago.

Radford, of 777 Meadowsweet Drive, was handed the blue and gold scroll by CHP Capt. Ted F. Parnow at a meeting of the San Francisco Fire Commission.

He was driving home across the bridge about 7:30 p.m. Oct. 3 when he noticed stalled traffic in the curb lane, members of the commission were told.

Learning a man had climbed the railing to the superstructure below, the off-duty fireman crawled over the rail, slid down a cable and grabbed Charles Lee Bratton, 32, of San Francisco.

He brought the struggling mechanic up to the bridge sidewalk where he was handed over to a CHP patrolman.

McCarthy's Chances Dim, Pollster Finds

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI)—A Gallup Poll released today indicated 42 per cent of the Americans polled know who Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., is—but that few would vote for him if he wins the Democratic presidential nomination from President Johnson.

McCarthy last week announced he plans to enter the Democratic primaries in Wisconsin, Oregon, California and Nebraska in his bid for the nomination.

The senator's appeal as a "peace" candidate against Johnson was measures by this question:

"Sen. McCarthy says he may enter Democratic primaries as a peace candidate. If he does enter a state primary against President Johnson, whom would you like to see win—McCarthy or Johnson?"

Of the 42 per cent that had heard of McCarthy, 24 per cent favored Johnson, 11 McCarthy and 7 per cent was undecided.

According to the polls, the 42 per cent had "heard or read about" McCarthy, while 58 per cent had not.

Woman To Napa For Observation

An unidentified woman between 25 and 35 years old, who may have been high on something, was taken to Napa State Hospital yesterday for observation, after reportedly disrobing in a bank in Tiburon.

Sheriff's deputies were called to the Sierra National Bank, 55 Main Street, at 2:53 p.m., by a bank employee, who reported that a woman, who called herself the "Manager of Heaven" and then spoke incoherently, was removing her clothes in the lobby.

Lt. William Johansen reported she could not give any information as to her identity and that her clothing included a red coat and dress and black boots.

Capt. Robb Gets License For White House Wedding

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Smiling Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb today picked up marriage license number 8772 legally authorizing him to wed President Johnson's daughter, Lynda Bird, in a White House ceremony Saturday.

Robb, 28, showed up alone at the District of Columbia license bureau in a federal court building and presented a pink application slip. He plunked down his $2 and posed for cameramen who were waiting for his arrival.

Meanwhile, the wedding weather picture was gloomy. The prediction for Saturday called for mostly cloudy, chance of rain, winds of 10 to 15 miles an hour with the temperature in the 40's.

While Robb went through the legal requirements for the marriage, Lynda and her friends were rushing around fulfilling all the traditional rules that surround a wedding.

She will wear something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue—and perhaps a sixpence or a penny in her shoe.

Something old will be a 2-inch heirloom gold pin with seed pearls, called a shawl pin, sewn into the hem of her long white gown. It was given her by Mrs. Frances Hudspeth of Austin, her counselor during her three years at the University of Texas, and dates back to days of the Revolution.

The pin is to be sewn into the gown because jewelry is "not appropriate to the style of the wedding gown," the White House said. This was the first indication of the design of the gown—still a secret—and indicated that it will have a beading around the neckline.

The designer, reported to be Geoffrey Beene of New York, will sew the pin into the dress and will embroider the bride's name and wedding date in the hemline with blue thread. That will be the something blue.

The wedding gown itself will be the something new, and for something borrowed Lynda has been loaned a 59-year-old ivory lace handkerchief made by her great-grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Ament Huffman Baines.

McCarthy's Chances Dim, Pollster Finds

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI)—A Gallup Poll released today indicated 42 per cent of the Americans polled know who Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., is—but that few would vote for him if he wins the Democratic presidential nomination from President Johnson.

McCarthy last week announced he plans to enter the Democratic primaries in Wisconsin, Oregon, California and Nebraska in his bid for the nomination.

The senator's appeal as a "peace" candidate against Johnson was measures by this question:

"Sen. McCarthy says he may enter Democratic primaries as a peace candidate. If he does enter a state primary against President Johnson, whom would you like to see win—McCarthy or Johnson?"

Of the 42 per cent that had heard of McCarthy, 24 per cent favored Johnson, 11 McCarthy and 7 per cent was undecided.

According to the polls, the 42 per cent had "heard or read about" McCarthy, while 58 per cent had not.

Woman To Napa For Observation

An unidentified woman between 25 and 35 years old, who may have been high on something, was taken to Napa State Hospital yesterday for observation, after reportedly disrobing in a bank in Tiburon.

Sheriff's deputies were called to the Sierra National Bank, 55 Main Street, at 2:53 p.m., by a bank employee, who reported that a woman, who called herself the "Manager of Heaven" and then spoke incoherently, was removing her clothes in the lobby.

Lt. William Johansen reported she could not give any information as to her identity and that her clothing included a red coat and dress and black boots.

Capt. Robb Gets License For White House Wedding

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Smiling Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb today picked up marriage license number 8772 legally authorizing him to wed President Johnson's daughter, Lynda Bird, in a White House ceremony Saturday.

Robb, 28, showed up alone at the District of Columbia license bureau in a federal court building and presented a pink application slip. He plunked down his $2 and posed for cameramen who were waiting for his arrival.

Meanwhile, the wedding weather picture was gloomy. The prediction for Saturday called for mostly cloudy, chance of rain, winds of 10 to 15 miles an hour with the temperature in the 40's.

While Robb went through the legal requirements for the marriage, Lynda and her friends were rushing around fulfilling all the traditional rules that surround a wedding.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

'One Man, One Vote' Has Fine Sound, But . . .

The California Legislature, predictably, has labored just about to the deadline to draw up a congressional reapportionment that satisfies most of its members and what their legal advisers regard as U. S. Supreme Court guidelines.

And predictably, few of their constituents whose congressional districts are affected will be satisfied with the result. Certainly, there has been no word of satisfaction in Marin County.

The toils of the Legislature — and their result — are strongly reminiscent of those of the Marin County Board of Supervisors in supervisorial redistricting to satisfy court mandates.

Let's take what happened in Marin County for an example.

As the rest of the county grew in population, the rural Fourth District in Northwest Marin contained an ever-smaller portion of the county's people. After the 1960 census, it had only 1.8 per cent. Yet it had one of five supervisors.

This, said the Marin Superior Court, was all wrong. By court order, the board early in 1964 (just under the deadline) voted a stop-gap redistricting which increased the Fourth District's share of population to 3.9 per cent by adding Stinson Beach, Bolinas, Nicasio, and the San Geronimo Valley — the first two from the Third District, the last two from the Fifth.

This was appealed, but the California Supreme Court allowed it to stand for the 1964 election, ordering a redistricting to meet the "one man, one vote" concept by the next Jan. 15. It was from the Fourth District in this temporary form that Thomas T. Storer was elected supervisor.

To bring Fourth District population near parity with the others, this ripped a corridor through the Second and First Districts, extending clear to the bay at San Quentin, and added it to the fourth.

THIS IS WHAT resulted:

As of now, according to Election Supervisor John H. Musser's figures, 10,281 of the 14,671 voters in the Fourth District live in San Rafael, Larkspur, and Corte Madera. Another 644 live along Highway 101 in what used to be Second District territory. Another 1,283 are in the San Geronimo Valley. The remaining 1,924 live in what used to be the Fourth District and the Bolinas-Stinson part of the third.

There is a community of interest for the towns and territory in the Ross Valley and along Corte Madera Creek — as demonstrated in the Corte Madera Flood Control project. But 2,265 Larkspur residents and 3,452 Corte Madera voters no longer have the same supervisor as their neighbors.

There is certainly a community of interest in the City of San Rafael. But 5,103 San Rafael voters no longer are represented by the same supervisor as their neighbors.

There is precious little community of interest between Tomales and San Quention Point. But the 171 Tomales voters and the 644 San Quentin Peninsula voters share the same supervisor — along with those thousands in San Rafael, Larkspur and Corte Madera.

BEFORE THE REDISTRICTING, the vote of a resident of Fallon counted 10 times as much as that of a resident of San Anselmo, according to the court. For what do the 97 votes in Fallon count today?

The voters of Bolinas and Stinson Beach may have felt orphaned in the Third District (Southern Marin). But for what do their 648 votes count in the present Fourth District?

What one man gained in voting strength here? One of the 5,103 in San Rafael who no longer is represented by his neighbor's supervisor? Scarcely. And certainly not one of the 97 in Fallon.

Will Marin voters who are placed in a congressional district with part of San Francisco gain voting strength by the reapportionment? Hardly. Marin's share of the district will be little more than its share of the old First District — geographical monstrosity though that was.

Will voters in San Francisco's Sixth District gain by having most of Marin, with its different interests, annexed to their district? Hardly.

The framers of the U. S. Constitution appear, in this as in many other matters, to have been wiser than the interpreters of that constitution a century and three-quarters later. They wrote not one word about "one man, one vote."

Polls Get Sillier And Sillier; New 'Confidential' One Example

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — So-called "opinion polls" seem to be getting sillier and sillier as time marches on, with the public being educated to accept these travesties rather than the facts necessary to determine whether something is black, white or in the gray area.

Polls can be conducted on almost any question an individual wants answered, as long as the individual comes up with enough cash to finance the operation. And the experts can so word the question that the individual can get almost any answer he wants.

THE LATEST candidate for the height of absurdity arrived in the mail recently, special delivery, and with a stamped return envelope. It was directed to members of the state Legislature, and the state capitol press by "Opinion Research of California," an organization which makes public opinion and business surveys with offices in Long Beach and Palm Springs.

And accompanying form letter says:

"Opinion Research of California, a firm of which you are undoubtedly aware, has been asked because of its reputation for integrity and impartiality to conduct a survey of the members of the Legislature of the state of California and the press accredited to the state capitol concerning the subject and reaction to the charges made by Drew Pearson and the responses by Gov. Ronald Reagan to those charges."

Follows on the questionnaire four "loaded" questions which are in the nature of the inquiry "Have you stopped beating your wife?"

First legislators and the press are asked if they believe the charges made by Drew Pearson against certain former members of Reagan's staff are true or false. No provision is made for a "don't know" answer, which in the absence of proof can be the only factual reply.

ALTHOUGH AN individual questioned normally wants to know who asks the question, Opinion Research is careful not to divulge the source of its queries.

Of course, in a free county, anyone can ask loaded questions of anyone he choose.

Mill Valley Project Raises Questions

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re the Mill Valley Planning Commission's recommendation to move traffic lanes along Miller Avenue and to relocate the Camino Alto-Blithedale intersection east of Purity and the Mobil station: who pays?

Whether it's gas tax money or 50-50 federal-local funds, it comes from the taxpayer. Wouldn't it make more sense to spend these hundreds of thousands of dollars on badly needed new roads and road repairs?

Extension of Miller Avenue to 101 would itself attract much traffic away from Blithedale. Why chop up existing streets?

City-school negotiations are still under way on the Project 17 area. To relocate Camino Alto would cut a huge swath through the usable solid ground —and there's little enough of that.

How can the city in good faith offer the old trestle site to the school district if they plan to use it for Camino Alto?

Some city officials seem determined to keep the school out of their weed patch so that some day BART can grab it for a giant parking lot.

Taxpayer Revolt Is Long Overdue

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Three cheers for "Today's Editorial," Thursday, Nov. 30, on the subject of "running your schools over the coffee cups"! This is an excellent example of the type of editorial writing that should be the hallmark of the Independent-Journal. The usual procedure is to bury the head even though flagrant use of political and elective offices is a well known fact.

I think it's high time that people get fighting mad about the way elected and appointed officials conduct themselves in all levels of governmental activity and particularly in the area of taxation . . . as well as in something as important as our school system is. It's quite obvious that attempting to elect officials who will abide by the wishes of the majority of the people who are the electorate is not possible in this era of political expediency and compromise. Actual performance when compared to campaign promises bears little or no relationship. The people in the United States and particularly in California and more particularly in Marin County, which are notoriously high tax areas, are rapidly being taxed out of existence and it is very difficult if not impossible for a person to maintain his standard of living because of the continued rise of local, state, and federal taxation.

There is the beginning of a taxpayer revolt — which is long overdue — and recent evidence of this is the violent rejection of the taxpayer of bond issues. Although in the great majority of cases the taxpayers are more than willing to admit to the need they cannot justify a "yes" vote because nowhere is there evidence of action to stem the rising tide of taxation. Another equally insidious area is in the area of our federal Social Security program where taxes on individuals and employers are rising at an almost unbelievable rate. . . .

UNICEF Collection Gathers $5,642

Editor, Independent-Journal:

After the counting machine at Crocker-Citizens Bank digested thousands of pennies and nickels, the final count of the "Trick or Treat" UNICEF collection is in: $5,642.

We were very pleased at the response of so many generous people. Our thanks also to the mothers who gave so generously of their time in handling the UNICEF cartons, the thousands of children who rang the doorbells, and all others who participated in the annual collection.

This money from Marin County will be put with money from the rest of the U.S. and 118 countries to aid in over 100 projects around the world to improve health, nutrition, family and child welfare and disease control.

Student Transfer Called Unrealistic

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There is speculation that the eighth grade students at Miller Creek School will be sent to San Rafael High School in September. This move is strongly opposed by parents and children.

We lived in Terra Linda for four years and recently moved to Mont Marin. The main reason we again purchased a home in the Terra Linda High School District was to allow our children to attend Terra Linda High School. Three of our four sons are enrolled at the high school, and Scott, our youngest son, will graduate from Miller Creek in June. It does not seem fair that he may be denied the privilege of going to the same high school with his brothers.

Why should residents of Santa Venetia and Ignacio (Hamilton Air Force Base) have priority over people living in the immediate area of Terra Linda?

The joint meeting, Wednesday, Nov. 29, of the Dixie School District and the San Rafael Board of Education should have extended an invitation to the parents of the students who will be effected by the unrealistic transfer of students out of their preferred school.

McNamara Departure Does Not Signal Wider War, Says Writer

WASHINGTON — The rubble of the mismanaged news of Robert McNamara's departure as secretary of defense can now be cleared away.

Some are saying that the true explanation of his moving from the Pentagon to the presidency of the World Bank is still not established. I think it is. It emerges from these provable facts:

The initiative was McNamara's. The World Bank wanted McNamara and McNamara, who had been offered all kinds of alluring jobs outside the government, was deeply attracted to the opportunity to work in behalf of developing countries. He wanted the job.

He welcomed it because he had already been defense secretary longer than he planned, because carrying the exacting and exhausting burdens of the Pentagon had taken its physical toll, and because he believed that a fresh person on the job would be a positive gain.

THERE WAS NO "generals' revolt" against McNamara. There were recurring differences of degree between the military leadership and the secretary of defense but they were differences among men who respected each other's ability and integrity, and there was special esteem between Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, and McNamara. There was never any threat by any of the Joint Chiefs to resign in protest against a McNamara decision, and they always had the right of direct appeal to the President — which they exercised only once in the past seven years.

McNamara told the President that he could serve "as long as needed in any capacity needed." Why, then, did Mr. Johnson accede to McNamara's desire to go to the World Bank? And why now?

The President acceded to McNamara's desire because he believes that, when an aide who has served him long, faithfully, and ably has an opportunity he wants and which, if neglected would be lost, he should not stand in the way — whether it be Jack Valenti, Bill Moyers, or Robert McNamara.

THE TIMING was appropriate. The World Bank needed to know now, and if LBJ didn't release McNamara the job would be filled for another five years.

But couldn't the vacuum of affirmative fact about the McNamara transfer, which invited a miasma of rumor, have been avoided?

For two long days the capital and the press across the nation and abroad have been laden with rumor, speculation, and insinuation that McNamara was quitting because he disagreed with the escalation of the bombing, that the President was pushing him out for his own reasons, and that, in any event, it was a signal that limited war in Vietnam was about to become unlimited war.

This cascade of rumor and speculation — factually untrue — was inevitable because of the absence of affirmative fact. Naturally the critics of Mr. Johnson moved to fill this vacuum.

MR. JOHNSON HIMSELF made the choice to play it as he did, namely, to send the nomination to the 20 directors of the bank and say nothing until they had acted — on the ground that it would offend 19 foreign governments for the President to make known his action until they had been notified and until they had approved.

Nearly every decision the President has to make is a close one with strong arguments for and against all options. Undoubtedly his press aides told LBJ that anything as big as the McNamara nomination, known to 20 or more people in Washington and 20 governments, would leak. It did, first in a Brazilian newspaper, then in the financial Times of London — and then the lid was off and the hurricane of speculation, deeply misleading and not easily repaired, was on.

But, however tardily, the facts are now in the clear. The departure of McNamara heralds no change in the conduct of the war and he goes to his new post neither in pique nor in disagreement over Vietnam.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Jackie Kennedy Visit Helped Foe In Vietnam

By PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Communist forces fighting in South Vietnam's central highlands near the Cambodian border received a big assist recently from Jacqueline Kennedy — but apparently without her knowledge.

To ease U. S.-Cambodian tensions during her recent visit, the State Department prevailed upon the South Vietnam government to allow several Soviet bloc ships carrying large quantities of rice, small arms, medicine, and oil to move up the Mekong River to the Cambodian capital of Pnompenh.

The South Vietnamese had blocked the shipments for four weeks prior to Mrs. Kennedy's trip, arguing that the supplies were going to North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces using that "neutral" nation as a privileged sanctuary.

After the supplies reached Pnompenh, according to U. S. intelligence reports, they were sent over various roads to border areas where they were moved into South Vietnam.

ON-THE-SPOT checking by U. S. agents revealed that Chinese merchants in Pnompenh, holding contracts with the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, arranged for Cambodian army vehicles to carry supplies unloaded from the ships to Communist border camps.

During Mrs. Kennedy's visit, a shipment of rocket launchers and large mortars reportedly arrived via a Soviet ship at Sihanoukville, on the Gulf of Siam, and were then transported by truck over a highway built with U. S. aid funds to Pnomenh. From the Cambodian capital, these arms were taken to the South Vietnam border.

FOR SEVERAL MONTHS the South Vietnamese government and U. S. military command in Saigon have been urging Washington to permit the necessary military action to bottle up these supply routes.

Under a "contingency plan" forwarded to the Pentagon by Gen. William Westmoreland, commander of U. S. forces in Vietnam, the Mekong river would be closed to shipments to Cambodia, and the port of Sihanoukville quarantined until Prince Norodom Sihanouk, chief of state, agreed to bar the use of his country to North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops.

The naval quarantine proposal received approval of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in September, but was opposed by Defense Secretary McNamara and Secretary of State Rusk.

After being notified of the President's decision, the South Vietnam government decided to act on its own. Using the excuse that they could not guarantee the safety of the Mekong traffic due to Communist mines, the Saigon regime ordered the river closed to ships going to Cambodia.

Despite vigorous U. S. protests, the blockade stuck until it was lifted during Mrs. Kennedy's visit to Cambodia.

MEANWHILE, North Vietnamese troops infiltrating South Vietnam through Laos have transformed sections of the Ho Chi Minh trail into all-weather routes to keep truck traffic moving during the rainy season.

Reports from U. S. reconnaissance pilots reveal men and supplies are moving on the trail through southeastern Laos despite the monsoon rains which disrupted truck traffic last year for several months.

AN INTERESTING change in Communist strength is occurring in North Vietnam.

During the past five months, the Reds' political cadre strength has more than doubled from 40,000 to 85,000.

While U. S. officials have played up the drop in the enemy's military strength to 242,000, the over-all number of Communist Viet Cong and North Vietnamese activists has actually gone up to 333,000 — an increase of 36,000.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

'One Man, One Vote' Has Fine Sound, But . . .

The California Legislature, predictably, has labored just about to the deadline to draw up a congressional reapportionment that satisfies most of its members and what their legal advisers regard as U. S. Supreme Court guidelines.

And predictably, few of their constituents whose congressional districts are affected will be satisfied with the result. Certainly, there has been no word of satisfaction in Marin County.

The toils of the Legislature — and their result — are strongly reminiscent of those of the Marin County Board of Supervisors in supervisorial redistricting to satisfy court mandates.

Let's take what happened in Marin County for an example.

As the rest of the county grew in population, the rural Fourth District in Northwest Marin contained an ever-smaller portion of the county's people. After the 1960 census, it had only 1.8 per cent. Yet it had one of five supervisors.

This, said the Marin Superior Court, was all wrong. By court order, the board early in 1964 (just under the deadline) voted a stop-gap redistricting which increased the Fourth District's share of population to 3.9 per cent by adding Stinson Beach, Bolinas, Nicasio, and the San Geronimo Valley — the first two from the Third District, the last two from the Fifth.

This was appealed, but the California Supreme Court allowed it to stand for the 1964 election, ordering a redistricting to meet the "one man, one vote" concept by the next Jan. 15. It was from the Fourth District in this temporary form that Thomas T. Storer was elected supervisor.

To bring Fourth District population near parity with the others, this ripped a corridor through the Second and First Districts, extending clear to the bay at San Quentin, and added it to the fourth.

THIS IS WHAT resulted:

As of now, according to Election Supervisor John H. Musser's figures, 10,281 of the 14,671 voters in the Fourth District live in San Rafael, Larkspur, and Corte Madera. Another 644 live along Highway 101 in what used to be Second District territory. Another 1,283 are in the San Geronimo Valley. The remaining 1,924 live in what used to be the Fourth District and the Bolinas-Stinson part of the third.

There is a community of interest for the towns and territory in the Ross Valley and along Corte Madera Creek — as demonstrated in the Corte Madera Flood Control project. But 2,265 Larkspur residents and 3,452 Corte Madera voters no longer have the same supervisor as their neighbors.

There is certainly a community of interest in the City of San Rafael. But 5,103 San Rafael voters no longer are represented by the same supervisor as their neighbors.

There is precious little community of interest between Tomales and San Quention Point. But the 171 Tomales voters and the 644 San Quentin Peninsula voters share the same supervisor — along with those thousands in San Rafael, Larkspur and Corte Madera.

BEFORE THE REDISTRICTING, the vote of a resident of Fallon counted 10 times as much as that of a resident of San Anselmo, according to the court. For what do the 97 votes in Fallon count today?

The voters of Bolinas and Stinson Beach may have felt orphaned in the Third District (Southern Marin). But for what do their 648 votes count in the present Fourth District?

What one man gained in voting strength here? One of the 5,103 in San Rafael who no longer is represented by his neighbor's supervisor? Scarcely. And certainly not one of the 97 in Fallon.

Will Marin voters who are placed in a congressional district with part of San Francisco gain voting strength by the reapportionment? Hardly. Marin's share of the district will be little more than its share of the old First District — geographical monstrosity though that was.

Will voters in San Francisco's Sixth District gain by having most of Marin, with its different interests, annexed to their district? Hardly.

The framers of the U. S. Constitution appear, in this as in many other matters, to have been wiser than the interpreters of that constitution a century and three-quarters later. They wrote not one word about "one man, one vote."

Polls Get Sillier And Sillier; New 'Confidential' One Example

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — So-called "opinion polls" seem to be getting sillier and sillier as time marches on, with the public being educated to accept these travesties rather than the facts necessary to determine whether something is black, white or in the gray area.

Polls can be conducted on almost any question an individual wants answered, as long as the individual comes up with enough cash to finance the operation. And the experts can so word the question that the individual can get almost any answer he wants.

THE LATEST candidate for the height of absurdity arrived in the mail recently, special delivery, and with a stamped return envelope. It was directed to members of the state Legislature, and the state capitol press by "Opinion Research of California," an organization which makes public opinion and business surveys with offices in Long Beach and Palm Springs.

And accompanying form letter says:

"Opinion Research of California, a firm of which you are undoubtedly aware, has been asked because of its reputation for integrity and impartiality to conduct a survey of the members of the Legislature of the state of California and the press accredited to the state capitol concerning the subject and reaction to the charges made by Drew Pearson and the responses by Gov. Ronald Reagan to those charges."

Follows on the questionnaire four "loaded" questions which are in the nature of the inquiry "Have you stopped beating your wife?"

First legislators and the press are asked if they believe the charges made by Drew Pearson against certain former members of Reagan's staff are true or false. No provision is made for a "don't know" answer, which in the absence of proof can be the only factual reply.

ALTHOUGH AN individual questioned normally wants to know who asks the question, Opinion Research is careful not to divulge the source of its queries.

Of course, in a free county, anyone can ask loaded questions of anyone he choose.

Mill Valley Project Raises Questions

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re the Mill Valley Planning Commission's recommendation to move traffic lanes along Miller Avenue and to relocate the Camino Alto-Blithedale intersection east of Purity and the Mobil station: who pays?

Whether it's gas tax money or 50-50 federal-local funds, it comes from the taxpayer. Wouldn't it make more sense to spend these hundreds of thousands of dollars on badly needed new roads and road repairs?

Extension of Miller Avenue to 101 would itself attract much traffic away from Blithedale. Why chop up existing streets?

City-school negotiations are still under way on the Project 17 area. To relocate Camino Alto would cut a huge swath through the usable solid ground —and there's little enough of that.

How can the city in good faith offer the old trestle site to the school district if they plan to use it for Camino Alto?

Some city officials seem determined to keep the school out of their weed patch so that some day BART can grab it for a giant parking lot.

Taxpayer Revolt Is Long Overdue

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Three cheers for "Today's Editorial," Thursday, Nov. 30, on the subject of "running your schools over the coffee cups"! This is an excellent example of the type of editorial writing that should be the hallmark of the Independent-Journal. The usual procedure is to bury the head even though flagrant use of political and elective offices is a well known fact.

I think it's high time that people get fighting mad about the way elected and appointed officials conduct themselves in all levels of governmental activity and particularly in the area of taxation . . . as well as in something as important as our school system is. It's quite obvious that attempting to elect officials who will abide by the wishes of the majority of the people who are the electorate is not possible in this era of political expediency and compromise. Actual performance when compared to campaign promises bears little or no relationship. The people in the United States and particularly in California and more particularly in Marin County, which are notoriously high tax areas, are rapidly being taxed out of existence and it is very difficult if not impossible for a person to maintain his standard of living because of the continued rise of local, state, and federal taxation.

There is the beginning of a taxpayer revolt — which is long overdue — and recent evidence of this is the violent rejection of the taxpayer of bond issues. Although in the great majority of cases the taxpayers are more than willing to admit to the need they cannot justify a "yes" vote because nowhere is there evidence of action to stem the rising tide of taxation. Another equally insidious area is in the area of our federal Social Security program where taxes on individuals and employers are rising at an almost unbelievable rate. . . .

UNICEF Collection Gathers $5,642

Editor, Independent-Journal:

After the counting machine at Crocker-Citizens Bank digested thousands of pennies and nickels, the final count of the "Trick or Treat" UNICEF collection is in: $5,642.

We were very pleased at the response of so many generous people. Our thanks also to the mothers who gave so generously of their time in handling the UNICEF cartons, the thousands of children who rang the doorbells, and all others who participated in the annual collection.

This money from Marin County will be put with money from the rest of the U.S. and 118 countries to aid in over 100 projects around the world to improve health, nutrition, family and child welfare and disease control.

Student Transfer Called Unrealistic

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There is speculation that the eighth grade students at Miller Creek School will be sent to San Rafael High School in September. This move is strongly opposed by parents and children.

We lived in Terra Linda for four years and recently moved to Mont Marin. The main reason we again purchased a home in the Terra Linda High School District was to allow our children to attend Terra Linda High School. Three of our four sons are enrolled at the high school, and Scott, our youngest son, will graduate from Miller Creek in June. It does not seem fair that he may be denied the privilege of going to the same high school with his brothers.

Why should residents of Santa Venetia and Ignacio (Hamilton Air Force Base) have priority over people living in the immediate area of Terra Linda?

The joint meeting, Wednesday, Nov. 29, of the Dixie School District and the San Rafael Board of Education should have extended an invitation to the parents of the students who will be effected by the unrealistic transfer of students out of their preferred school.

TRY AND STOP ME

CHARLIE KISER is urging film star George Raft to publish a collection of the funny stories he has picked up over the years. He wants him to call it "The Japes of Raft." He also would like the present Raft with a puppy — so it can hitch its waggin' to a star.

MR. WALK Walk Deutsch, eminent California industrialist, was so intent upon his thoughts that he bumped head-on into another pedestrian on Wilshire Boulevard. Deutsch turned left; so did the other person. Deutsch veered right; so did she. Then, thoroughly embarrassed by now, Deutsch crashed head-on into her again. At the end of the third round, the lady touched Deutsch's arm tentatively and murmured, "Just once more, dear boy, and then I really MUST go!"

McNamara Departure Does Not Signal Wider War, Says Writer

WASHINGTON — The rubble of the mismanaged news of Robert McNamara's departure as secretary of defense can now be cleared away.

Some are saying that the true explanation of his moving from the Pentagon to the presidency of the World Bank is still not established. I think it is. It emerges from these provable facts:

The initiative was McNamara's. The World Bank wanted McNamara and McNamara, who had been offered all kinds of alluring jobs outside the government, was deeply attracted to the opportunity to work in behalf of developing countries. He wanted the job.

He welcomed it because he had already been defense secretary longer than he planned, because carrying the exacting and exhausting burdens of the Pentagon had taken its physical toll, and because he believed that a fresh person on the job would be a positive gain.

THERE WAS NO "generals' revolt" against McNamara. There were recurring differences of degree between the military leadership and the secretary of defense but they were differences among men who respected each other's ability and integrity, and there was special esteem between Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, and McNamara. There was never any threat by any of the Joint Chiefs to resign in protest against a McNamara decision, and they always had the right of direct appeal to the President — which they exercised only once in the past seven years.

McNamara told the President that he could serve "as long as needed in any capacity needed." Why, then, did Mr. Johnson accede to McNamara's desire to go to the World Bank? And why now?

The President acceded to McNamara's desire because he believes that, when an aide who has served him long, faithfully, and ably has an opportunity he wants and which, if neglected would be lost, he should not stand in the way — whether it be Jack Valenti, Bill Moyers, or Robert McNamara.

THE TIMING was appropriate. The World Bank needed to know now, and if LBJ didn't release McNamara the job would be filled for another five years.

But couldn't the vacuum of affirmative fact about the McNamara transfer, which invited a miasma of rumor, have been avoided?

For two long days the capital and the press across the nation and abroad have been laden with rumor, speculation, and insinuation that McNamara was quitting because he disagreed with the escalation of the bombing, that the President was pushing him out for his own reasons, and that, in any event, it was a signal that limited war in Vietnam was about to become unlimited war.

This cascade of rumor and speculation — factually untrue — was inevitable because of the absence of affirmative fact. Naturally the critics of Mr. Johnson moved to fill this vacuum.

MR. JOHNSON HIMSELF made the choice to play it as he did, namely, to send the nomination to the 20 directors of the bank and say nothing until they had acted — on the ground that it would offend 19 foreign governments for the President to make known his action until they had been notified and until they had approved.

Nearly every decision the President has to make is a close one with strong arguments for and against all options. Undoubtedly his press aides told LBJ that anything as big as the McNamara nomination, known to 20 or more people in Washington and 20 governments, would leak. It did, first in a Brazilian newspaper, then in the financial Times of London — and then the lid was off and the hurricane of speculation, deeply misleading and not easily repaired, was on.

But, however tardily, the facts are now in the clear. The departure of McNamara heralds no change in the conduct of the war and he goes to his new post neither in pique nor in disagreement over Vietnam.

Jackie Kennedy Visit Helped Foe In Vietnam

By PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Communist forces fighting in South Vietnam's central highlands near the Cambodian border received a big assist recently from Jacqueline Kennedy — but apparently without her knowledge.

To ease U. S.-Cambodian tensions during her recent visit, the State Department prevailed upon the South Vietnam government to allow several Soviet bloc ships carrying large quantities of rice, small arms, medicine, and oil to move up the Mekong River to the Cambodian capital of Pnompenh.

The South Vietnamese had blocked the shipments for four weeks prior to Mrs. Kennedy's trip, arguing that the supplies were going to North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces using that "neutral" nation as a privileged sanctuary.

After the supplies reached Pnompenh, according to U. S. intelligence reports, they were sent over various roads to border areas where they were moved into South Vietnam.

ON-THE-SPOT checking by U. S. agents revealed that Chinese merchants in Pnompenh, holding contracts with the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, arranged for Cambodian army vehicles to carry supplies unloaded from the ships to Communist border camps.

During Mrs. Kennedy's visit, a shipment of rocket launchers and large mortars reportedly arrived via a Soviet ship at Sihanoukville, on the Gulf of Siam, and were then transported by truck over a highway built with U. S. aid funds to Pnomenh. From the Cambodian capital, these arms were taken to the South Vietnam border.

FOR SEVERAL MONTHS the South Vietnamese government and U. S. military command in Saigon have been urging Washington to permit the necessary military action to bottle up these supply routes.

Under a "contingency plan" forwarded to the Pentagon by Gen. William Westmoreland, commander of U. S. forces in Vietnam, the Mekong river would be closed to shipments to Cambodia, and the port of Sihanoukville quarantined until Prince Norodom Sihanouk, chief of state, agreed to bar the use of his country to North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops.

The naval quarantine proposal received approval of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in September, but was opposed by Defense Secretary McNamara and Secretary of State Rusk.

After being notified of the President's decision, the South Vietnam government decided to act on its own. Using the excuse that they could not guarantee the safety of the Mekong traffic due to Communist mines, the Saigon regime ordered the river closed to ships going to Cambodia.

Despite vigorous U. S. protests, the blockade stuck until it was lifted during Mrs. Kennedy's visit to Cambodia.

MEANWHILE, North Vietnamese troops infiltrating South Vietnam through Laos have transformed sections of the Ho Chi Minh trail into all-weather routes to keep truck traffic moving during the rainy season.

Reports from U. S. reconnaissance pilots reveal men and supplies are moving on the trail through southeastern Laos despite the monsoon rains which disrupted truck traffic last year for several months.

AN INTERESTING change in Communist strength is occurring in North Vietnam.

During the past five months, the Reds' political cadre strength has more than doubled from 40,000 to 85,000.

While U. S. officials have played up the drop in the enemy's military strength to 242,000, the over-all number of Communist Viet Cong and North Vietnamese activists has actually gone up to 333,000 — an increase of 36,000.

Widening Of Diviso Street Once Projected—Then Sidetracked

Hillhaven property owners are making a pitch to the Tiburon city council for the widening of Diviso Street, and their timing is admirable.

Andrew Johnson of Hillhaven wrote recently to the council that Diviso is a "disgrace to 1967 street concepts," that it is the only access road for 119 families living on Vistazo West, Vistazo East, St. Bernard's Lane, Loma Vista, Diviso and Hill Haven.

A friend who lives in Hillhaven advised me long ago of the neighborhood rule that, if one is driving uphill, one must pull over for a downhill-bound car where the road is too narrow for two cars to pass. It's one of the rules the neighbors have to live with.

Johnson's letter also objected to the proposed extension of another street, Porto Marino Drive, which contains less than 50 homes, he says.

ACCORDING TO City Engineer Ray W. Foreaker the project of widening Diviso Street was scheduled for last year, with two dimensions considered — widening the 12-foot street to either 16 or 22 feet.

Because of the expense involved, decision was made to widen to 16 feet in such a way that a later expansion to 22 feet could be accomplished when funds became available, Foreaker said.

Two things happened then. The Division of Highways told the city engineer that the street had to be widened to 22 feet. And the city learned it had to spend some gas tax money right away or lose it.

Porto Marino Drive was chosen then, because it could be built to state standards, also because the work would solve a drainage problem in that area, according to Foreakers.

There have been some changes in the gas tax law lately, Foreaker said, and it is possible that Tiburon can fund the Diviso Street widening soon.

He said plans and specifications were long since completed.

POLICEMEN HAD a friendly image to second graders in Tiburon School recently when Lt. William Johansen and Deputy Sheriff William G. Donovan paid them a visit and explained their work.

Following their lecture-toûr of the school, officers received a collection of drawings and compositions by the pupils. Some samples have been put on display in the city hall council hall chamber.

Several youngsters drew versions of the patrol car. One was literally brown and white, the Tiburon City colors. But others varied in combinations of pink and purple, straight purple, and black and purple — with multi-colored wheels.

Most of the messages, scrawled in large letters, thanked the officers for letting pupils get in the car.

One said "thank you for showing us your badge." A girl wrote, "I liked when you terned (sic) on the siren."

The most ecstatic message was "thank you for saving your time with us. I love you policemen!"

Hearing On Main Street Plan Set

Tiburon Planning Commission Monday night set a hearing for Jan. 9 on Fred Zelinsky's master plan for a Main Street development.

Zelinsky proposes to build a complex of apartments and commercial buildings near the city offices on Main Street.

A special study session was set for Jan. 3 to discuss the downtown plan, as well as to resume discussion of amendments to the zoninz ordinance.

Approval was granted to Peter Valentine to rezone 16,000 square feet of land in "Blackie's pasture" in Trestle Glen area from agricultural to the new planned development zoning.

The name "McCart Court" was approved for a new city street in a minor subdivision east of Pine Terrace being developed by Paul McCart.

Misplaced GI Real Civilian Once Again

OAKLAND (AP) — Joe A. Smith, the soldier the Army lost in its filing system for 18 months, is a real civilian today and says "it's a great feeling."

"It was quite a sweat, but now it's all over, and everythings all right," said Smith after emerging Tuesday from the base with his separation papers.

"Now I want to find me a job here in the Bay Area."

Smith's adventure began when he went to his home on 30-day leave. The Army sent him a message there telling him to stand by for special orders.

While he waited Smith took a logging job at $130 a week. The Army's monthly allotment check for $92.50 kept coming to his wife, plus an $18.50 U.S. savings bond every three months.

The American Civil Liberties Union took up Smith's cause, contending he had followed the Army's orders precisely.

While the ACLU took the case to court, Smith was assigned to the 6th Army headquarters at the Presidio as a runner and promoted to private first class.

As federal Judge Robert C. Pekham issued a show cause order last Friday for the Army to explain why Smith should not be released, the Army announced he would be discharged.

Smith said he unterstood the Army would make no claim for the allotment payments to his wife.

"In fact, when everything's computed I should have back pay coming," Smith said.

Wallet Stolen

Tracy James Bittner, of 4706 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, reported to sheriff's deputies yesterday that he lost his wallet, containing $60, Sunday, between noon and 5:30 p.m., at the penny arcade on Main Street, Tiburon.

Nutmeg, optional
* Whipped Cream Topping

Combine cake mix with eggs, water, nutmeg and brandy extract in large mixer bowl. Beat 4 minutes. Pour into two greased and floured 9-inch cake pans. Bake in moderate, 350 degree, oven 30-35 minutes. Cool 10 minutes before removing from pans. When cool, cut each layer in half, horizontally, to make four layers.

To prepare filling: Combine mix with dairy eggnog and milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat and stir in extract and glace fruits. Cool completely, stirring occasionally. Spread filling between cake layers and over top layer. Dust top of cake with nutmeg, if desired. Refrigerate cake until ready to serve. Cut into slices and serve with Whipped Cream Topping* for guests to spoon on.

*WHIPPING CREAM TOPPING

1 cup (½ pint) whipping cream
1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar
½ teaspoon brandy or rum extract

Whip cream and sugar and brandy extract until stiff.

Meat Loaf Has Moist Texture

Good Meat Loaf　Potatoes
Broccoli with Lemon Butter
Baked Apples with Hard Sauce

GOOD MEAT LOAF

1 egg
½ cup buttermilk
1 small onion, finely grated (use pulp and juice to make about 2 tablespoons)
¼ cup minced parsley
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 thin slices white bread, crumbed (to measure 1 cup including crusts)
1 pound chuck beef, finely ground

In a medium mixing bowl, beat the egg slightly; add buttermilk and beat to combine. Thoroughly mix in the onion, parsley, salt, Worcestershire sauce and bread, then the beef. Pack into 7 by 4 inch loaf pan (rinsed first with cold water); turn out on a greased 11 by 7 by 2 inch backing pan. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 45 minutes; let stand at least 10 minutes before slicing. Makes 4 hearty servings.

Popcorn Cane For Holidays Has Marshmallows, Candies

The younger set will dub you the swingingest hostess when you surprise them with these gay popcorn peppermint canes. Fluffy popcorn held into cane shapes with melted marshmallows is red and white flecked with pieces of peppermint candy. It may look complicated but is all very simple and quickly accomplished. The popcorn pops in its own foil frypan while the marshmallows melt over hot water. Then, the popped corn, melted marshmallows, and pieces of peppermint candy are quickly combined and shaped into canes. That's all there is to this intriguing hit.

Use these inviting popcorn canes as a centerpiece for the party table and then let each guest have one for dessert. They'll be a great hit from the first look to the last delightful crunchy bite.

POPCORN PEPPERMINT CANES

⅓ cup butter or margarine
1 pkg. pop corn
6 candy canes
2 drops peppermint extract

Put marshmallows and butter in pan and place over hot water to melt marshmallows. Meanwhile, pop corn according to package directions. Place corn in large greased bowl. Break candy canes into tiny pieces. To melted marshmallow add candy pieces and extract. With well greased hands shape into 6 candy canes, 6" x 1".

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Popular Vietnam Mail Call Gets Christmas Cards To Servicemen

DEAR HELEN:

Is there still time to get Christmas cards to servicemen via Vietnam Mail Call, and could you give us the address just once more? —HOPEFUL

DEAR HOPEFUL:

Yes, you may still send Christmas cards to the fellows in Vietnam, by way of Vietnam Mail Call, Box 3104-A, Columbus, Georgia, 31903. Enclose a nickel or a five cent stamp for each card sent, to help with overseas mailing costs. And be sure to include your name and address, with a personal note, if you wish. Cards should be in the mail before Dec. 12.

Mail Call director Paul Stewart tells me cards have been pouring in, sometimes over 1,000 to a box at the rate of about 25,000 a day. He estimates his "Project Christmas" will bring a million cards to servicemen in hospitals, on ships and in the fighting zones. What better way could we Americans say, "We're pulling for you"?

If your group is collecting cards, you may send them parcel post, together with a check for overseas postage. Should you send singly, it's best to put your card and envelope inside a larger envelope addressed to Vietnam Mail Call. Don't forget the nickel.

Again, thanks to everyone who has helped with this project. I always knew my readers were great, but when I hear that several hundred thousand of you have taken time from your busy holidays for overseas Mail Call, well, now I'm doubly sure you're the greatest! H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband thinks every time I go out of the house, I'm going to meet another man. He drives himself crazy imagining things. I have never given him any cause for jealousy.

He checks the mileage on the car. He makes me retrace my steps and then he calls the bank or market to see if I've really been there. If a man says "Hello" to me he takes it as a secret code.

Last month we went to visit my sister and brother-in-law who I hadn't seen since I got married. Naturally my brother-in-law hugged me. Later on their son came in and gave me a kiss. He's 18. I'm 33. On the way home my husband accused me of immoral acts with these two men. We didn't speak for three days.

When I defend myself he calls me a liar, and when I don't he says I'm admitting guilt. I tried a counselor, but we didn't get anywhere since my husband refused to go. His third degrees are making a wreck of me, but he insists it's his duty to keep me in line. Help! — TRUE BUT VERY BLUE

DEAR TBVB:

It's your duty to see this man gets expert counseling. He may consent if you give him a choice: either consult a doctor or you'll break the line completely. Abnormal jealousy is a sickness, and it must be treated. — H.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM FOR CHRISTMAS

San Francisco:—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga.

DEAR HELEN:

Is there still time to get Christmas cards to servicemen via Vietnam Mail Call, and could you give us the address just once more? —HOPEFUL

DEAR HOPEFUL:

Yes, you may still send Christmas cards to the fellows in Vietnam, by way of Vietnam Mail Call, Box 3104-A, Columbus, Georgia, 31903. Enclose a nickel or a five cent stamp for each card sent, to help with overseas mailing costs. And be sure to include your name and address, with a personal note, if you wish. Cards should be in the mail before Dec. 12.

Mail Call director Paul Stewart tells me cards have been pouring in, sometimes over 1,000 to a box at the rate of about 25,000 a day. He estimates his "Project Christmas" will bring a million cards to servicemen in hospitals, on ships and in the fighting zones. What better way could we Americans say, "We're pulling for you"?

If your group is collecting cards, you may send them parcel post, together with a check for overseas postage. Should you send singly, it's best to put your card and envelope inside a larger envelope addressed to Vietnam Mail Call. Don't forget the nickel.

Again, thanks to everyone who has helped with this project. I always knew my readers were great, but when I hear that several hundred thousand of you have taken time from your busy holidays for overseas Mail Call, well, now I'm doubly sure you're the greatest! H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband thinks every time I go out of the house, I'm going to meet another man. He drives himself crazy imagining things. I have never given him any cause for jealousy.

He checks the mileage on the car. He makes me retrace my steps and then he calls the bank or market to see if I've really been there. If a man says "Hello" to me he takes it as a secret code.

Last month we went to visit my sister and brother-in-law who I hadn't seen since I got married. Naturally my brother-in-law hugged me. Later on their son came in and gave me a kiss. He's 18. I'm 33. On the way home my husband accused me of immoral acts with these two men. We didn't speak for three days.

When I defend myself he calls me a liar, and when I don't he says I'm admitting guilt. I tried a counselor, but we didn't get anywhere since my husband refused to go. His third degrees are making a wreck of me, but he insists it's his duty to keep me in line. Help! — TRUE BUT VERY BLUE

DEAR TBVB:

It's your duty to see this man gets expert counseling. He may consent if you give him a choice: either consult a doctor or you'll break the line completely. Abnormal jealousy is a sickness, and it must be treated. — H.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM FOR CHRISTMAS

San Francisco:—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga.

ART REVIEW

By LAURA DEVENDORF

An exhibit of medieval English and early African art may seem an unlikely combination but at the new College of Marin gallery, it's a highly complimentary one.

The large black and white brass rubbings from the Kent B. Diehl collection and the Benin tribal bronzes collected by Harold K. Stager, share a common mysticism and a stylized expression of distant cultures that is fascinating.

FAMILIAR LOOK

If both sections have a familiar look it's because a few heraldic rubbings have been grossly popularized in prints while renewed interest in handmade metal jewelry and masks make these seem hardly foreign. But the items in this show are not commercilizations. They are authentic and that's their special interest.

BRASS RUBBINGS

The brass rubbings, often larger than life, were made directly from brass plates which have rested inbedded in marble for centuries in churches throughout England.

According to Diehl, making the rubbing, is often a muscle-aching, time-consuming job and when an organ is rehearsing just feet away, even a deafening one. But to the collector of monumental brasses it is worth it considering the result.

Their interest is two-fold, historic and artistic. To the brass engraver fell the job of commemorating persons from all walks, often with exquisite attention to detail in dress or symbolism.

In the former case, there is the intricate medieval mail armour of Sir Robert de Bures circa 1302 and in the latter, there is the rather macabre practice demonstrated in "Shroud Brass of Female, circa 1430," the idea being to show the emaciated corpse of someone living to remind them that they were mortal.

All together, they fill the gallery like huge ink-drawn illustrations of medieval folklore, exuding a remote, esoteric quality not unlike the feeling lent by the Benin bronzes.

Collected by Stager from the Nigerian natives themselves and from Arab tradesmen, the small metal sculptures show both the diversity and skill for which Benin bronze workers are noted.

Massive arm and ankle bracelets, bands with bells, rings like stylized chameleons — solid-looking heads, puff-cheeked and smiling, masks that are like them and more that seem purely African — delicate figures of a horse and rider — together, reflect all phases of native life.

As with the rubbings, many relate to fashion or religion but the most telling is a group of slaves. There's a raw magnetism about them, something basic and human and current that most plainly shows the Benin skill as art.

ART REVIEW

By LAURA DEVENDORF

An exhibit of medieval English and early African art may seem an unlikely combination but at the new College of Marin gallery, it's a highly complimentary one.

The large black and white brass rubbings from the Kent B. Diehl collection and the Benin tribal bronzes collected by Harold K. Stager, share a common mysticism and a stylized expression of distant cultures that is fascinating.

FAMILIAR LOOK

If both sections have a familiar look it's because a few heraldic rubbings have been grossly popularized in prints while renewed interest in handmade metal jewelry and masks make these seem hardly foreign. But the items in this show are not commercilizations. They are authentic and that's their special interest.

BRASS RUBBINGS

The brass rubbings, often larger than life, were made directly from brass plates which have rested inbedded in marble for centuries in churches throughout England.

According to Diehl, making the rubbing, is often a muscle-aching, time-consuming job and when an organ is rehearsing just feet away, even a deafening one. But to the collector of monumental brasses it is worth it considering the result.

Their interest is two-fold, historic and artistic. To the brass engraver fell the job of commemorating persons from all walks, often with exquisite attention to detail in dress or symbolism.

In the former case, there is the intricate medieval mail armour of Sir Robert de Bures circa 1302 and in the latter, there is the rather macabre practice demonstrated in "Shroud Brass of Female, circa 1430," the idea being to show the emaciated corpse of someone living to remind them that they were mortal.

All together, they fill the gallery like huge ink-drawn illustrations of medieval folklore, exuding a remote, esoteric quality not unlike the feeling lent by the Benin bronzes.

Collected by Stager from the Nigerian natives themselves and from Arab tradesmen, the small metal sculptures show both the diversity and skill for which Benin bronze workers are noted.

Massive arm and ankle bracelets, bands with bells, rings like stylized chameleons — solid-looking heads, puff-cheeked and smiling, masks that are like them and more that seem purely African — delicate figures of a horse and rider — together, reflect all phases of native life.

MOST TELLING

As with the rubbings, many relate to fashion or religion but the most telling is a group of slaves. There's a raw magnetism about them, something basic and human and current that most plainly shows the Benin skill as art.

Merger Of Larkspur's Library Viewed Again

Possible merger of Larkspur's city library with the county library branches of Corte Madera and Greenbrae was discussed at the regular meeting yesterday of the Larkspur library board.

Mrs. Frederic L. Brenlin, chairman, said Larkspur's city manager Kent B. Bathurst was present and said he will prepare a tentative proposal of a "joint powers" system of merger and present it in the near future to the board of supervisors.

The proposal, she said, would probably set up a board of directors with representatives from the county, Corte Madera, and Larkspur.

Explaining the need for change for Larkspur, she said, "We feel that in the Ross Valley area there should be adequate service, and we would like to enlarge, but we feel it is rather presumptous to ask Larkspur to enlarge."

She said her board is trying to enlarge on a economical basis "to provide the best service for the least money." Because some of Corte Madera's residents have not been favorable to a Larkspur and Corte Madera city library proposal, she said, the alternative is being investigated. The board of supervisors has suggested that Bathurst submit the proposal for their consideration, she said.

Tiburon Meeting To Explore Use Of Railroad Land

A meeting sponsored by the City of Tiburon will be held tonight, on potential uses of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way when abandoned.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the city hall, according to City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose.

Rose said the meeting was prompted by calls from residents for information on ownership of the right-of-way, possible uses of the land and methods of financing those uses.

Some ideas proposed in the past include hiking and biking trails, transportation for school children or a small railroad to transport commuters and visitors.

Available information will be presented by Rose and other city staff members to representatives of property owner associations and the general public at the meeting.

Sewer Board Votes Lots' Annexation

Annexation of the McQuistin property, two lots at the end of the Mar East Street extension, was approved Monday night by directors of the Tiburon Sanitary District.

The property is owned by Mrs. Frances H. McQuistin of Scarsdale, New York.

Secretary Edward P. Ward said the annexation will next have to be approved by the Local Agency Formation Commission.

In a continuing controversy with the City of Belvedere over the sharing of recent sanitary district improvements, the board decided to bill the city on the basis of 26.6 per cent of the cost. The board had previously discussed charging the city 35 per cent for its share of the improvements and the city held out for 25 per cent.

Supt.-Mgr. John McFarlane called the Brown and Caldwell sewage report to the county as "an excellent study in depth and detail."

In contrast to the findings of the Richardson Bay Sanitary District, which were critical of the report, McFarlane found that "the few minor discrepancies would not tend to distort the report."

Amateur Netters To Risk Suspensions?

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Kramer, once the czar of pro tennis, predicted today that the world's leading amateur players will defy their national organizations and back Wimbledon to the hilt in its move for an open tournament.

"I am positive that men such as Arthur Ashe, Charlie Pasarell and Cliff Richey, who form the guts of our Davis Cup team, and Billie Jean King, the queen of women's tennis, would risk suspension and play in an open tournament at Wimbledon," Kramer added.

"That's not all. I think you'll find the same sort of uprising in Australia, France, Italy and other countries where big time tennis is played.

"All the players I've spoken with have the greatest admiration for the Wimbledon plan to hold an open tournament. They are ready to give full support."

British Lawn Tennis Association authorities, who conduct the biggest tournament of them all, announced earlier this year that they would throw the 1968 Wimbledon event open to amateurs and pros—in defiance of the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

This week British tennis spokesmen began to show hesitancy about their bold venture because of lack of support from the big tennis-playing nations, such as the United States and Australia.

The American and Australian bodies indicated that they would be forced to suspend any amateur player who competed in an open at Wimbledon.

The British meet Dec. 14 to make a final decision.

"I know the pros are ready to support Wimbledon 100 per cent," Kramer said. "The British can expect the same support from the amateurs—that is, the top amateurs.

"These amateurs know that there is big money now awaiting the tennis game—just as there is in golf. They are anxious to sit down and talk about it.

"If the players rebel, as I honestly expect them to do, the ruling associations will be left high and dry. They will be forced to come around and follow the open trend.

Throughout his career, he has expressed distaste for what he calls the "shamateurism" in the game.

"I was a paid amateur—well paid," he said. "Open tennis is the only way we can regain our honesty."

RUMORS CIRCULATE ON WOLMAN SALE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A report circulated today that Jerry Wolman, financially-plagued owner of the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles, had sold the $10 million sports arena he had built for ice hockey and basketball.

However, a source close to Wolman said "there was no truth to the rumor" that the Spectrum had been sold to one or more officials of the Matthew McCloskey Construction Co., which built the arena.

The Spectrum, which opened this fall, is encumbered by three mortgages totalling $8,660,000. The McCloskey firm has a third mortgage of $1,160,000.

Golf Course Or Giant Christmas Present?

Last week Marin's newest golf facility completed a month-long job of installing a $28,500, black-topped electric cart path.

"To the best of my knowledge," said head golf pro Tom McHugh, "we are now the only public course in Northern California with 100 per cent cart paths. Which means that now we can use carts 365 days a year."

TOM McHUGH

The W. K. McLellan Co. of San Anselmo completed the project last Tuesday, just one day before the season's first heavy rainstorm. "We were doing our anti-rain dance out here for almost a month," McHugh laughed, "and, by golly, it worked."

In a tour of the five-foot wide black ribbon that winds through the picturesque valley course, I noticed the paths were located almost entirely to the right of the fairways.

"Now, our main objective," said the pro," is to educate the golfers that they must keep their carts on the path at all times."

Gift For The Baseball Fan

GREAT GIFT — If you're shopping around for an ideal Christmas gift for the baseball fan in your family, Paul Hartman of the GTS Travel Bureau in San Rafael has just the ticket.

In fact, he has 92 tickets.

Hartman is putting together an eight-day package tour to the Giants' spring training camp in Phoenix next March.

It will be called the "Marin County Giants Boosters Club" and travel, hotel, ballgame reservations already have been set up for 92 persons.

The group will be treated to Giants games — against the Angels, Indians, Dodgers, Cubs and Mets — tours, a visit to the dog races and parties where Giant players and team vice-president Charles "Chub" Feeney will mingle with the fans.

One More Marinite With Yanks

BRONX BOC — The sale of San Anselman John Boccabella by the Chicago Cubs to the New York Yankees last week gives Marin County four residents who will have played for the Big City pin-stripers.

Preceding Johnny Boc as Yankee alumni are Charles "Buster" Wensloff of Mill Valley, Joe DeMaestri of Novato and Art Schallock of San Rafael. DeMaestri, an infielder, and Wensloff and Schallock, pitchers, all earned World Series pay, but Boccabella may not experience that thrill, judging by the recent misfortunes of the once-proud Yankees.

Warriors Have Easy Time; Gain Ground On St. Louis

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors have pulled within half a game of the first-place St. Louis Hawks.

The Warriors, 20-8 in the Western Division, forged ahead by as much as 27 points in the second quarter and led 72-48 at the half.

Seattle came back with nine straight points, but control of the defensive boards by Nate Thurmond and Clyde Lee made the difference.

Jeff Mullins was high Warrior with 29 points, matched by Walt Hazzard's 29 for the Sonics.

The Warriors next play the last-place San Diego Rockets, Friday night in Oakland. In their last meeting, Saturday night, the Rockets romped to a 127-103 upset of the Warriors.

Basketball Fans Need Legal Books

OAKLAND (UPI) — Before long sports fans are going to need a law book to keep up with the running legal fight between the National Basketball Association San Francisco Warriors and the American Basketball Association Oakland Oaks.

The Oaks, burned in their first legal encounter with the established Warriors and hanging fire on a second suit, fought back yesterday by filing a $1 million counter-suit accusing the Warriors of "unfair competitive acts."

The charges were not spelled out but the suit claimed the Warriors attempted "to prevent the Oaks from playing professional basketball in Oakland for the 1967-68 season and thereafter."

The suit was filed in Los Angeles by Oaks legal counsel William Eilers against the Warriors, the Lemat Corp., the name under which the Warrior ownership is identified, and Franklin Mieuli, principal owner of the San Francisco team.

Mieuli declined comment on the Oaks' action, but said he is pressing forward with a $4.5 million damage suit against the Oaks, which was filed in Los Angeles a few days after a superior court judge ruled "jumper" Rick Barry was still the property of the Warriors.

Barry had signed a three-year contract with the Oaks and their principal owner—singer Pat Boone—but the San Francisco judge ruled the NBA's reserve or option clause was legal, and therefore enjoined Barry from playing for anyone but the Warriors this season. Barry chose to sit it out.

Mieuli's suit charges Boone and the Oaks with inducing Barry to breach a valid contract with the Warriors.

"The Warriors acted to injure the patronage and financial picture of Oakland and to prevent Oakland from acquiring basketball players, all to the end result of continuing the monopoly of the Warriors over major league professional basketball exhibitions in the bay area. . . ."

Both the Warriors and the Oaks play parts of their home season schedule at the Oakland Coliseum arena but neither club has been successful in drawing crowds to the Oakland games this season.

Hartman is putting together an eight-day package tour to the Giants' spring training camp in Phoenix next March.

It will be called the "Marin County Giants Boosters Club" and travel, hotel, ballgame reservations already have been set up for 92 persons.

The group will be treated to Giants games — against the Angels, Indians, Dodgers, Cubs and Mets — tours, a visit to the dog races and parties where Giant players and team vice-president Charles "Chub" Feeney will mingle with the fans.

One More Marinite With Yanks

BRONX BOC — The sale of San Anselman John Boccabella by the Chicago Cubs to the New York Yankees last week gives Marin County four residents who will have played for the Big City pin-stripers.

Preceding Johnny Boc as Yankee alumni are Charles "Buster" Wensloff of Mill Valley, Joe DeMaestri of Novato and Art Schallock of San Rafael. DeMaestri, an infielder, and Wensloff and Schallock, pitchers, all earned World Series pay, but Boccabella may not experience that thrill, judging by the recent misfortunes of the once-proud Yankees.

Warriors Have Easy Time; Gain Ground On St. Louis

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors have pulled within half a game of the first-place St. Louis Hawks.

The Warriors, 20-8 in the Western Division, forged ahead by as much as 27 points in the second quarter and led 72-48 at the half.

Seattle came back with nine straight points, but control of the defensive boards by Nate Thurmond and Clyde Lee made the difference.

Jeff Mullins was high Warrior with 29 points, matched by Walt Hazzard's 29 for the Sonics.

The Warriors next play the last-place San Diego Rockets, Friday night in Oakland. In their last meeting, Saturday night, the Rockets romped to a 127-103 upset of the Warriors.

Basketball Fans Need Legal Books

OAKLAND (UPI) — Before long sports fans are going to need a law book to keep up with the running legal fight between the National Basketball Association San Francisco Warriors and the American Basketball Association Oakland Oaks.

The Oaks, burned in their first legal encounter with the established Warriors and hanging fire on a second suit, fought back yesterday by filing a $1 million counter-suit accusing the Warriors of "unfair competitive acts."

The charges were not spelled out but the suit claimed the Warriors attempted "to prevent the Oaks from playing professional basketball in Oakland for the 1967-68 season and thereafter."

The suit was filed in Los Angeles by Oaks legal counsel William Eilers against the Warriors, the Lemat Corp., the name under which the Warrior ownership is identified, and Franklin Mieuli, principal owner of the San Francisco team.

Mieuli declined comment on the Oaks' action, but said he is pressing forward with a $4.5 million damage suit against the Oaks, which was filed in Los Angeles a few days after a superior court judge ruled "jumper" Rick Barry was still the property of the Warriors.

Barry had signed a three-year contract with the Oaks and their principal owner—singer Pat Boone—but the San Francisco judge ruled the NBA's reserve or option clause was legal, and therefore enjoined Barry from playing for anyone but the Warriors this season. Barry chose to sit it out.

Mieuli's suit charges Boone and the Oaks with inducing Barry to breach a valid contract with the Warriors.

"The Warriors acted to injure the patronage and financial picture of Oakland and to prevent Oakland from acquiring basketball players, all to the end result of continuing the monopoly of the Warriors over major league professional basketball exhibitions in the bay area. . . ."

Both the Warriors and the Oaks play parts of their home season schedule at the Oakland Coliseum arena but neither club has been successful in drawing crowds to the Oakland games this season.

49ers To Showcase Mira For A Trade?

In his starting debut a couple of weeks ago, Spurrier was up against the undefeated Baltimore Colts who harassed the rookie with their unorthodix defense. Spurrier threw three interceptions.

Nevertheless, Christiansen stayed with Spurrier as his quarterback starter against the Chicago Bears, whose defense is just as unpredictable as Baltimore's. But when Spurrier threw an interception early in the second quarter of the Bear game, Christiansen yanked the rookie and sent John Brodie back to duty.

AS SOON as Brodie entered the game, heavy rain began to fall. And those 49er fans who are not among Brodie's admirers began to chant: "We want Mira."

George Mira has been out of action since the first game of the season. Mira's left knee was severely twisted in Minneapolis. It still pains him but Mira says it is sound enough for duty again.

Mira, removed from the injured list and placed on the active roster 48 hours before the Bear game, didn't get into action against Chicago. But Christiansen plans to start Mira next Sunday in Atlanta against the Falcons.

WHEN HE started experimenting with Spurrier and a few other rookies, Christiansen declared that new faces in the 49er lineup during remaining games of dismal 1967 season probably would be next season's starting personnel.

It would have been a most delightful surprise if Spurrier's performance at quarterback matched Nunley's at linebacking. But it didn't. So now Christiansen is going to go with Mira at quarterback next Sunday.

IF MIRA were under contract to the 49ers this would make sense. But Mira is playing out his option. He would sign a 49er contract in a minute if he were assured that he wouldn't have to sit on the bench for another season.

Maybe the 49ers are putting Mira in a showcase next Sunday for a trade prior to expiration of his option next May 1.

Bradley Mystique Gets Early Start

NEW YORK (AP) — Can the Bill Bradley mystique be affecting the New York Knickerbockers already?

"I'm available to play basketball," the former Princeton All-America said yesterday at a news conference when he announced his six-month tour of duty with the Air Force was over.

But he wasn't in uniform last night when the Knicks took the court at Madison Square Garden. However, he was in the stands.

EXCELLENT

"Excellent," Bradley said after watching the game.

And excellent was just what the Knicks were in drubbing the Baltimore Bullets 148-117.

"I think Bradley coming in today had something to do with it," said forward Dick Van Arsdale. "At least for me it meant something."

Willis Reed thought the Knicks' top effort simply was the result of good play. But then the big center added:

But it is Bradley's appearance on the court that the Knicks want and need.

The National Basketball Association club signed Bradley to a four-year, $500,000 contract last spring after he had spent two years in England as a Rhodes Scholar.

"I was beginning to have a little trouble sleeping at night in my eagerness to get going," said Bradley, who had not been expected to end his sixth-month service tour until Jan. 6.

But Bradley said that when he arrived at McGuire AFB Monday to continue his tour, he was notified of a regulation that permitted him to get out early because he had completed his training. He still must attend Reserve meetings one weekend each month for the next 5½ years.

"I'll be ready to play when Mr. Donovan (General Manager Ed Donovan) and Mr. McGuire (Coach Dick McGuire) think I should. I think it will be on a day-to-day basis."

McGuire, whose team has a 12-14 record and is fourth in the Eastern Division, said Bradley would not accompany the team to Boston for its game with the Celtics tonight but that he would work out with the club tomorrow.

As to whether Bradley would be ready for Saturday night's game here against Detroit, McGuire said, "We'll play it from day to day. There's no way of knowing."

Once Bradley does suit up, the Knicks can carry him as a 13th man for 30 days. After this period, the roster must be trimmed back to 12 players.

Bradley Mystique Gets Early Start

"I'm available to play basketball," the former Princeton All-America said yesterday at a news conference when he announced his six-month tour of duty with the Air Force was over.

But he wasn't in uniform last night when the Knicks took the court at Madison Square Garden. However, he was in the stands.

EXCELLENT

"Excellent," Bradley said after watching the game.

And excellent was just what the Knicks were in drubbing the Baltimore Bullets 148-117.

"I think Bradley coming in today had something to do with it," said forward Dick Van Arsdale. "At least for me it meant something."

Willis Reed thought the Knicks' top effort simply was the result of good play. But then the big center added:

But it is Bradley's appearance on the court that the Knicks want and need.

The National Basketball Association club signed Bradley to a four-year, $500,000 contract last spring after he had spent two years in England as a Rhodes Scholar.

"I was beginning to have a little trouble sleeping at night in my eagerness to get going," said Bradley, who had not been expected to end his sixth-month service tour until Jan. 6.

But Bradley said that when he arrived at McGuire AFB Monday to continue his tour, he was notified of a regulation that permitted him to get out early because he had completed his training. He still must attend Reserve meetings one weekend each month for the next 5½ years.

"I'll be ready to play when Mr. Donovan (General Manager Ed Donovan) and Mr. McGuire (Coach Dick McGuire) think I should. I think it will be on a day-to-day basis."

McGuire, whose team has a 12-14 record and is fourth in the Eastern Division, said Bradley would not accompany the team to Boston for its game with the Celtics tonight but that he would work out with the club tomorrow.

As to whether Bradley would be ready for Saturday night's game here against Detroit, McGuire said, "We'll play it from day to day. There's no way of knowing."

Once Bradley does suit up, the Knicks can carry him as a 13th man for 30 days. After this period, the roster must be trimmed back to 12 players.

Rules Of The Road And Right Of Way

By STAN DAVIES

The steeringa nd sailing rules, popularly called "Rules of the Road," which apply in all inland U.S. waters, Great Lakes and international waters, require a power-driven boat to keep out of the way of a sailboat.

Thus, the sailboat is said to have the right of way.

Now consider two sailing vessels approaching each other so as to involve the risk of collision. Rules of the Road outline the circumstances under which one must keep out of the way of the other.

But which is which?

These lessons, although pitched generally to the less experienced motorboater, provide the sailboat rules, so that a power-boat skipper who sees two sailboats approaching will know what to expect of each in order to stay out of the way of both, as the law demands.

RULES OF THE ROAD SAY:

1. A sailboat which is running free, or before the wind, must keep out of the way of a sailboat which is close-hauled (pointing as nearly against the wind as she can go).

2. The sailboat which is close-hauled on the port tack must keep out of the way of a sailboat which is close-hauled on the starboard tack.

3. When both sailboats are running free with the wind on the same side, the sailboat which has the wind on the portside must keep out of the way of the other.

4. When both sailboats are running free with the wind on the same side, the sailboat which is to windward must keep out of the way of the sailboat which is to leeward, that is, the boat which is downwind has the right of way.

5. The sailboat which has the wind aft, coming over the stern, must keep out of the way of others.

The boat which has the right of way is called the privileged vessel, and the one which must stay out of the way is called the burdened vessel. Today's illustrations demonstrate the five possible sets of circumstances.

A few definitions of the expressions used will make this a little clearer to power boaters who are not familiar with sailing terminology.

RUNNING FREE: Sailing with the wind; with the wind coming from behind the boat.

CLOSE-HAULED: Sailing against the wind; with the wind coming from ahead. Most boaters know that a sailboat will travel directly into the wind, but will make good speed in a direction that is only 10 to 12 degrees off the direction from which the wind is coming.

WINDWARD: Direction from which the wind is coming.

LEEWARD: Direction in which the wind is going.

TACK: A zig-zag course taken by a sailboat to travel in the direction from which the wind is coming.

The sailboat rules may be waived if the sailboats are racing in a contest conducted by a yacht club or other association. Racing rules established by the organization may be substituted during the period of the races.

A sailboat which is also under power is considered a motorboat under the rules and, consequently, is obliged to stay clear of other sailboats.

THE RULES governing sailing craft have changed very little since they were laid down a century or more ago with the advent of steamships. But a very significant change in International Rules came into effect on Sept. 1, 1965. It takes away some of the age-old privilege of sailing craft. It forbids a sailing craft to hamper, in a narrow channel, the safe passage of a power-driven vessel which can navigate only inside such channel.

But remember, this rule has not been changed for inland water. Inland (and Great Lakes) Rules still require the power-driven vessel to keep out of the way of a sailboat.

SO SAILBOATERS who operate on coastal waters should find out exactly where Inland Rules apply and where International Rules apply. The demarcation is usually an arbitrary line drawn by the coast guard and doesn't follow the three-mile limit or any other pattern.

Once a sailboat crosses the line from Inland to International Rules, it loses some of its privilege.

Beban's Jersey Retired; First Bruin So Honored

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gary Beban, winner of the Heisman Trophy, has been named UCLA's Most Valuable Player for the 1967 football season.

At the same time, Beban's No. 16 jersey was retired—the first time in the school's history a player has been so honored.

Beban led the Bruins to a 7-2-1 record this season and a mark of 23-4-2 in three years.

The announcement that Beban's jersey would be retired was made by Franklin D. Murphy, UCLA chancellor. He said the decision was made by Coach Tommy Prothro and athletic director J. D. Morgan.

South Marin Basketball League Play Under Way

An organized basketball league for Marin City, Mill Valley and Sausalito, has begun operation.

Charles Story, director of the Marin City Community Services District, announced that 10 teams representing various churches and private organizations are entered in two categories — juniors 12 through 14 years of age and intermediates 15 through 17.

Games will be played each Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Richardson Bay School gymnasium. The league season runs through March 2, and a post-season tournament will be held through March 9 to determine trophy winners.

Story said residents and law enforcement officials have agreed to help as scorers and officials although there is a need for coaches and extra officials. He said volunteers or those who have teams to enter should contact him through tha Boys Club of Southern Marin.

Teams include St. Andrew's Church, Christ Church, Village Baptist, Star of the Sea, Peace Lutheran, Benjamin's Boys, and Mothers Guild Boys.

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

We're referring to the "hot stove" season to hash and rehash the disastrous 1967 deer hunting season. At last reports, the deer kill was down 40 per cent from the same time a year ago.

The "hot stove" season is highly recommened for those who find a slack period during the winter months. Weapons can be letters, telegrams, speeches, telephone calls or word of mouth whisper campaigns. There are no limits and legal shooting time is 24 hours a day.

GOOD SPORT

We think it's a good sport, although we often find some of the most enthusiastic practitioners use some very narrow guidelines. These are the critics who are most positive and see strictly in black and white. To them, the big drop in the deer kill can be blamed on any one cause — usually the state Department of Fish and Game.

Unfettered by any rules of accuracy or requirements that they consider the whole picture rather than certain isolated examples, they have a field day. Some of them have been forecasting such a season for 15 years and, now that it finally arrived, will have a busy winter spreading the word.

No doubt, we will be conducting some "hot stove" sessions in this pillar, from time to time. But we should warn any and all that we will find little sympathy for the quick, easy and single explanation.

REPORT CARDS

1. A new system, which permitted hunters for the first time to validate their own deer tags. No doubt, some successful hunters have been slow in returning the report cards and others probably didn't bother.

2. Hunting pressure was down by an unknown amount. Deer tag sales were running well below a year ago, although it will be some time before final figures are available.

Reports from some areas were that the hunters dropped considerably. In a recent non-hunting trip to eastern Fresno county, a utility official reported that one check point that had 7,000 hunters through it a year ago had only 4,000 this year.

3. The weather no doubt played a big part. The best water year in 30 years provided abundant feed at the higher levels, scattering the deer. The absence of any storms permitted the deer to stay at the higher elevations much later than usual.

4. In a good deal of Northern California, the season closed two weeks earlier than a year ago. This combined with the non-migration type weather made the deer much less accessible.

LO WPRODUCTION

As forecast by tha Department of Fish and Game before the season opened, fawn production had been poor in some areas the previous year and a lower kill was expected.

At this point, we're not assessing any of the blame to the later season of 1966 or to the fact that antlerless hunts had been held in some areas. We would note that in two of the counties with the sharpest drop in the kill — Modoc, down 44 per cent and Lassen, down 58 per cent — they have been on a three-week season for four years, with only three-point bucks legal.

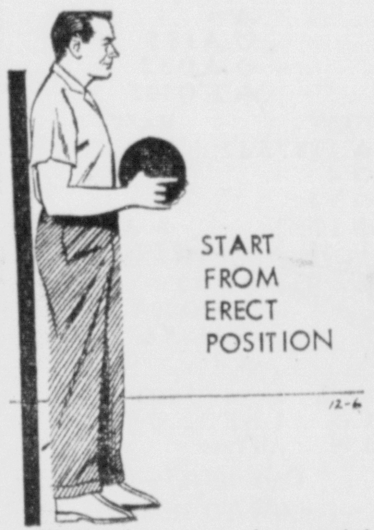
THERE'S COLD IN THEM THAR HILLS

Scenes such as this prevail along Northern California's favorite ski trails now that the season is in full swing. Thousands of winter sports enthusiasts braved 40-mile-per-hour winds and the threat of a new storm last weekend as the Sierra ski season opened. Here, skiers queue up as they wait for lift up KT-22 at Squaw Valley. (UPI Telephoto)

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



While there may be special cases when a bowler would be better off to crouch at address, I believe the more or less erect position suits a majority. This is a more natural position and therefore easier to get started from.

Sponsors Night

It's "Sponsors Night" for the Bell Ringers Bowling League at Nave Lanes tonight. All league sponsors have been invited to cheer on their teams. A sponsor-meet-sponsor time will follow league play.

South Marin Basketball League Play Under Way

An organized basketball league for Marin City, Mill Valley and Sausalito, has begun operation.

Charles Story, director of the Marin City Community Services District, announced that 10 teams representing various churches and private organizations are entered in two categories — juniors 12 through 14 years of age and intermediates 15 through 17.

Games will be played each Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Richardson Bay School gymnasium. The league season runs through March 2, and a post-season tournament will be held through March 9 to determine trophy winners.

Story said residents and law enforcement officials have agreed to help as scorers and officials although there is a need for coaches and extra officials. He said volunteers or those who have teams to enter should contact him through tha Boys Club of Southern Marin.

Teams include St. Andrew's Church, Christ Church, Village Baptist, Star of the Sea, Peace Lutheran, Benjamin's Boys, and Mothers Guild Boys.

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

We're referring to the "hot stove" season to hash and rehash the disastrous 1967 deer hunting season. At last reports, the deer kill was down 40 per cent from the same time a year ago.

The "hot stove" season is highly recommened for those who find a slack period during the winter months. Weapons can be letters, telegrams, speeches, telephone calls or word of mouth whisper campaigns. There are no limits and legal shooting time is 24 hours a day.

GOOD SPORT

We think it's a good sport, although we often find some of the most enthusiastic practitioners use some very narrow guidelines. These are the critics who are most positive and see strictly in black and white. To them, the big drop in the deer kill can be blamed on any one cause — usually the state Department of Fish and Game.

Unfettered by any rules of accuracy or requirements that they consider the whole picture rather than certain isolated examples, they have a field day. Some of them have been forecasting such a season for 15 years and, now that it finally arrived, will have a busy winter spreading the word.

No doubt, we will be conducting some "hot stove" sessions in this pillar, from time to time. But we should warn any and all that we will find little sympathy for the quick, easy and single explanation.

REPORT CARDS

1. A new system, which permitted hunters for the first time to validate their own deer tags. No doubt, some successful hunters have been slow in returning the report cards and others probably didn't bother.

2. Hunting pressure was down by an unknown amount. Deer tag sales were running well below a year ago, although it will be some time before final figures are available.

Reports from some areas were that the hunters dropped considerably. In a recent non-hunting trip to eastern Fresno county, a utility official reported that one check point that had 7,000 hunters through it a year ago had only 4,000 this year.

3. The weather no doubt played a big part. The best water year in 30 years provided abundant feed at the higher levels, scattering the deer. The absence of any storms permitted the deer to stay at the higher elevations much later than usual.

4. In a good deal of Northern California, the season closed two weeks earlier than a year ago. This combined with the non-migration type weather made the deer much less accessible.

LO WPRODUCTION

As forecast by tha Department of Fish and Game before the season opened, fawn production had been poor in some areas the previous year and a lower kill was expected.

At this point, we're not assessing any of the blame to the later season of 1966 or to the fact that antlerless hunts had been held in some areas. We would note that in two of the counties with the sharpest drop in the kill — Modoc, down 44 per cent and Lassen, down 58 per cent — they have been on a three-week season for four years, with only three-point bucks legal.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The Right Kind Of Finesse May Produce A Real Bargain

This is the time of year when women all over the world are hunting for bargains. They can practice this art at the bridge table too if they know how to take the right kind of finesse.

No. 3417 .... Dec. 6, 1967

LOW TO DUMMY

West led the nine of diamonds, declarer played low from the dummy, and East won with the jack. East returned a trump, and South won with the nine.

Now South displayed her talent for bargain hunting by leading the singleton club and trying a finesse with dummy's ten. This deep finesse could not cost anything because East was marked with all of the high cards for his vulnerable overcall of one notrump. West might have a queen or a couple of jacks, but could not have as much as an ace.

If East held the jack of clubs he would be able to capture dummy's ten with the jack, but he could still get only one club trick. Hence declarer's deep finesse in clubs could not lose a trick but might gain.

FINESSE WORKS

Actually the deep club finesse drove out East's ace. East returned another trump, and South drew trumps with the king and ace. Now declarer could discard two diamonds on the king and queen of clubs. One such discard would have done her no good; but two discards were very useful.

South cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond, setting up dummy's queen. The rest was easy.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 notrump and the next player passes.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

Your hand should be worth about four tricks at spades, but it might be completely worthless at notrump. It pays to get out of notrump even if you have to get up to three spades before you can stop.

Relics Snatched By Bulldozers In Modern New York

NEW YORK (SS) — A determined archaeologist has raced bulldozers and piledrivers to unearth an ancient burial ground of the original Manhattan Indians beneath the southeast corner of Pearl and Frankfort Streets in modern New York.

Dr. Sterling A. Callisen, professor of archaeology at Pace College, also found deposits of huge oysters that were harvested by the relatively poor Indians who once traded their land for $24 worth of baubles.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The Right Kind Of Finesse May Produce A Real Bargain

This is the time of year when women all over the world are hunting for bargains. They can practice this art at the bridge table too if they know how to take the right kind of finesse.

LOW TO DUMMY

West led the nine of diamonds, declarer played low from the dummy, and East won with the jack. East returned a trump, and South won with the nine.

Now South displayed her talent for bargain hunting by leading the singleton club and trying a finesse with dummy's ten. This deep finesse could not cost anything because East was marked with all of the high cards for his vulnerable overcall of one notrump. West might have a queen or a couple of jacks, but could not have as much as an ace.

If East held the jack of clubs he would be able to capture dummy's ten with the jack, but he could still get only one club trick. Hence declarer's deep finesse in clubs could not lose a trick but might gain.

FINESSE WORKS

Actually the deep club finesse drove out East's ace. East returned another trump, and South drew trumps with the king and ace. Now declarer could discard two diamonds on the king and queen of clubs. One such discard would have done her no good; but two discards were very useful.

South cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond, setting up dummy's queen. The rest was easy.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

Your hand should be worth about four tricks at spades, but it might be completely worthless at notrump. It pays to get out of notrump even if you have to get up to three spades before you can stop.

Relics Snatched By Bulldozers In Modern New York

NEW YORK (SS) — A determined archaeologist has raced bulldozers and piledrivers to unearth an ancient burial ground of the original Manhattan Indians beneath the southeast corner of Pearl and Frankfort Streets in modern New York.

Dr. Sterling A. Callisen, professor of archaeology at Pace College, also found deposits of huge oysters that were harvested by the relatively poor Indians who once traded their land for $24 worth of baubles.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

An Annuity Best Bet Without Heirs

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am an elderly widow in poor health with no relatives. I am drawing on my savings accounts to take care of large dentist and doctor bills. The reason, of course, is insufficient income. I cannot work because of my health. I have $28,000 in time certificates and deposits in savings and loan institutions. I own some General Motors; American Telephone; Jersey Standard. Is there a safe way to change my situation and increase my income?—H.M.

A. I am extremely sorry to read of your poor health and I well understand the difficulties of your present situation. If you have no relatives, I assume you are not concerned about leaving an estate to anyone. In that event, I advise you to visit an insurance company licensed in your state and ask what you would receive from a straight life annuity.

You will, I feel sure, derive more from this source than from any other safe investment. I would put no more than $20,000 into an annuity, leaving a good cash balance for emergencies. Your stocks are excellent and could hardly be improved upon for income with moderate growth.

Q. My son is in Vietnam and would like to invest in Control Data. What does this company do and how can I purchase the stock? Is this a good buy? — E.J.

A. It is a source of genuine pleasure to try to help one of our men in Vietnam. Control Data makes computers and allied equipment and is now showing rapid growth. The shares sell at a high multiplier and are volatile.

I believe your son would be better off in Burroughs Corp., also in computers and particularly strong in the bank and financial field where it has valuable contacts. The shares sell at a lower price-earnings multiple than Control Data and have excellent prospects. You can buy either stock through any member firm of the New York Stock Exchange.

Stock Split Is Declared

John Crean, president of the Riverside-based company, said the new shares will be issued Jan. 15 to stockholders of record Dec. 15.

The directors Monday also declared a 10 cent quarterly dividend on the 551,000 split common shares to be paid on Feb. 5 to stockholders of record Jan. 5. This represents a 33 per cent increase over the previous cash dividend rate.

Volume High As Board Has A Good Day

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed with a gain today. Trading was heavy.

The market rose from the start, then held its moderate advance as it bumped its head against an overhead zone of resistance which pared yesterday's rise.

Benguet, the Philippine gold mine issue, paced the list on volume as it gained a fraction. Homestake, up more than a point, was among other gold-mining stocks which reacted bullishly to further weakness in the British pound.

IBM gained 3, Polaroid and Xerox 2 each.

Among actively traded issues, United Engineering & Foundry rose more than 2 points while gains exceeding a point were posted for Alcan Aluminum, Spartan Industries, McDonnell Douglas and SCM.

Also active, Fairchild Camera lost nearly 2, Global Marine more than 2 and Bausch & Lomb nearly 3.

United Air Lines was off about 3, General Dynamics and Goodrich more than a point each.

Grub And Ellis Co. Establishing Real Estate Office In San Rafael

A Marin real estate branch office is being established at 1029 C Street in downtown San Rafael by Grubb and Ellis Co. of Oakland.

This will be the 10th office for the company which is already known locally as the developer, manager and lease agent of the Red Hill Shopping Center in San Anselmo. All types of real estate brokerage service will be provided, with emphasis on commercial and industrial coverage and property management.

The San Rafael office will be under the management of Donald L. Suhr of Ross, also a familiar figure in Marin real estate circles. Most recently he has been a vice president of Frank Howard Allen and Co. In the past he has also been associated with Dohemann and Co., Coldwell, Banker and Co. and Fox and Carskadon.

The office will open officially on Jan. 2 with a staff of 10 persons. Grubb and Ellis has been expanding rapidly in the Bay Area and presently has branches in Orinda, Walnut Creek, Rheem, Danville, Napa and San Jose.

Suhr

Terry

WALTER E. TERRY of San Rafael has been elected a director of D'Arcy Advertising Co. and appointed head of its western operations with headquarters in San Francisco. He was appointed a vice president in 1958 when the San Francisco office was Johnson and Lewis and retained that title when this company merged with D'Arcy last year. He is active in advertising associations and other organizations and is a member of the California Tourism and Visitor Services Commission.

PERMANENT QUARTERS of Santa Rosa Savings and Loan Association in Novato should be built and ready for occupancy by next spring. The company plans a 6,000-square-foot building in the Novato Square development on 101 Highway between Grant and De Long Avenues.

THINGS are literally topsy turvy for Christmas at Mr. Val's beauty salon at Fourth and Mary streets, San Rafael. With apparently not enough floor room for a Christmas tree, it has been installed on the second floor. Well — almost the second floor. It's been fastened upside down to the ceiling, with all ornaments and gifts in the proper place. Proper, that is, if you happen to be standing on your head when you look at it.

JOHN J. SLATTERY of Ross has joined the sales force of Thompson and Co., San Francisco insurance brokerage firm. He has been in insurance, both in brokerage and underwriting since his discharge from the Navy in 1946 — most of that time in the Bay Area.

MOTOR VEHICLE registrations in Marin on Sept. 30 were 6 per cent higher than they were a year ago, with a new total of 108,148. Passenger cars totaled 88,514, trucks 6,718 and motorcycles 2,656. All followed the same 6-per cent increase trend, except motorcycles which gained 20 per cent.

CHARLES R. THURBER of San Rafael, vice president and manager of the Better Business of San Francisco, will appear on "Speak Out" on KRON-TV at 1 a.m. next Sunday. He was also on the program last Sunday. This is a panel discussion featuring warnings to shopping consumers during the holidays about bunco schemes that will be perpetrated.

ADVERTISING AGENCIES: Richard T. Clarke of Mill Valley, head of a San Francisco agency bearing his name, has returned from Manila, Hong Kong and Honolulu, were held consultations on his San Miguel Beer account.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am an elderly widow in poor health with no relatives. I am drawing on my savings accounts to take care of large dentist and doctor bills. The reason, of course, is insufficient income. I cannot work because of my health. I have $28,000 in time certificates and deposits in savings and loan institutions. I own some General Motors; American Telephone; Jersey Standard. Is there a safe way to change my situation and increase my income?—H.M.

A. I am extremely sorry to read of your poor health and I well understand the difficulties of your present situation. If you have no relatives, I assume you are not concerned about leaving an estate to anyone. In that event, I advise you to visit an insurance company licensed in your state and ask what you would receive from a straight life annuity.

You will, I feel sure, derive more from this source than from any other safe investment. I would put no more than $20,000 into an annuity, leaving a good cash balance for emergencies. Your stocks are excellent and could hardly be improved upon for income with moderate growth.

Q. My son is in Vietnam and would like to invest in Control Data. What does this company do and how can I purchase the stock? Is this a good buy? —E.J.

A. It is a source of genuine pleasure to try to help one of our men in Vietnam. Control Data makes computers and allied equipment and is now showing rapid growth. The shares sell at a high multiplier and are volatile.

I believe your son would be better off in Burroughs Corp., also in computers and particularly strong in the bank and financial field where it has valuable contacts. The shares sell at a lower price-earnings multiple than Control Data and have excellent prospects. You can buy either stock through any member firm of the New York Stock Exchange.

Stock Split Is Declared

RIVERSIDE (BW) — Fleetwood Enterprises, Inc., has declared a 2-for-1 split of its 275,750 common and 289,250 non-dividend class B shares. Fleetwood's outstanding common and class B shares will total 1,130,000 shares after the split.

John Crean, president of the Riverside-based company, said the new shares will be issued Jan. 15 to stockholders of record Dec. 15.

The directors Monday also declared a 10 cent quarterly dividend on the 551,000 split common shares to be paid on Feb. 5 to stockholders of record Jan. 5. This represents a 33 per cent increase over the previous cash dividend rate.

Volume High As Board Has A Good Day

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed with a gain today. Trading was heavy.

The market rose from the start, then held its moderate advance as it bumped its head against an overhead zone of resistance which pared yesterday's rise.

Benguet, the Philippine gold mine issue, paced the list on volume as it gained a fraction. Homestake, up more than a point, was among other gold-mining stocks which reacted bullishly to further weakness in the British pound.

IBM gained 3, Polaroid and Xerox 2 each.

Among actively traded issues, United Engineering & Foundry rose more than 2 points while gains exceeding a point were posted for Alcan Aluminum, Spartan Industries, McDonnell Douglas and SCM.

Also active, Fairchild Camera lost nearly 2, Global Marine more than 2 and Bausch & Lomb nearly 3.

Grub And Ellis Co. Establishing Real Estate Office In San Rafael

This will be the 10th office for the company which is already known locally as the developer, manager and lease agent of the Red Hill Shopping Center in San Anselmo. All types of real estate brokerage service will be provided, with emphasis on commercial and industrial coverage and property management.

The San Rafael office will be under the management of Donald L. Suhr of Ross, also a familiar figure in Marin real estate circles. Most recently he has been a vice president of Frank Howard Allen and Co. In the past he has also been associated with Dohemann and Co., Coldwell, Banker and Co. and Fox and Carskadon.

The office will open officially on Jan. 2 with a staff of 10 persons. Grubb and Ellis has been expanding rapidly in the Bay Area and presently has branches in Orinda, Walnut Creek, Rheem, Danville, Napa and San Jose.

Suhr

Terry

WALTER E. TERRY of San Rafael has been elected a director of D'Arcy Advertising Co. and appointed head of its western operations with headquarters in San Francisco. He was appointed a vice president in 1958 when the San Francisco office was Johnson and Lewis and retained that title when this company merged with D'Arcy last year. He is active in advertising associations and other organizations and is a member of the California Tourism and Visitor Services Commission.

PERMANENT QUARTERS of Santa Rosa Savings and Loan Association in Novato should be built and ready for occupancy by next spring. The company plans a 6,000-square-foot building in the Novato Square development on 101 Highway between Grant and De Long Avenues.

THINGS are literally topsy turvy for Christmas at Mr. Val's beauty salon at Fourth and Mary streets, San Rafael. With apparently not enough floor room for a Christmas tree, it has been installed on the second floor. Well — almost the second floor. It's been fastened upside down to the ceiling, with all ornaments and gifts in the proper place. Proper, that is, if you happen to be standing on your head when you look at it.

JOHN J. SLATTERY of Ross has joined the sales force of Thompson and Co., San Francisco insurance brokerage firm. He has been in insurance, both in brokerage and underwriting since his discharge from the Navy in 1946 — most of that time in the Bay Area.

MOTOR VEHICLE registrations in Marin on Sept. 30 were 6 per cent higher than they were a year ago, with a new total of 108,148. Passenger cars totaled 88,514, trucks 6,718 and motorcycles 2,656. All followed the same 6-per cent increase trend, except motorcycles which gained 20 per cent.

CHARLES R. THURBER of San Rafael, vice president and manager of the Better Business of San Francisco, will appear on "Speak Out" on KRON-TV at 10 a.m. next Sunday. He was also on the program last Sunday. This is a panel discussion featuring warnings to shopping consumers during the holidays about bunco schemes that will be perpetrated.

ADVERTISING AGENCIES Richard T. Clarke of Mill Valley, head of a San Francisco agency bearing his name, has returned from Manila, Hong Kong and Honolulu, were held consultations on his San Miguel Beer account.

NO INFLATION IN CHRISTMAS TREE PRICES

White fir and silver tip firs are selling for about $1.50 a foot at most lots. Douglas fir is going for about $1 a foot and Scotch Pine for $2 a foot.

The Bolinas Bay Christmas tree ranch, where you cut your own, is getting a flat $5 per tree. Their trees include Scotch pine, Monterey pine, Mission pines, Douglas fir and several others.

Fairfax Sees Pavilion Revamp Plan

Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission last night received plans to relocate the entrance to Fairfax Pavilion from the east to the west end of the building.

The remodeling plans were prepared by architect D. Hugh Gregory Coleman, who estimated cost of the work at $2,000, reported City Administrator David J. Sumbardo.

Commissioners set a special meeting to hear further details of the cost on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Women's Club, 46 Park Road.

The existing stairway to the entrance is rotted, asked Sumbardo, and remodeling them to confrom to the building code "would be aesthetically bad because they would have to be considerably larger."

Nuclear Weapons On Peking Subs, Navy Discloses

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Communist China has equipped its two largest submarines with launchers for nuclear missiles, it was learned today.

Sources disclosed the U.S. Navy has solid evidence that three vertical launching tubes capable of hurling missiles 380 miles have been placed aboard each of the subs, now nearing completion at Dairen in southern Manchuria.

This was approximately the range of a nuclear-tipped missile the chinese claimed to have tested successfully Oct. 27, 1966.

So far there is no evidence that missiles have actually been brought aboard the Chinese subs, the sources said, and it is assumed that Red China will lose no time making known when it reaches the point it could bring the United States under nuclear attack.

Vandals Attack Site Of New Fairfax School

Vandals attacked the construction site of the Fairfax School District's White Hill School, just outside the city limits over the weekend, doing more than $1,000 damage, sheriff's deputies reported today.

James E. McGee, foreman for Ira Coburn Contractors, told the deputies Monday that a newly spread stucco wall was dented with rocks and splattered with debris.

Doors inside the building were scratched and a five gallon container of dark wood stain was splashed over floors and walls of the structure, he said.

The stucco wall will have to be redone and the concrete floors will have to be ripped up, he said.

Trailer Park Sewer Report Favors Delay

The North Marin County Water District Board last night received a feasibility study on furnishing sewer facilities to a proposed mobile home park on San Antonio Creek just south of the Marin-Sonoma county line.

The board approved sending copies of the report to the developers, the City of Novato and the Novato Sanitary District.

The report recommends that installation of the sewer system be dependent on the outcome of the merger study now going on between the water district, the sanitary district and the city, said Jerome B. Gilbert, water district manager.

"If the developers, Jack Kinney, John Hill and John Fahlstrom want to proceed immediately to construct the mobile home park, then the report recommends that the Novato Sanitary District install the sewage disposal system, Gilbert said.

"If they do not, then the installation of the sewerage system should be dependent on the outcome of the merger study," he said.

In another feasibility study, the staff recommended against the district trying to furnish water to the 31-lot Silver Hills subdivision in the Inverness area for Jack Stockstill, Gilbert reported. There are other water sources in the area which could be developed, Gilbert said.

The North Marin County Water District Board also:

PAVING — Awarded a contract for 75 cents a square foot for paving to De Paul Paving Co. of Santa Rosa, lowest of three bidders for patch pavement work for the district.

BUDGET — Approved changing the budget to increase by $1,500 the valve maintenance item and by $5,000 the tank painting item in the current budget.

AGREEMENT — Approved a main extension agreement of $50,298 for the 71 lot Unit 5 in Marin Golf and Country Club Estates to be paid by Marin Oaks developers.

BILLS — Paid $22,437 in bills.

Marin City Hospital Hopes Told

A proposal to build a 180-bed convalescent hospital on a two and one-half-acre Marin City site now owned by the Sausalito School District was made to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency last night.

The school site at Drake Avenue and Donahue Street was given to the district in 1960 by the county housing authority, but has never been developed.

The agency agreed to talk with the school district about getting the land back.

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency also:

SHOPPING CENTER — Learned that grocery owner Daniel Hayden has developed cost estimates for shopping center facilities in Marin City and is now seeking financing. Amount of the estimates was not given. Plans are for a grocery, cleaners, beauty and barber shops, self-service laundry, coffee shop and professional offices.

PAYMENT — Agreed to ask Marin County supervisors to approve deferral of a $139,805 payment by California Development Co. for the Ridgeland project until Aug. 5.

MEMBERSHIP — Recommended expanding the agency from five to seven members to make room for a Marin City tenant nominated by the Marin City Community Services District and another representative from another part of the county.

ROAD — Planned to meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday with county supervisors to seek help of county staff in planning an overpass from the ridge above Marin City to Tennessee Valley and access to Highway 101 at Rodeo Avenue.

Gun Discharge Damages Arm

Cheda told sheriff's deputies that he and a friend, Domingo Rogers, were duck hunting on the Rogers ranch when he tried to climb over a levy to sneak up on a duck pond.

As he reached the top, he said, he slipped and fell, with this hand catching the trigger of the weapon. The gun fired.

San Geronimo Poverty Census Finds Few Eligible Residents

Final results of the poverty survey in the San Geronimo Valley showed today that 15 residents may be eligible for program benefits.

This was reported by Mrs. Edwin F. Gardner, chairman of the San Geronimo-Nicasio Valleys Target Area Board, who said poverty survey questionnaires were received from 657 persons.

Of these, 642 are ineligible under federal income guidelines for poverty war benefits, Mrs. Gardner said. The other 15 all are receiving other assistance because of old age, blindness or dependent children and may or may not meet anti-poverty requirements, Mrs. Gardner said.

She reported the survey committee interviewed "quite a few" hippies, but all but two were unwilling to sign the questionnaires. Interviews had been arranged with the two, but they cannot be reached now, she added.

Area residents had charged a poverty program in the valley — proposed by the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council — would invite unwanted Haight-Ashbury types into the area.

The target board was set up in August to determine the need for a poverty program in the valley. Board members said the community would have to be 50 percent impoverished to meet requirements.

The poverty issue will be raised before the county board of supervisors again at 4 p.m. Jan. 2 when the San Geronimo Valley Association seeks answers to questions about spending practices and effectiveness of the EOC. The target board is to meet again at 8 p.m. Jan. 9.

Sons Of Italy Party

The annual Christmas party of Marvelous Marin Lodge of the Order of the Sons of Italy will be at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Portuguese-American Hall, San Rafael.

Sausalito Physician Faces Dope Prescription Charge

A Sausalito physician, Dr. Donald Churchill, 49, was arrested at his San Francisco office yesterday on suspicion of issuing narcotics prescriptions for other than legitimate medical purposes. The offense is a felony.

Police Inspector Charles Wettstein of the San Francisco Narcotics Bureau said Dr. Chruchill was arrested on two counts involving incidents on Sept. 11 and Oct. 11.

Both incidents, he alleged, took place at the doctor's San Francisco office. Dr. Churchill told him he formerly operated his practice from his home at 106 West Street, Sausalito, but was no longer doing so, said the inspector.

Inspector Wettstein said he believed the doctor's clients included a number of known drug addicts and police were at present studying his records.

Last month, Dr. Churchill was questioned closely by San Francisco Coroner Henry Turkel during a coroner's jury investigation of Fred Fowler, 75, an addict for 50 years, who died Oct. 4 apparently from a massive accidental overdose of morphine and barbiturates.

Dr. Churchill was released from jail on $2,500 bail pending a hearing today in San Francisco Municipal Court.

He had been practicing medicine in California since 1949 and had had an office in San Francisco for about a year, said police.

Church Vandals Leave Thanks

Earl W. Burt, church custodian, said Wesley Hall, at Ross Valley Drive and Greenfield Avenue, was entered early yesterday.

Candles were lit and carried from room to room. Altar clothes were found charred and other damage was caused by dropping wax. Nothing was stolen.

Federal Aide Sees Police, Public Split

"The situation is bad and growing worse" between police and racial minorities, a Washington consultant told a Bay Area law enforcement group at the Marin County Civic Center this morning.

Bruce J. Terris, special assistant to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and a Justice Department consultant, spoke to more than 50 members of the Northern California Police-Community Relations Association.

Marin County Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, the host, welcomed the group and introduced president Ralph Rawson of the Richmond police department. Rawson introduced the speaker.

Terris, who is a law professor at Catholic University at Washington, D.C., declared that one of the changes that must be made to ease the strained relations between police and minorities is the attitude of police. Terris said the job of halting crime cannot succeed unless there is support from the community.

Give your Christmas tree a WINTER WONDERLAND LOOK WITH GENERAL MILLS
SNO*FLOK

Do it yourself. It's easy . . . it's fun. Spray on soft, snowy beauty with General Mills' Sno*Flok. Make flocked trees, wreaths, centerpieces and other decorations at a fraction of the cost you'd pay for professionally flocked pieces.

Each Sno*Flok kit has everything you need: spray gun, plastic water jar, instructions and a 1-lb. bag of flocking material. Use with an exhaust type vacuum cleaner. Spray natural snowy white or add a few drops of food color for pastel tints.

✲ ✱ ○ ● SYMBOLS FOR STARS IN ORDER OF BRIGHTNESS

Planet Joins In Winter Sky Show

By SCIENCE SERVICE

Both appear on the accompanying maps, which depict the sky as it looked about 10:00 p.m., local time, on Dec. 1. The appearance is similar an hour earlier at the middle of the month and two hours earlier at the end.

Orion stands in the southeast. Supposedly representing a warrior, three stars in a row form his belt. Betelgeuse, above and left, is in one shoulder; Rigel right and lower, is in one upraised knee. At least that's the way it was pictured on the old star maps, when figures were drawn around the stars.

Below Orion shines Canis Major, the great dog, with Sirius. Quite close, astronomically speaking, it looks brighter than any other nighttime star. At this time of year it is so low that the atmosphere absorbs much of its light, but it still is a brilliant object.

To the southwest, in Pisces, the fishes, is the planet Saturn. At about the same brightness as Aldebaran, it shines with a steady light rather than the twinkling brilliance of a star.

Also prominent on December evenings although they contain no first magnitude stars, are several other constellations. Pegasus, the winged horse, is high in the west. You can easily locate it by the four stars that form the "Great Square," which is resting on one corner. Actually Alpheratz, the uppermost star in the square, is in the neighboring Andromeda, the chained princess of mythology.

Overhead is Perseus, the hero who rescued her. Here shines Algol, famous eclipsing variable star. Every two days, 21 hours, it dims to a third its normal brightness as a faint companion moves in front of the brighter star.

Cassiopeia, Andromeda's mother, is high in the north, appearing as a letter M. Ursa Major, the greater bear, is low in the northeast. The Big Dipper, its best known part, is low and difficult to see at this time.

Early in the evening another planet, Mars, is visible in the southwest. Quite faint because it is now far away, it sets before the times for which the maps are drawn.

At about 11:00 p.m. at the beginning of December and 9:00 p.m. at the end, Jupiter rises. It shines brightly the rest of the night. And about four hours before sunrise Venus also appears in the east, outshining any other planet or star.

On Friday, Dec. 22, at 8:17 a.m., EST, the sun will reach its most southerly position of the year, the winter solstice. At that moment it will be directly over a point on the Tropic of Capricorn in the South Atlantic Ocean some 1,700 miles east of Rio de Janeiro.

Because it is so far south, the sun will rise on this day well south of the eastern point of the horizon and set equally far south of the western paint. Its noonday height in the Northern Hemisphere will be the lowest of the year. Thus, it has a short trip above the horizon and a long one below. Dec. 22 therefore is the shortest day of the year, measured from sunrise to sunset.

Because of the sun's low altitude, as well as the shortness of daylight, its heating effect is greatly reduced. Thus the December solstice marks the beginning of winter in the Northern Hemisphere.

But in the Southern Hemisphere, on Dec. 22, the sun climbs to its greatest noon height. The day is the longest of the year and marks the beginning of summer.

You might thing that on this date we would see the sun rise latest and set earliest, but this is not the case. Dec. 8 has the earliest sunset; the latest sunrise will come about Jan. 4. The time between sunrise and sunset, however, will be shortest on Dec. 22.

If we still used sundials as our timepieces, Dec. 22 would have the earliest sunset and the latest sunrise. But sun time varies. During the autumn it runs ahead of clock time; in the winter it lags behind. The time our clocks keep is based on "mean solar time," with the variations averaged out over the year.

On Dec. 8 mean solar time is about eight minutes ahead of the sundial. On Jan. 4 it is nearly five minutes behind. The sun runs on its own kind of time, ignroing man's manipulations.

Gate 5 Assault Attempt Fails

The woman, a houseboat resident, was walking home at approximately 6 p.m. when the man approached. He pulled a knife, held it at her side and ordered her to go with him. When the woman pleaded she had just got out of the hospital, he threatened to kill her and the two struggled for the knife.

She got the knife away from him, ran to the street and handed it to a male passerby, but the Negro walked up, took the knife back and walked away toward Marin City, deputies reported.

No Clues Found In Cash Puzzle

San Rafael police said today they had no clues but were continuing investigation into the mysterious disappearance of $1,672 — part of the proceeds of last weekend's Marin Festival of Trees.

The money vanished sometime between the time it was collected together at 11 p.m. Friday, placed in a bank bag and deposited in the night safe at the bank at 1 a.m. Saturday.

The cash was counted by festival chairman Mrs. Karl Minnigerode and her husband and place in the bag by Mrs. Marianne B. Trowbridge, who told police she could not remember it ever leaving her possession before the deposit.

Drunken Driver Test Thrown Out

Marin Municipal Judge Hadden W. Roth yesterday dismissed a drunken driving charge against Patrick Joseph Cullen, 52, of 283 Ellen Drive, San Rafael.

Judge Roth set aside a jury's conviction of Cullen for the offense Nov. 15, on the basis that findings by a British doctor cast suspicion on the factor used to compare alcohol in the urine to alcohol in the blood.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Perplexing Palpitation Case Solved By Disability Pension

VAN DELLEN

One of my most perplexing patients was a highly-skilled man who worked for a large corporation. He visited my office once a week complaining of palpitation of the heart and shortness of breath. Now and then the family called me in the middle of the night because the man thought he was dying. His pulse was unusually rapid, yet medicines never helped.

As time passed, it became obvious that his symptoms were related to the way his boss treated him. Both men started up the ladder together but my patient failed to reach the top.

His fellow worker, who became boss, never let him forget it. The situation reached a climax forcing me to contact the firm. Cure was immediate when my patient was given a disability pension.

WE NEVER will know how many illnesses stem from employee-boss relationships. Rapport between the employee, his superior, and co-workers is much more important to health than are enviornment, proper lighting, heat, hours of work, and salary.

A sense of accomplishment is a vital ingredient of happiness. Good executives know this and are more interested in people than in breaking production records.

More time is spent drowning his sorrows in the local pub or on frequent visits to the physician. These individuals need a job in keeping with their abilities and personality.

BUT SITUATIONS such as these are not always hopeless. By giving a little, the boss may do the same. Tactfulness is the key.

Be business-like when dealing with the chief, but maintain the dignity that goes with your position. This would not have worked with my patient, because his boss was unwilling to give of himself.

ACID AND ALKALINE URINE

B. D. writes: My urinalysis shows I have an acid urine. What should I do about it?

REPLY

Nothing, if you have no symptoms. If the test were repeated tomorrow, the reaction might be alkaline because acidity is governed by what we eat and drink. On the other hand, if you insist upon an alkaline urine, a little baking soda will do the trick.

CONE-SHAPE EARDRUMS

L. E. J. writes: What is meant by retracted eardrums?

REPLY

The normal tympanic membrane is snug and tight but it is retracted when something is pulling it inward from behind. As a result, the outside appears concave or cone-shaped. Causes vary from a vacuum in the inner ear to scar tissue (adhesions).

TOO MUCH BLOOD

O. M. writes: Is there any treatment for polycythemia other than removing a pint of blood periodically?

REPLY

Yes. Radioactive phosphorus (P-32) is the treatment of choice. Nitrogen mustard, triethylene melamine, and busulfan are used, but side reactions are common.

DO CREW CUTS HELP?

G. F. writes: Do crew cuts help the hair?

REPLY

No, but to barbers they represent a more difficult and expensive job. Short hair is easier to keep clean and requires less care. Some can leave home without combing.

Scuffle At Theater Leads To Arrests

Two men, who allegedly talked too loudly during a movie at San Rafael Theater last night, were arrested by police after a scuffle with an irate patron in the back rows.

The patron, Nathan A. Giuliani of 27 Sunny Hill Road, Novato, was hit over the head with a bottle, said police. He was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Rafael.

Booked into Marin County jail on suspicion of disturbing the peace was Anthony Gibson, 18, who gave his address as Wilkins Hotel in San Rafael.

Called to the theater at 11:02 p.m., police said they found the three men in the center of about 50 people in the main lobby. The victim's head and shirt were splattered with blood.

Giuliano said the two men were talking loudly and he had objected to the noise.

Gibson said Giuliano stood up, walked back to the suspects and grabbed them. Gibson said he struck out with a bottle in self defense. He was held on $125 bail pending a hearing today in Marin Municipal Court.

Student Expects Arrest On Draft

PALO ALTO (UPI) — "My mind is made up. I'm ready to go to jail."

David Harris, former Stanford University student body president, made the statement yesterday when asked whether he would report for military induction later this month.

Harris, 21, a leader of an antidraft group known as The Resistance, has been scheduled to report for induction Dec. 13.

He said he has asked his draft board in his hometown of Fresno to permit him to appear instead at the Oakland Induction Center.

Three Drunken Driving Fines

Charles Parker Galt, 58, of 16 Bolanos Drive, San Rafael, was placed on six months of probation and fined $174 for driving while intoxicated on Highway 101 Nov. 25, when the California Highway Patrol arrested him.

Alfonso G. Ocequero, 51, of Marsh Road, Larkspur, was fined $59 and placed on 30 days of probation for drunken driving on Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur Dec. 2, when Larkspur police arrested him.

Zolia E. Beradi, 27, of Forest Knolls, was fined $59, given a two-day suspended jail sentence and placed on six months of probation for drunken driving on Highway 101 Dec. 2, when the CHP arrested her.

No Performance Of Play Monday Night

Performances will be at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday, Sunday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Dec. 14, 15 and 16 in the Little Theater of the Fine Arts Building.

Planet Joins In Winter Sky Show

By SCIENCE SERVICE

The brilliant display of stars that winter evenings bring is coming into view in December. This year a bright planet adds to the show.

Both appear on the accompanying maps, which depict the sky as it looked about 10:00 p.m., local time, on Dec. 1. The appearance is similar an hour earlier at the middle of the month and two hours earlier at the end.

Orion stands in the southeast. Supposedly representing a warrior, three stars in a row form his belt. Betelgeuse, above and left, is in one shoulder; Rigel right and lower, is in one upraised knee. At least that's the way it was pictured on the old star maps, when figures were drawn around the stars.

Below Orion shines Canis Major, the great dog, with Sirius. Quite close, astronomically speaking, it looks brighter than any other nighttime star. At this time of year it is so low that the atmosphere absorbs much of its light, but it still is a brilliant object.

To the southwest, in Pisces, the fishes, is the planet Saturn. At about the same brightness as Aldebaran, it shines with a steady light rather than the twinkling brilliance of a star.

Also prominent on December evenings although they contain no first magnitude stars, are several other constellations. Pegasus, the winged horse, is high in the west. You can easily locate it by the four stars that form the "Great Square," which is resting on one corner. Actually Alpheratz, the uppermost star in the square, is in the neighboring Andromeda, the chained princess of mythology.

Overhead is Perseus, the hero who rescued her. Here shines Algol, famous eclipsing variable star. Every two days, 21 hours, it dims to a third its normal brightness as a faint companion moves in front of the brighter star.

Cassiopeia, Andromeda's mother, is high in the north, appearing as a letter M. Ursa Major, the greater bear, is low in the northeast. The Big Dipper, its best known part, is low and difficult to see at this time.

Early in the evening another planet, Mars, is visible in the southwest. Quite faint because it is now far away, it sets before the times for which the maps are drawn.

At about 11:00 p.m. at the beginning of December and 9:00 p.m. at the end, Jupiter rises. It shines brightly the rest of the night. And about four hours before sunrise Venus also appears in the east, outshining any other planet or star.

On Friday, Dec. 22, at 8:17 a.m., EST, the sun will reach its most southerly position of the year, the winter solstice. At that moment it will be directly over a point on the Tropic of Capricorn in the South Atlantic Ocean some 1,700 miles east of Rio de Janeiro.

Because it is so far south, the sun will rise on this day well south of the eastern point of the horizon and set equally far south of the western paint. Its noonday height in the Northern Hemisphere will be the lowest of the year. Thus, it has a short trip above the horizon and a long one below. Dec. 22 therefore is the shortest day of the year, measured from sunrise to sunset.

Because of the sun's low altitude, as well as the shortness of daylight, its heating effect is greatly reduced. Thus the December solstice marks the beginning of winter in the Northern Hemisphere.

But in the Southern Hemisphere, on Dec. 22, the sun climbs to its greatest noon height. The day is the longest of the year and marks the beginning of summer.

You might thing that on this date we would see the sun rise latest and set earliest, but this is not the case. Dec. 8 has the earliest sunset; the latest sunrise will come about Jan. 4. The time between sunrise and sunset, however, will be shortest on Dec. 22.

If we still used sundials as our timepieces, Dec. 22 would have the earliest sunset and the latest sunrise. But sun time varies. During the autumn it runs ahead of clock time; in the winter it lags behind. The time our clocks keep is based on "mean solar time," with the variations averaged out over the year.

On Dec. 8 mean solar time is about eight minutes ahead of the sundial. On Jan. 4 it is nearly five minutes behind. The sun runs on its own kind of time, ignroing man's manipulations.

Gate 5 Assault Attempt Fails

A young Negro man attempted to rape a 23-year-old Sausalito woman at knifepoint yesterday afternoon in the Gate 5 area, Marin City sheriff's deputies reported today.

The woman, a houseboat resident, was walking home at approximately 6 p.m. when the man approached. He pulled a knife, held it at her side and ordered her to go with him. When the woman pleaded she had just got out of the hospital, he threatened to kill her and the two struggled for the knife.

She got the knife away from him, ran to the street and handed it to a male passerby, but the Negro walked up, took the knife back and walked away toward Marin City, deputies reported.

No Clues Found In Cash Puzzle

San Rafael police said today they had no clues but were continuing investigation into the mysterious disappearance of $1,672 — part of the proceeds of last weekend's Marin Festival of Trees.

The money vanished sometime between the time it was collected together at 11 p.m. Friday, placed in a bank bag and deposited in the night safe at the bank at 1 a.m. Saturday.

The cash was counted by festival chairman Mrs. Karl Minnigerode and her husband and place in the bag by Mrs. Marianne B. Trowbridge, who told police she could not remember it ever leaving her possession before the deposit.

Drunken Driver Test Thrown Out

Marin Municipal Judge Hadden W. Roth yesterday dismissed a drunken driving charge against Patrick Joseph Cullen, 52, of 283 Ellen Drive, San Rafael.

Judge Roth set aside a jury's conviction of Cullen for the offense Nov. 15, on the basis that findings by a British doctor cast suspicion on the factor used to compare alcohol in the urine to alcohol in the blood.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

One of my most perplexing patients was a highly-skilled man who worked for a large corporation. He visited my office once a week complaining of palpitation of the heart and shortness of breath. Now and then the family called me in the middle of the night because the man thought he was dying. His pulse was unusually rapid, yet medicines never helped.

As time passed, it became obvious that his symptoms were related to the way his boss treated him. Both men started up the ladder together but my patient failed to reach the top.

His fellow worker, who became boss, never let him forget it. The situation reached a climax forcing me to contact the firm. Cure was immediate when my patient was given a disability pension.

WE NEVER will know how many illnesses stem from employee-boss relationships. Rapport between the employee, his superior, and co-workers is much more important to health than are enviornment, proper lighting, heat, hours of work, and salary.

A sense of accomplishment is a vital ingredient of happiness. Good executives know this and are more interested in people than in breaking production records.

By the same token, production reaches its peak when employees are happy and are part of the team.

The worker who does just enough to get by or who tolerates the job only because the pay is good, usually is discontented.

More time is spent drowning his sorrows in the local pub or on frequent visits to the physician. These individuals need a job in keeping with their abilities and personality.

BUT SITUATIONS such as these are not always hopeless. By giving a little, the boss may do the same. Tactfulness is the key.

Be business-like when dealing with the chief, but maintain the dignity that goes with your position. This would not have worked with my patient, because his boss was unwilling to give of himself.

ACID AND ALKALINE URINE

B. D. writes: My urinalysis shows I have an acid urine. What should I do about it?

REPLY

Nothing, if you have no symptoms. If the test were repeated tomorrow, the reaction might be alkaline because acidity is governed by what we eat and drink. On the other hand, if you insist upon an alkaline urine, a little baking soda will do the trick.

CONE-SHAPE EARDRUMS

L. E. J. writes: What is meant by retracted eardrums?

REPLY

The normal tympanic membrane is snug and tight but it is retracted when something is pulling it inward from behind. As a result, the outside appears concave or cone-shaped. Causes vary from a vacuum in the inner ear to scar tissue (adhesions).

TOO MUCH BLOOD

O. M. writes: Is there any treatment for polycythemia other than removing a pint of blood periodically?

REPLY

Yes. Radioactive phosphorus (P-32) is the treatment of choice. Nitrogen mustard, triethylene melamine, and busulfan are used, but side reactions are common.

DO CREW CUTS HELP?

G. F. writes: Do crew cuts help the hair?

REPLY

No, but to barbers they represent a more difficult and expensive job. Short hair is easier to keep clean and requires less care. Some can leave home without combing.

Scuffle At Theater Leads To Arrests

Two men, who allegedly talked too loudly during a movie at San Rafael Theater last night, were arrested by police after a scuffle with an irate patron in the back rows.

The patron, Nathan A. Giuliani of 27 Sunny Hill Road, Novato, was hit over the head with a bottle, said police. He was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Rafael.

Booked into Marin County jail on suspicion of disturbing the peace was Anthony Gibson, 18, who gave his address as Wilkins Hotel in San Rafael.

Called to the theater at 11:02 p.m., police said they found the three men in the center of about 50 people in the main lobby. The victim's head and shirt were splattered with blood.

Giuliano said the two men were talking loudly and he had objected to the noise.

Gibson said Giuliano stood up, walked back to the suspects and grabbed them. Gibson said he struck out with a bottle in self defense. He was held on $125 bail pending a hearing today in Marin Municipal Court.

Student Expects Arrest On Draft

PALO ALTO (UPI) — "My mind is made up. I'm ready to go to jail."

David Harris, former Stanford University student body president, made the statement yesterday when asked whether he would report for military induction later this month.

Harris, 21, a leader of an antidraft group known as The Resistance, has been scheduled to report for induction Dec. 13.

He said he has asked his draft board in his hometown of Fresno to permit him to appear instead at the Oakland Induction Center.

Three Drunken Driving Fines

Three persons were sentenced in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving offenses.

Charles Parker Galt, 58, of 16 Bolanos Drive, San Rafael, was placed on six months of probation and fined $174 for driving while intoxicated on Highway 101 Nov. 25, when the California Highway Patrol arrested him.

Alfonso G. Ocequero, 51, of Marsh Road, Larkspur, was fined $59 and placed on 30 days of probation for drunken driving on Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur Dec. 2, when Larkspur police arrested him.

Zolia E. Beradi, 27, of Forest Knolls, was fined $59, given a two-day suspended jail sentence and placed on six months of probation for drunken driving on Highway 101 Dec. 2, when the CHP arrested her.

No Performance Of Play Monday Night

There will be no performance Monday of "Crime on Goat Island," to be presented for an [illegible] performance run by the College of Marin drama department, the school has announced.

Performances will be at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday, Sunday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Dec. 14, 15 and 16 in the Little Theater of the Fine Arts Building.

Police have closed down Pacific Studios in San Rafael following complaints from the city the building at 1203 Third Street does not conform with fire codes.

Creative Executive Role Grows

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Not too many years ago, a famous Hollywood producer tried to discourage his son from going into Filmtown's slumping movie industry by telling him: "The only business to be in nowadays is business."

What he meant was that a creative executive at least had a fighting chance to be a key figure with an alert business corporation, and to make an important name for himself. The old Hollywood studios basically reflected the tastes of just a handful of men. And then the studios slumped, and the actors became the key power figures, the creative executive was still pretty much under somebody's thumb—and still is, in some cases.

The studios never regained their power of old. And many of the top stars who became omnipotent now are beginning to reach the age when soon they will be major figures no more. Despite all talk to the contrary, there will probably never be so many big, consistently popular movie stars again, because no one has the backing of the huge old film organizations that catered to these people throughout their careers, steadily building them into worldwide celebrities with constant exposure.

So who, finally, at long last, is going to inherit the future of movies and their close ally, television? The answer seems clear. With studios unable to control the business at its core, and with the lack of very many up-and-coming "real" movie stars, the inheritance is falling on the man who has the property for production, who has a good story, who knows how to put things together, who hopefully is a showman. In short, the creative executive, the creative producer or director or writer—who, these days, is often a combination of several of these titles.

In television, where the need for material—and prestige—is constantly urgent, this trend is being felt as inevitably as in the movies. Not too many years ago, the public hardly ever knew the names of television creators, except perhaps for a publicity-surrounded fellow like David Susskind, or an exceptional writer like Paddy Chayefsky or Rod Serling or Reginald Rose. The industry might have known, but the public, not nearly as show business-oriented as it is now, might as well have been reading the telephone book.

Today the creative executive is given priority in the industry, and the hipper contemporary audience begins to notice these men by their sizable body of work. At Wolper Productions, for instance, a tremendous outpouring of programs over the years has unveiled the skills of a trio of senior executives—Mel Stuart, Alan Landsburg and Jack Haley Jr.

Creative Executive Role Grows

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Not too many years ago, a famous Hollywood producer tried to discourage his son from going into Filmtown's slumping movie industry by telling him: "The only business to be in nowadays is business."

What he meant was that a creative executive at least had a fighting chance to be a key figure with an alert business corporation, and to make an important name for himself. The old Hollywood studios basically reflected the tastes of just a handful of men. And then the studios slumped, and the actors became the key power figures, the creative executive was still pretty much under somebody's thumb—and still is, in some cases.

The studios never regained their power of old. And many of the top stars who became omnipotent now are beginning to reach the age when soon they will be major figures no more. Despite all talk to the contrary, there will probably never be so many big, consistently popular movie stars again, because no one has the backing of the huge old film organizations that catered to these people throughout their careers, steadily building them into worldwide celebrities with constant exposure.

So who, finally, at long last, is going to inherit the future of movies and their close ally, television? The answer seems clear. With studios unable to control the business at its core, and with the lack of very many up-and-coming "real" movie stars, the inheritance is falling on the man who has the property for production, who has a good story, who knows how to put things together, who hopefully is a showman. In short, the creative executive, the creative producer or director or writer—who, these days, is often a combination of several of these titles.

In television, where the need for material—and prestige—is constantly urgent, this trend is being felt as inevitably as in the movies. Not too many years ago, the public hardly ever knew the names of television creators, except perhaps for a publicity-surrounded fellow like David Susskind, or an exceptional writer like Paddy Chayefsky or Rod Serling or Reginald Rose. The industry might have known, but the public, not nearly as show business-oriented as it is now, might as well have been reading the telephone book.

Today the creative executive is given priority in the industry, and the hipper contemporary audience begins to notice these men by their sizable body of work. At Wolper Productions, for instance, a tremendous outpouring of programs over the years has unveiled the skills of a trio of senior executives—Mel Stuart, Alan Landsburg and Jack Haley Jr.

Some Psychiatric Patients Prefer Interview Drugging

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (SS) — Psychiatric interviewers tend to give drugs to lower class patients and psychotherapy to those from better backgrounds, according to a study of treatment procedures at the Massachusetts Mental Health Center's outpatient service.

Moreover, the study reveals, interviewers will often prescribe drug therapy for patients whom they don't like.

All the 100 patients studied had the same problem — neurotic depression. Nevertheless, there was a clear link between "treatment assignments and the educational, economic backgrounds of patients," report Drs. Richard I Shader and William A. Binstock, Harvard Medical School, and Dorothy Scott of the Mental Health Center.

"These findings need not occasion concern," said the researchers. "Lower class patients often expect and prefer a non-psychological approach."

The Midge: A Big Help In Pollution

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI)—A small mosquito-like insect known as the chironomid midge may become one of the major weapons in the battle against water pollution, according to scientists at Oregon State University.

The role of the midge, which has the scientific name of "Glyptotendipes barpipes," is played in waste-stabilization lagoons where sewage is broken down into more acceptable material by the action of oxygen-requiring, aerobic bacteria. Once processed in this manner sewage can safely be released into streams and rivers.

The tiny insects, feeding on oxygen-consuming materials in the lagoon, aid in development of high levels of dissolved oxygen necessary for sewage breakdown.

A question OSU scientists are now attempting to answer is what portion of the energy contained in sewage is consumed during the midges' growth and development.

Wild Animals Getting Federal Helping Hand

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—About 25,000 living symbols of the old West roaming the public domain in 10 Western states are to get a helping hand from the federal government.

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) administers some 170 million acres of land in the west on which an estimated 17,000 wild horses, commonly known as mustangs, and 8,000 wild burros roam untended.

BLM Director Boyd L. Rasmussen has announced a new policy in regard to the wild animals which is aimed at insuring their preservation under an extensive management and control program.

"While we recognize many problems associated with wild horses—competition for forage, questions as to ownership, and interpretation of the legal status of unbranded and unclaimed horses—we feel that the public has amply demonstrated its concern for these animals," Rasmussen said.

The director said he has ordered BLM field offices in the Western states to first look at the "esthetic" value of wild horses in their areas.

"Where it is determined that wild horses or burros on bureau administered land is a public asset, we'll initiate a management program," Rasmussen said.

He said that in areas where wild horses and burros compete with livestock or wildlife for limited forage or water, BLM biologists will work with livestock operators and state wildlife agencies for balanced management of all.

Rasmussen added that under an extensive management program wild horses and burros could become too plentiful. He said that where control is indicated, the BLM will work with state and local authorities in gathering excess animals to reduce the herd to manageable numbers.

"Any roundups must be done in a humane manner," the director said. "I've expressly forbidden the use of motorized vehicles or airplanes."

Rasmussen said past efforts to preserve herds of wild horses and burros include the establishment in 1962 of a 435,000-acre wild horse refuge in Nevada and in 1965 a wild horse protection and management area in Utah.

Texas Making Money On Motorists' Egos

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The state of Texas is making money—more than $250,000 so far this year—on the egos of its motorists.

For $10, the state will replace a set of standard license plates with personalized tags, or "ego plates," made to the customer's order.

This year more than 27,000 Texans paid the extra $10 for plates that say "MIKE" or "HOWDY" or "SMILE" or just about anything else that requires no more than six digits.

The highway department keeps 50 cents of each $10 fee to help defray costs of making the plates. The other $9.50 goes into the state's tourist promotion fund, used mainly to advertise Texas attractions in out-of-state publications.

College students are good customers. They're big on slogans like "HOOKEM" which comes from the University of Texas football yell, "Hook 'em horns."

Businesses buy personalized plates to advertise their products or services. Sometimes 50 or more employes of a firm get together and order a series of tags on the pattern of "ACME 1," "ACME 2," and so on.

Entrepreneurs have bought tags that say things like "IFIXTV" and "LOANS."

Sometimes the highway department can't figure out what the motorist has in mind. A request for "AKQJ10" had the department stumped until a poker-playing employed deciphered it as a royal flush.

The highway department will honor just about any request that fits in six spaces, doesn't conflict with the standard numbering system (three letters followed by two or three numbers), and is not obscene or otherwise objectionable.

The initials "LBJ" and "JFK" have been withheld as well as letters like "FBI" that might imply some official connection.

It costs the highway department $1.22 to make and issue a set of personalized plates, but the manufacturing is done by the state prison system, so the money all stays in the state's pocket. About 15 highway department employees handle all the administrative work.

INSPECTS HER NEW FAMILY

Penny, a dwarf goat of a species originating in the Cameroons in Africa, inspects her triplet babies, weighing about two pounds each, which were recently a prime attraction in Chicago's Brookfield zoo. (UPI Telephoto)

Tuberculosis Drug Combines With Old Ideas

WASHINGTON (SS) — The Food and Drug Administration has approved a new anti-tuberculosis drug active against strains of the tubercle bacillus that are resistant to available drugs.

The new drug, called Myambutol by Lederle Laboratories, Pearl River, N. Y., where it was developed, will be used only in combination with isoniazid or streptomycin, the two drugs currently used against tuberculosis.

Unique Experiment At College Level

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—Willard Barnes sat on the stone steps leading up to the new administration building at St. John's College and scratched at the three inches of red beard on his face.

"I'm not real sure why I wanted to come here," he said, leaning back and gazing over the new college buildings. "I guess it's because I thought I'd have a chance to seek the kind of education you can't find anywhere else,"

On a landing above sat two girls in colorful shifts and net stockings. "It's a college where you can get away from all the rah-rah you have to put up with at most schools," one of them said. The other commented, "I couldn't find the education they teach here at any other school."

But St. John's students have one thing in common—they seek a new brand of education, a kind of teaching that is growing in the West.

St. John's at Santa Fe was called unique when it opened its doors three years ago, unique because of what and how it teaches.

St. John's College is referred to officially as a "colony." As such, it began operations as an extension of its mother facility—the 180-year-old St. John's at Annapolis, Md.

St. John's has no departments, no divisions, and did not ever have a business administration course when it began classes in October, 1964.

No vocational or teacher training was offered, and pre-med, pre-law or required athletics were scoffed at by the school's officials.

The books, chosen over a period of nearly 40 years by the school's officials, range from Homer to Tolstoy, Plato to Jung, Euclid to Labachevski, Hippocrates to Einstein.

In short, the new college set itself up to offer a strictly liberal arts education with the single aim of preparing its students with tools for future learning. What the student does with this vast storehouse of knowledge after graduation is left to him.

Classes at St. John's were established as a series of group meetings of 10 to 15 students plus a tutor. Seminars of about 20 students are held in the evenings. The tutorials are for absorbing knowledge, the seminars are the outlet for that knowledge.

The maximum student load set by the college when it opened was about 300 students in a decade. The first year's enrollment was 80 students. Many dropped out when the going got too rough.

Be Careful With Directory

NEW DELHI (AP) — Carelessness with the telephone directory is going to be costly in New Delhi.

Telephone officials have decided that people who turn in mutilated directories in exchange for new ones will have to pay instead of receiving the new one free.

The reason is that the telephone company sells the old directories to people who paste the pages into small paper bags. They refuse to buy mutilated directories.

THAT SECURE FEELING

Roberta, a four-month-old baboon, clutches her "security banana" at the St. Louis Zoo. She actually gets her security from a deflated yellow balloon, but workers in the zoo nursery have told her its a banana. Her security need was prompted by a case of extreme paternal rejection. (AP Wirephoto)

Face On The Bar Room Floor Lives

But she still insists that the misty face that stares up from the floor of the Teller House in Central City is not hers.

Her friends, however, offer "proof" that it was her that her late husband, the salty Herndon Davis, painted in the heat of rage and rum that summer night in 1936.

Mrs. Davis, now 65, lives in seclusion in Denver and refuses to talk about her legendary husband with the penchant for painting on floors and bar stools. Davie died in 1962 from a heart attack suffered while working on a massive mural in the Smithsonion Institute in Washington.

The face on the floor started with a heated argument between Davis and the granddaughter of former Colorado Gov. John Evans over the authenticity of a western painting. Davis was engaged to paint pictures for the famed Teller House and Central City Opera Association, and Ann Evans, a prominent member of the association was his boss.

After the argument was over, a 16-year-old bus boy said to Davis, "You're going to get fired, you know that.

"Why don't you give them something to remember you by? Paint a picture on the floor," the bus boy added.

The youth was sent for a sand brick and after the bar closed, he went to work on the floor, sanding a spot for the painting, while Davis cooling his anger with rum, contemplated.

Denver attorney Fred Mazulla and Dr. Nolie Mumey insist it was Nita that Davis contemplated, but Mrs. Davis says no.

Davis set to work and the result was an oil painting which, according to Mazulla, is a startling likeness of his wife. "I have pictures to prove it," Mazuall said.

"When I asked Herndon to paint a portrait on the floor of my basement like the one in Central City," Mazulla says' "he said, 'That's my wife, you don't want a picture of my wife on your floor, do you?' "

Davis also painted the faces of the wives of Mazulla and Mumey on the floors of their homes.

Therein lies what Mazulla calls the final proof of the identity of the misty-faced girl on the floor of the Teller House.

"When I asked Herndon to paint a portrait on the floor of my basement like the one in Central City," Mazulla says' "he said, 'That's my wife, you don't want a picture of my wife on your floor, do you?' "
